Blast Biggest A Bomb

Fireball Boils Over 20 Seconds, Shows Intensity of Twice Any Previous Bomb

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The biggest atom bomb ever exploded in the United States flamed for more than two minutes in the pre-dawn sky today over Nevada proving ground.

The fireball boiled for more than 30 seconds indicating an intensity twice that of any previous bomb or device detonated in the desert.

The 20-kiloton Hiroshima bomb had a second fireball.

Dropped from an extremely high-flying B-36, the unprecedented A-bomb flashed across the entire horizon and bathed the desert in a ghostly white light for at least five seconds. Then it formed into a brilliant golden fireball.

The power of this amazing weapon was probably not less than 50 kilotons. The Atomic Energy Commission has previously detonated three devices at Yucca Flat that have had an intensity greater than the so-called nominal or Hiroshima bomb.

Reports in Los Angeles to police and sheriff's officers showed that hundreds of residents felt a window-rattling shock about 20 minutes after the blast.

Calls from Burbank, Van Nuys and North Hollywood in the San Fernando valley; from Lancaster and Palmdale in the Antelope valley; Santa Monica and Beverly Hills. Cats howled and dogs barked.

Observers on mile-hith Mt. Wilson near Los Angeles said the burst lighted the whole countryside and a shock and rumble were felt 15 to 20 minutes later.

Associated Press correspondents in Northern California said window-rattling rumbles were felt at Marysville, Yuba City and Paso Robles 26 to 30 minutes after the detonation.

Today's blast, 11th and final of the spring series, probably compared favorably with some of the huge explosions reported at the Pacific proving grounds at Eniwetok.

Science director Alvin C. Graves has said the device was a refinement of one tested previously in this series. It incorporated a "discovery" made in the previous shot, he said, but he did not elaborate.

The explosion went off exactly at 4:9 a. m. (7:9 a. m. CST). The flash was seen in San Francisco, 400 miles away and in Los Angeles 250 miles distant.

The fire in the cloud was visible to mountain observers for two minutes and 20 seconds before it faded. Veteran atomic reporters agreed that this far outshone any of the 30 previous blasts in Nevada.

Fires were observed burning on Yucca Flat some minutes later when observers started returning to Las Vegas. The fires probably were in Yucca trees and perhaps some tall cedars and pines left over from previous tests this spring. No structures were known to have been involved today.

The burst appeared to be at a height of more than 2,500 feet. The device was dropped from a bomber coming from Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N. M., at an altitude of probably 35,000 or 40,000 feet.

This is calculated on the basis of the AEC announcement that it took 42 seconds for the bomb to drop from the plane to its point of detonation.

The previous high power of any bomb dropped here is believed to have been about 30 kilotons. The physical evidence of today's detonation would indicate that its power output was nearly double any previous shot.

A kiloton is the AEC scientists' term for the equivalent of 1,000 tons of tnt. The nominal or Hiroshima bomb contained the equivalent of 20,000 tons (20 kilotons) of TNT.

Witnesses here said the view of the fireball was the best of any blast held since the test program started in 1951. The mushroom cloud, also quickly visible, appeared unusually large.

The Las Vegas area was illuminated for nearly 20 seconds by the flaring golden light, with the first flash so dazzling as to almost blind the eyes. The flash was also seen in San Francisco, 600 miles away.

But as sometimes happens, even with the brightest blasts, the shock wave was not noticeable here. The AEC has explained that shock waves skip around freakishly due to atmospheric conditions and may hit a given place on one blast, but bounce over it on another.

No troops were involved today, but the Air Force continued its indoctrination program with a flight of planes over the test site.

Civil effects studies included flash tests on the eyes of rabbits—awakened in time for the burst by alarm clocks in their cages. The animals had one eye taped shut, the other open and exposed to the flash.

Dogs and mice were also stationed at varying distances from the blast point.

Today's shot was originally set for last Monday. It was postponed to Tuesday, then again to today because of unfavorable weather.

Master of A-Bomb Planes In Last Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The master of the atomic planes, Col. Osmond J. Ritland, flew his last nuclear test mission today.

The Air Force said that, after a leave, Col. Ritland will be assigned to the Industrial War College at Washington.

Rose Show Friday At Little Theatre

The annual Rose Show, sponsored by the Sedalia Rose Society, will be held Friday at the Little Theatre. It will be open to the public from 1:30 until 9 p. m. Entries will be accepted from 8 a. m. until 10 a. m.

The glorious seasons of Missouri will be featured in arrangements: Springtime, A Midsummer Dream, Autumn Splendor and Winter Rapture.

Britain Goes 'Ga-Ga' Over Young Prince

LONDON (AP) — Britain has gone deleriously ga-ga over 4½-year-old Prince Charles, and there is clamor that he be made Prince of Wales—right away.

Britain has known him affectionately as the urchin in the palace. But no one appreciated what a lad he has become until he made his unrehearsed appearance at the coronation of his mother, Elizabeth II, at Westminster Abbey on Tuesday.

He wasn't over-awed by bishops with mitres or heralds with swords, nor did a hundred cameras and the glare of light dampen his juvenile enthusiasm. History sounding fanfares on many trumpets delighted him.

But what charmed Britain most was that in his young way he had a sense for the solemn moments of deepest religious significance. He was a very well-behaved little boy, sitting ever so quietly at his grandmother's side, during the high ceremony of the anointing, and the crowning of his mother.

"So let's make him Prince of Wales now," exclaimed many Welshmen, and Londoners echoed approval.

There had been some doubt as to whether he is old enough to be the central figure of what would amount to a sort of a miniature coronation at the ruin of a vast castle at Carnarvon, in Wales.

"But none," said the Daily Sketch today, "who saw how superbly and completely naturally he played his part in the exhausting coronation proceedings could have been left any doubt on this point."

There has been no Prince of Wales since 1936, when the present Duke of Windsor dropped the title to become King Edward VIII. No one becomes Prince of Wales automatically. The title must be conferred by the sovereign. And it is done by the issuance of letters patent. Welshmen yearning for a prince point out that there is no law, rule or precedent stipulating when the sovereign may issue the papers. One Prince of Wales got his title in early infancy. Others have been invested at the age of about 16.

Queen Elizabeth may choose her own moment to elevate her first-born, and many Welshmen are suggesting that an excellent date might be July 10, when the Queen will be visiting Carnarvon castle.

Clyde McKenzie Family Injured In Car Accident

Clyde E. McKenzie, ticket agent for the Missouri Pacific at the local station, Mrs. McKenzie, their daughter and son Fay, 16, and John, 3, of 302 West Third, were injured shortly after 7 a. m. Wednesday in a highway accident.

With Mr. McKenzie driving the car, they were in a collision with a pickup truck on U. S. highway 24, five miles west of Moberly. Mrs. McKenzie received severe head injuries. Mr. McKenzie and the son and daughter sustained contusions and abrasions. They were taken to the Woodland Hospital in Moberly and after treatment all but Mrs. McKenzie were dismissed. Her condition was such that she was admitted as a patient.

According to the State Highway Patrol, the truck was driven by William A. Wolverton, route 2, Moberly. He was not injured.

More of the Same, Says Weatherman

KANSAS CITY (AP)—More of the same brand of weather is in store for Missouri.

Northwest Missouri, which had the high readings yesterday, may cool off a little, due to scattered thunderstorms. But generally the forecast calls for Friday highs of from the 80s in the northwest to the 90s in the southeast.

A cool front has been pushing down from the north, but a layer of warm, moist air from the southwest has been blocking it off.

Jiggers, the Chiggers

Chiggers have become close friends of local picnickers and others who are enjoying summer outings.

CLOUDY AND CONTINUED WARM

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday with a chance of a shower tonight. Low tonight in 60s. High Friday near 90.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 69, 89 at 1 p. m. and 91 at 3 p. m.

One year ago today high 89, low 64, rainfall .43 inch. Two years ago high 70, low 48.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 5.9, rise .1.

Tax Cut Jan. 1st Doubtful

Speaker Martin Says It Cannot Come If Profits Tax Is Not Kept

WASHINGTON, (AP) — House Speaker Martin (R—Mass) said today a tax cut for some 50 million individual taxpayers scheduled next Jan. 1 would be "very doubtful" if Congress fails to extend the excess profits tax.

Martin told a news conference the scheduled 10 per cent reduction in individual income taxes "goes right along together" with President Eisenhower's request for continuation of the excess profits levy, now due to expire at the end of this month.

The speaker repeated a prediction that Congress will keep the excess profits tax in force until Dec. 31, despite strong opposition by some influential Congress members.

Present laws call for a 10 per cent reduction in personal income tax rates beginning with 1954. The administration has said it "definitely" plans to let this reduction take effect as scheduled.

But Martin declared, "if the excess profits tax is not extended, it is very doubtful if financial conditions would be such as to warrant individual tax reductions."

"They go along together. Certainly an extension would be very helpful in getting the individual reduction. That would make it almost a certainty."

Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the tax-framing committee promptly disputed Martin's prediction, however, in this statement:

"Apprised of Speaker Martin's statement, Mr. Reed issued a flat denial that his committee favors the excess profits tax or that it intends to change its stand opposing its extension.

"Mr. Reed said that in his judgment the testimony being presented to the committee had strengthened the members' conviction that this unproductive tax which discriminated so unjustly against small companies should die."

Martin had his news conference soon after returning to the Capitol from a White House meeting of President Eisenhower and GOP congressional leaders.

When Martin left the White House he predicted that Congress would go along with Eisenhower's desires and extend the excess profits tax through the last half of this year.

He told reporters:

"I'm sure an overwhelming number of members of the House want the excess profits tax extended. I also believe the Ways and Means Committee members will give the House that opportunity."

The excess profits tax bill, a key point in Eisenhower's financial program, has been bottled up so far by the Ways and Means Committee whose chairman, Rep. Reed (R-NY), wants the tax to die July 1.

The discussion at the White House came while the President waited to find out whether his "businessmen's administration" can count on the support of businessmen when his policies pinch their pocketbooks. His advisers were betting that business would come through on that point by giving a reluctant okay to a request for a six-months extension on the excess profits levy.

Elks Home Assn. Invests $1,500 In Industry Fund

Directors of the Elks Benevolent Home Association voted last night to invest $1,500 in the Sedalia Improvement Company which is currently erecting a new factory building in south Sedalia.

The action was taken after the directors had received encouragement from B. P. O. Elks lodge and the Home Associated members attending their respective meetings Wednesday night.

Virgil Corson was advanced from vice-president to president of the Home Association during its annual meeting succeeding George H. Scruton. O. B. Poundsone was elected vice-president. Directors Sam Highleyman, James Durley and Dan Robinson, whose terms expired, were erelected for three year terms. Mike Giokaris was elected director for two years to fill the vacancy created by advancement of Poundstone to the vice-presidency.

The officers and directors elected Amos Schroeder treasurer, and Howard Brown, secretary.

Influenza, Measles Climbing In State

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Influenza and measles are still climbing in Missouri at the end of the first five months of 1953.

The state Health Division reported today 8,962 influenza cases had been tabulated through May 30, compared with 1,191 at the same time last year. Measles cases increased to 8,125 against 1,495 a year ago.

The number of infantile paralysis (polio) cases had exactly doubled—27 after five months last year, a bad polio year, and 54 now. Some of the increase apparently represented a carryover from 1952, reported in the early months this year.

Elinor Van Dyke Wins Wool Sewing Contest In District

Elinor Van Dyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Dyke of Smithton, a student at Smith-Cotton High School, was the winner in the junior division of the "Make It Yourself From Wool" contest of the southwest district, held at Clinton on June 3. Amy Ann Scott of Fristoe was winner in the senior division.

These two girls will represent the district in the state finals to be held in Sedalia June 15, when they will compete with district winners from over the entire state.

Elinor placed first in the junior division with a rating of 97 points out of a possble 100 and although there were only first place winners, ranking second in the contest was another Smith-Cotton girl, Charlotte Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Houston, Sedalia, with a rating of 95 points. Ruby Silsby, Smith-Cotton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Silsby, was a runner-up in the contest.

Other girls in the junior division were Donna Sue Jones, Holden, and Shirley Holley, Avery, and in the senior class, Louise Long, Centerview.

The judges were Mrs. Floyd Ream and Miss Ruth Hampton, home economics teacher of the Clinton High School.

Carnations were presented to all the girls competing by Mrs. George Fichter, southwest district contest director as a gift from a Sedalia florist.

The girls were accompanied to Clinton by their mothers and by Mrs. Mary Maddox and Mrs. Louise McKee, who teach home economics at Smith-Cotton.

The garments were made from 100 per cent virgin wool and were judged on suitability of material, pattern, style and workmanship. Each girl modeled her garment and was again judged upon fit, poise, posture, accessories and general attractiveness.

The state contest will be held at the Bothwell Hotel at which time the prizes will be given by the state and Sedalia merchants and the Chamber of Commerce will assist in entertaining the girls and will present them gifts.

The winner of the state contest will represent Missouri at the seventh National Fashion Show in Long Beach, Calif.

Changes Made In 2 Bus Routes And Token Sale

The Sedalia City Bus Co., is making slight changes in the routes on two runs and also in the manner of obtaining tokens, both effective immediately.

Harry Goldberg, manager of the company, announced the tokens will be sold two for 25 cents, four for 50c, or eight for $1. Originally tokens were sold only eight at a time.

Route changes will affect the 16th and Limit bus. The bus instead of continuing on west on 16th, will turn north on Limit to 10th, thence west on 10th past Weather's Korts to the State Fair Blvd., thence north again to Broadway, back east on Broadway to Carr where it will resume its regular routing.

East 13th and North Grand bus has a slight change in the northwest part of town. The bus will go north on Grand to Henry, west on Henry to Prospect, thence south to Cooper and from there continue on the regular routing.

Vanderberg Says US Must Cut NATO Air Aid With Fewer Wings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg indicated today that U. S. air aid to its North Atlantic allies must necessarily be cut if the Air Force goal is changed from 143 wings to 120.

The much-decorated chief of staff of the Air Force, who is retiring June 30, continued his fight against the Eisenhower administration decision to aim for 120 wings by December 1955. President Eisenhower assured the country in his television appearance last night that "we are going specifically to keep up its air power."

Air Force wings include from 30 bombers to 75 fighters, and the Truman administration target for 1955 was 143 of them.

Pettis County 4-H'ers Named For Club Week

Twelve Delegates Selected to Attend Event Jun 9 to 12

Twelve Pettis County 4-H Club members have been selected by the Farm Bureau Rural Youth Committee to attend the eighth annual State 4-H Club Week. The event will begin on June 9 and continue through the afternoon of June 12 at Columbia.

Selected to attend were: Shirley Klein (Ringen Brushy 4-H), Jeanetta Moon (Hughesville 4-H), Betty Breshears (Pleasant Green), Claudene Townsend (Tanglenook 4-H), Lorene Klein (Walnut Grove 4-H), Helen Rugen (4-H), Francis Norfleet (Prairie Ridge 4-H), Aleta Mae Chevalier (Pleasant Green 4-H), George Fairfax (South Abell 4-H), Eugene Oelrichs (Pacific 4-H), Robert Harvey (Welcome In 4-H) and Burton Ives (Pacific 4-H).

Burton Ives, 4-H Council president, will not be able to attend since he can not get off work. Burton was recommended as an automatic delegate to State Club Week, since he is president of the 4-H Council. The Rural Youth Committee felt the council president should be a representative to the State 4-H Council.

Between 700 and 800 4-H'ers from almost every county of the state, plus 100 to 150 leaders and agents, will attend the event which is one of the highlights of the club year. The program includes assemblies, tours, parties, planned recreation, the election of state club officers and a citizenship ceremony.

Speakers of note on this year's program include: Everett Mitchell, nationally known radio commentator and world traveler; Mrs. James D. Wyker, president of the United Church Women; Charles Horn, president of the Federal Cartage Company; Gordon Nance, University of Missouri extension economist and Mrs. Lloyd White, who will present her comedy hat act.

This year, for the first time, citations will be made to friends of 4-H who have been outstanding in their contributions to the 4-H club program. The Missouri 4-H Foundation will present the citation plaques.

Boys and girls attending club week will have an opportunity to meet other 4-H'ers from throughout the state, become acquainted with their state university and, if the past is any indication, will have a grand time at this year's event.

The Farm Bureau Rural Youth Committee is composed of Mrs. P. S. Reed, chairman; Mrs. W. L. Hayes, Raymond Kahrs, Mrs. J. T. Edmundson and Francis Mergen.

Balloon Kills Boy

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Five-year-old Charles Vega died yesterday when a toy balloon became lodged in his throat. He was the youngest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Vega.

UN and Reds Reportedly Very Near to Korean War Armistice

Reds Submit Counter Plan Like the UN's

Commie Response May Be Acceptance In Their Own Words

PANMUNJOM, Friday (AP) —The Communists reportedly submitted Thursday a countr-proposal for a Korean armistice which unofficial sources said was extraorinarily close to the "final" allied plan.

If such is the case, it would tend to confirm reports among South Korean officials that an armistice in the long and costly conflict is near.

(Washington reports said the two sides were close to agreement and there was a notable increase of optimism. There was some indication the latest Red response could be a virtual acceptance of the Allied plan, and that nothing remained but minor differences.)

If the Communist plan dove-tails into the Allied proposal, it would follow the pattern set by the Reds in past negotiations of adopting in their own words the Allied terms.

This much was known for sure: the Communists after a nine-day recess offered a long statement Thursday at a 73-minute secret session.

Contents of the Communist statement were kept secret.

The official spokesman for the United Nations Command, Lt. Col. Milton Herr, would not confirm or deny the reported counterproposal.

The report came from a source close to the negotiations.

However, another source said later the Communists did not advance a formal counterproposal as such, although their statements amounted to one. This source said the reds presented their position at length and asked explanations of some provisions of the allies' May 25 proposals.

Rumors grew in both Munsan and Seoul that the negotiators were close to agreement, but there was nothing from official quarters to support them.

(The Communist Peiping radio, heard in Tokyo, gave no indication of any Red move within the conference. It noted only that the session was held in secret.)

The Allies asked for and got a recess until Saturday, stirring speculation that a Red counterproposal would be sent to the U. S. and other allies for consideration.

The Communists had been expected to answer an Allied "now or never" proposal on prisoner exchange submitted May 25.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il talked an hour — all but the last 13 minutes of the session.

The South Korean delegate continued his boycott, which started May 25. This was the second session he had missed.

South Korean government sources have attacked the Allied plan presented 10 days ago as "appeasement" and a "sell-out."

The prisoner exchange dispute—last major barrier to an armistice—centers on what to do with 34,000 North Korean and 14,500 Chinese prisoners who refuse to return to their Communist homelands.

The Communists have proposed leaving their fate to a postarmistice political conference after a period of Red explanations. The new Allied plan is reported to agree to that, but adds that if the political conference fails to settle the problem, disposition of the prisoners would be left to the U.N. General Assembly. The Reds reportedly rejected that U. N. provision on the spot.

Elks Go Over Top With Blood Donors; Bank Here Tomorrow

The Elks Club has gone over its quota of donors for the Red Cross mobile blood bank which will set up Friday and Saturday at the Smith-Cotton cafeteria. Asked to provide 15 donors, the Elks have signed up 21.

Forrest Yoder was chairman of the Elks donor sign-up and was assisted by James Durley, Robert Moore, Bob Johnson and Ed Ringen.

For the blood bank tomorrow only 105 donors are registered and 200 are needed. Saturday is in worse shape—51 registered and 200 needed. Anyone who can give may go to the cafeteria at their convenience.

Reds Rebuff ROK Attacks On Six Hills

Bloody Hand-to-Hand Fighting by South Koreans Gets One Hill

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese and North Korean Reds today sledgehammered back in blood hand-to-hand fighting all but one of seven South Korean counterattacks for key Allied hill positions captured by the Communists.

Units of four ROK divisions smashed against Chinese clinging to five outposts on Finger and Bloody Ridges on the East-Central Front and North Koreans on portions of Luke the Gook's Castle and Anchor Hill in the East.

One outpost was recaptured on Bloody Ridge.

All other counterattacks were hurled back, and at Luke's Castle and Anchor Ridge North Korean Reds wound up a day of bitter closequarter fighting in better positions than before.

The U. N. Command said two beefed-up Chinese battalions—perhaps 2,500 men — smashed into South Kreans who captured one outpost on Finger Ridge and drove the ROKs off again.

North Koreans wrested the crest of Anchor Hill from ROK infantrymen who drove the Reds off the hill earlier in the day. An Eighth Army briefing officer said that at dusk Communist and South Korean troops faced each other from opposite sides of the dish-shaped crest.

Counterattacking South Koreans of the 12th Division lost added ground in desperate see-saw fighting for Luke's Castle. There ROKs who drove the Reds back late Wednesday were driven back farther than before by a smashing Communist counterattack.

At last report, the North Koreans held about half of the intricate Castle defenses.

Allied warplanes flew scores of missions again today in close support of troops on the battle line.

During the night U. S. Superforts hit the battlefront with their biggest assault in nearly a year. Nineteen B29s unloaded 190 tons of bombs on Red targets between Chorwon and Kumhwa in the Iron Triangle sector of the Central Front.

Heavy clouds and low haze obliterated the battle line from the air but the Air Force said its fighter - bombers used electronic sighting to drop thousands of pounds of bombs on the East-Central and Eastern Fronts.

Keep Secrecy Close Around Talks Today

Strong Confidence In High Circles In U. S. Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist and United Nations commands were reported today to be very close to agreement on a Korean War armistice.

Officially, there was the closest secrecy but it was clear that in high quarters of the government there was very strong confidence that agreement on a truce was at hand.

There was a notable increase of optimism among officials and some indication the latest Red response could be considered as virtual acceptance of the U. N. proposals of 10 days ago.

According to this interpretation, the only matters left to be negoatiated are relatively minor differences.

The Red reply to the U. N. plan for dealing with the deadlock over disposition of prisoners of war was received by the government this morning. The Reds presented it to the U. N. command at Panmunjom last night, Washington time.

Official secrecy covered reaction at the State and Defense Departments and the White House.

But there were indications that a solution was being reached.

It is the prisoner issue which has blocked agreement for many months. It turns on the question of what should be done about prisoners of war who were unwilling to go home after an armistice.

In putting forth their latest plan 10 days ago, the U. N. command—under direction from Washington—made some concessions on this point.

It dropped a proposal that 34,000 balky POWs from the North Korean forces should be released in South Korea as soon as the truce became effective.

It also agreed to a system of majority voting in a proposed "neutral" nations truce commission which would supervise the handling of POWs after an armistice.

It reportedly agreed also to let the state of these prisoners be discussed for a limited time at a Korean political conference of the warring powers.

But the U. N. command insisted that there could be no compromise on its proposal that in the end (1) prisoners refusing to go home should be given their freedom this side of the iron curtain, (2) that at no time should they be coerced or intimidated by Red representatives who would be permitted to visit and talk with them after an armistice.

The Panmunjom negotiations were recessed for one day after the Communists made their latest proposals. This was to accord opportunity for full study of the Communist statement in Washington, and for exchanges between officials here and Gen. Mark Clark, the U. N. commander.

The negotiators are to meet again at 8 p. m. (CST), Friday, or Saturday morning, Panmunjom time.

Latest Red Proposals Received In Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — The latest Communist proposals for a Korean truce were received here today from the United Nations command.

State and Defense Department officials immediately began a study of the Red position, presumably to determine the extent to which it accords with the United Nations "final" compromise offer to the Reds 10 days ago.

The White House declined comment on reports that the Communists offered only minor objections to the U. N. plan for ending the stalemate over disposition of prisoners of war who are unwilling to return home.

The Red reaction is understood to consist of a set of counter proposals which could accept major points of the United Nations plan. It was presented in a negotiating session at Panmunjom, Korea, last night, Washington time.

The Allied negotiators promptly asked a one day recess to allow opportunity for full study of the Communist statement in Washington, and for exchanges between officials here and Gen. Mark Clark, the U. N. commander in Tokyo.

US Announces Successful 'Breeding' of Atomic Fuel

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) —The United States today announced the successful "breeding" of atomic fuel—that is, the production of at least as much, or more, new fissionable material as is burned up in the process of making it.

The development is one of the most revolutionary in the entire atomic program. It was disclosed by Chairman Gordon Dean of the Atomic Energy Commission in a speech prepared for the Edison Electric Institute.

Dean cautioned his audience of 3,000 electric and power men not to assume that economic power from atomic energy is here. But he called the achievement a milestone of progress and said it "holds out the promise of making a civilian atomic power industry even more feasible and attractive in the long range than it has hitherto appeared to be."

The process, Dean said, was worked out at the AEC's reactor testing station at Arco, Nev. He illustrated it this way:

"To explain to you the impact of reaching this new milestone, I would like to use an analogy, albeit a greatly over-simplified one.

"I would like to ask you to imagine a world in which only one hundred gallons of gasoline existed. When that gasoline was used up, gasoline would forever be gone from the earth. But let us imagine that we could make gasoline out of water by burning the gasoline we had in the presence of water. Let us say, for example, that by burning up our 100 gallons of gasoline we could change 90 gallons of water into new gasoline, and that thereafter we could, by burning gasoline in the presence of water, always make new gasoline equivalent to 90 per cent of that which we burned. By such a process we would quite obviously greatly stretch out our supply of gasoline, but we could hardly expect to stretch it out indefinitely for we would always be making a little less gasoline than we consumed.

"Ultimately we would run out of gasoline before we ran out of water, and all the rest of the water in the world would be useless to us so far as gasoline production was concerned.

"But to pursue our over-simplified analogy, still further, now let us assume that we succeeded in developing a way by which we could produce 100 or more gallons of new gasoline from water for every 100 gallons we burned. Suddenly we would have made it possible for ourselves to change gradually all of the water in the world into gasoline. Our gasoline shortage would have vanished."

Dean said that essentially is what has happened at arco.

Potentially, the achievement opens the way to making use of the world's supply of uranium-238, which is 140 times more plentiful than the fissionable u-235, as a source of fuel for power or for bombs. Moreover, it may open the way to using all supplies of an element called thorium which is even more plentiful than uranium-238.

The AEC chief said:

"The real significance of breeding is that it is now possible for mankind ultimately to utilize all the uranium that can be extracted from the earth's surface in its natural state."

"The proof of success in breeding at the Idaho station suggests, in addition, that the other potential atomic fuel, thorium, may also ultimately be utilized."

Versatile Trousseau In Cotton

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The trousseau in cotton is one that is lovely to look at, cool to wear and simple to launder. It can be frothy with lace and ruffles, simple and tailored or an expert combination of both.

This year's bridal gowns are distinguished by masses of sheer foam. This foam includes cotton, taking in the permanent-finish transparent organdies.

Cotton can be very formal. Even some of the organdies have trains, lavish embroidery or a hint of sequin dust hidden in flower trim or along ruffles.

Soft batiste from Switzerland makes gowns and peignoirs that are silky to the touch, frilly with lace ruffles, baby ribbons and insertion.

And cotton also takes care of the bride's going-away costume. Here, it appears trim and tailored and is cut into sheaths, pin-neat ensembles and travel suits. Its use extends to separates, playclothes, swimsuits, hats, bags and gloves.

A bride can build her entire trousseau from cotton and be well dressed all summer long.

Generally, there's indication of a return to the floor-length bridal gown. But youthful brides continue to cherish the waltz-length.

New summer bridal gowns often have trains, these to be removed when the wedding's over if the bride wants to wear her gown again. When worn, veils are often elbow length, very full and sheer.

This bride has picked an all-cotton trousseau, easy to care for and pretty to wear. Her going-away suit (left) is by Countess Alexander in cotton linen. Straw-like braid is couched on in flower-and-leaf scroll design. With jacket off, bride has dinner dress with scoop neckline and short sleeves. Romantic bridal gown (center) is permanent-finish transparent organdy. Designed by Josephine Oro, it has white over two layers of palest green. Embroidered flowers have sequin dust in center. White taffeta is used for bustle bows that fall in panels over embroidery - scalloped train. Batiste is used by Sylvia Pedlar for gown and peignoir (right). Yoke is heavily embroidered.

Pastor Gets Permit To Carry Gun—Will Discourage Pigeons

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — It's open season on pigeons at the Rev. Carl Stocking's First Methodist Church.

The minister has been issued a firearms permit to dissuade a flock of the friendly birds from attending his sermons. The birds, longtime residents of the area, moved into the church recently when their former home, a barn across the street, was torn down.

In applying for the permit, the pastor explained the pigeons are in disfavor with the congregation because they have committed numerous minor indiscretions and have made use of the church's outdoor drinking fountain a "hazardous experience."

Army Is Paying $15 Rewards for AWOLs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army once again is paying $15 rewards to agencies, other than federal, and including police, for apprehending and holding deserters and AWOLs.

The practice was instituted during wartime, but dropped thereafter.

If apprehension is made and the deserter, AWOL or absentee prisoner is delivered to the military, a $25 reward will be paid.

If two or more persons cooperate, the reward will be paid only to the one who acts as leader in the apprehension. The order also specifies that no payment will be made to an attorney who advises a man to surrender himself.

Grand Jury Will Probe Knetzer's Charges Monday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A federal grand jury next Monday will start inquiring into allegations by Robert L. Knetzer, bankrupt Edwardsville auto dealer, against various public officials.

Floyd M. Mattice, a special assistant to U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, announced yesterday the Justice Department is ready to proceed with the investigation, first scheduled for last August.

The rags-to-riches car dealer was convicted in february of concealing assets from creditors who paid huge sums into his amazing sales scheme before it blew up in 1948.

Operating in part from an alfalfa field, Knetzer sold cars for less than they cost.

He was sentenced to five years in federal prison and a $5,000 fine after his trial four months ago, and still faces two other charges. He has appealed the assets concealment conviction.

Mattice said the probe was ordered by former Attorney General McGranery after Knetzer was quoted in some newspapers that he paid public officials to stay out of jail.

He said no formal complaints by Knetzer were on file, that he had not talked with him and that under circumstances did not wish to mention any names.

Congressman Gets In Stew Over Rabbits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul C. Jones, a Missouri Democrat, most likely is developing an allergy to rabbits.

He reported in his weekly "news letter" to constituents:

"Problems of surplus may be created by following the recommendations of the Agriculture Department.

"Last year one of my constituents wrote for a booklet on 'raising rabbits'. And this past week she came forth with a plea to furnish her with a list of prospect markets for rabbits, saying her place was running over with rabbits and adding 'they breed so fast.'"

New Hughesville School Superintendent on Job

HUGHESVILLE—Alfred Brown, Stoutland, new superintendent of schools, has moved to the Hershel Rissler place. Mr. Brown is married and has two daughters, Barbara and Janice. Barbara will enter Missouri University this fall. Janice, who was a junior in high school last year has not decided if she will enter Hughesville High School or take a summer course and enter Missouri University with her sister.

Movie Shows How Heart Can Get More Blood

NEW YORK (AP)—A new way of making hungry hearts get more blood was to be shown today in a movie to the American Medical Association.

It is designed to help people whose hearts suffer from lack of blood, due to narrowing of the coronary artery, which brings blood to the heart muscle itself.

To supply more blood, purified talcum powder is put inside the sac, called the pericardium, surrounding the heart.

The irritation from the powder causes growth and extension of tiny new blood vessels to supply more blood to the heart.

Justice Department Makes Cases Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell says his department now is making public its settlements of civil and tax cases.

Any such cases settled by the Justice Department without going to court will be "made a matter of public record." Brownell said yesterday in a talk to members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity.

Brownell said there would be an exception to the publicity rule for minor cases, defined as settlements of less than $10,000.

Chevrolet Workers Authorize Strike In St. Louis Plant

ST. LOUIS (AP)—About 2,000 CIO United Auto Workers, employed at the Chevrolet division of General Motors Corp. here, voted yesterday to authorize a strike in protest against a "speed up" and "over-loading" of jobs at the plant.

Ray George, acting financial secretary of Local 250 said the vote was 94.9 per cent in favor of a walkout. The vote results will be sent to the international union for approval before a strike date is set.

Kansas City Marks Up 36th Auto Death

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City recorded its thirty-sixth automobile fatality of 1953 when a 28-year-old driver died after his car struck a tree at the corner of an intersection at (49th street and Troost Avenue) last night.

The victim was Gale W. Tice, formerly of Omaha, Nebr., who lived at 4945 Troost.

Farmer Found Dead

BRAGG CITY (AP)—A 33-year-old Cooter farmer was found dead on a farm near here yesterday, the apparent victim of exhaust fumes from a tractor he was operating.

Aaron Lee Alexander was found behind the tractor with which he had been cutting hay on the J. F. Vogel farm. No inquest was held.

Strangelike Insect Found in Nelson Garage

Willis Grabel, 20 miles north of Sedalia on route 2, Nelson, who works in Sedalia, captured an unusual insect in the garage at his home and bottled it to show his friends. It was a beetle-like bug that had horns produding from its head exactly like miniature antlers, such as on a deer. It had several legs and tentacles almost like an octupus that would clamp down on anything that came in close contact with them.

Benson Gains Okay For His Reorganization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson gained broad authority today to reorganize his 67,000-employe agency.

This power went to him last midnight after congress permitted an Agriculture Department reorganization plan, submitted in March by President Eisenhower, to go into effect.

Reorganization law permits such presidential plans to go into effect 60 days after their submission to Congress. Yesterday was the 60th day.

Both the House and Senate voted down measures to disapprove the agriculture plan. The House action, taken yesterday, was by a vote of 261-128, with only one Republican, Rep. Gross of Iowa, voting against the plan.

Just what Benson will do in the way of revamping his agency, with its 20-odd bureaus and agencies, only time will tell, in a statement he promised no 'radical' changes in the immediate future.

Benson said he would not act until he had made "careful, prolonged" study of the department. At the time he took over in January, he described the agency as being "overgrown."

There has been speculation Benson may seek to turn many administrative details over to such state agencies as the extension services. For example, he may seek to handle an agricultural conservation payments program this way, with the department making grants to the states for carrying out conservation programs. At present, the department itself deals directly with farmers and pays them subsidies.

The secretary is expected to set up a new marketing agency.

10-Year-Old Girl Is 8th Grade Grad

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Grandmas and grandpas may be making the news these days with college degrees, but 10-year-old Mary Anita Weis of Webster Groves is getting an early start.

Mary Anita will graduate from the eighth grade, three and four years ahead of her classmates at St. Gabriel the Archangel school.

The youngster's mother, Mrs. Arthur J.Weis a school teacher, explained that Mary Anita started school in the second grade at the age of 4. Most of her fellow graduates Sunday will be 13 or 14.

Mary Anita, who hopes to be a physician, started in the second grade after a test at Washington University placed her intelligence quotient at 165. An IQ of over 135 generally is considered remarkable.

Memorial Services Held at Hughesville

HUGHESVILLE—Memorial Day services were held Sunday at the Hughesville High Point Cemetery with the Rev. George Ruffin, Baptist student pastor, delivering the main address.

A rain just before the services caused many to stay away.

Graves of the war veterans were decorated with flags and wreaths. Those of World War I are Paul McAninch, Dee McClure, Ira McClure and World War II, Walter Curry and Dewey Spratley.

Trophies To Best School Bands

C. of C. State Fair Program To Be Recognition of Youth

Among things discussed and decided upon Tuesday morning at a meeting of the State and National Affairs Committee at the Chamber of Commerce office was the presenting of trophies each day to the outstanding school band at the 1953 Missouri State Fair.

The Chamber of Commerce this year is starting a program in recognition of youth and the trophies will be given each day to the top band of the day selected by Rodney W. Polson, band master. Mr. Polson is assistant band director at the University of Missouri, Columbia and will be in charge of all the bands at the Fair. The trophies will be taken home by the winning bands to place in their trophy cases.

The Chamber of Commerce will this year discontinue the prize money to the five-gaited stake and the money will be spent instead on the youth program.

Another contribution to the Missouri State Fair this year will be continuing the information booth which will be conducted in the same manner as last year, with a member of the staff assisting part time. The information booth is open all day each day of the Fair and until about 8 o'clock in the evening.

Although plans are not complete for the handling of the housing this is another program in connection with the Missouri State Fair that the Chamber of Commerce will assist in. After all hotels and motels are filled the Chamber of Commerce office will give help in any way possible in housing Fair visitors. However, all arrangements for reservations must be made by the people wanting to rent rooms and, those having the rooms to rent. The Chamber of Commerce will have a list of those wanting to make reservations and a lot of people who have rooms.

Another thing decided by the committee is the presentation of a trophy for one of the harness races on Sedalia Day. This, too, is something that has not been done in previous years.

The meeting was presided over by Chester L. Wolfe, director of the State and National Affairs Committee with Bert Hathaway, first vice president, assisting.

198 Polio Cases Reported Last Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were 198 cases of infantile paralysis reported over the nation last week. They pushed this year's total to 2,569, or more than 25 per cent greater than the 2,047 up to this time last year.

Reporting this today, the Public Health Service said last week's increase of 44 cases over the preceding week was not concentrated in any one area or state. A total of 198 compared with a five-year average of 138 cases for the week.

Rose Society Gets Report On Rose Show

The annual Rose Show, which will be held at the Little Theatre, Smith-Cotton High School, and open to the public from 1:30 to 9 p. m. was the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the Sedalia Rose Society this week. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Jones, 1401 West Fourth, with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brummet assisting.

Mrs. Herbert Seifert, chairman of the Rose Show, talked on how to prepare roses for the show and Mrs. H. C. Sammons, co-chairman, explained the entries on the schedule and urged everyone to invite their friends to the Rose Show.

Mrs. Oscar DeWolf, who attended a class in judging school at the National American Rose Society convention held at East Lansing, Mich., last summer, told what judges look for in judging a rose. She said three important things are color, form and size.

Mrs. Ed Brummet, chairman of the entry committee, said her committee would be on hand at the Little Theatre Friday morning between the hours of 8 to 10 to receive the entries.

The theme of the show this year is "Show Me" Roses, which applies to the State of Missouri. In arrangement classes will be the Glorious Season in Missouri: Springtime, A Midsummer Dream, Autumn Splendor and Winter Rapture.

The business meeting was presided over by Victor Gill, president.

Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, exhibit chairman, had charge of the exhibit for the month of June, "Arrangements in which roses can be used and new types of containers for rose arrangements."

Each member wrote a greeting to Mrs. W. H. Eichholz, who is now on a tour abroad.

Since last meeting several members have been visiting other gardens and the following told of their visits: Mrs. Leland Hoback, Shaw's Garden, St. Louis; Mrs. Gilbert Jones, Springfield; Mrs. Jim Richardson, the new rose garden at Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. DeWolf and Mr. and Mrs. Seifert, the Satterlee in North Kansas City and the Glendale Rose Gardens in Independence.

Stork Beats Party, But Party Goes On Without Honoree

"If there is going to be a party I might as well arrive in time to be in on it" thought the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Don Richardson and he arrived Monday night, the party was planned for Tuesday night. But he didn't get in on the party — and neither did his mother.

The young man wasn't expected for another month and all plans were made for a pink and blue shower by Mrs. Warren Alcorn and Mrs. Norman Huffman at the home of Mrs. Alcorn, 1211 South Lamine. The guest of honor, however, was not at the shower, she and her brand new son were at Bothwell Hospital.

The party was held according to schedule and some of the women who had pondered over whether to buy dainty little dresses or romper suits and had decided on the dresses took them back and exchanged them for rompers in time to go to the party.

Guests included were: Mrs. G. H. Richardson, Warrensburg, Mrs. Nell Hudson, Mrs. John R. Lyle, Mrs. R. J. Ruthrauff, Mrs. Mary Howe, Mrs. Dennis Allen, Mrs. W. N. Stodgell, Mrs. Larry Ulmer, Mrs. Victor McFadden, Mrs. Ruddell Fisher and Mrs. C. L. Tschop.

The unopened gifts remained piled high in the living room while the women went in and had their party.

Wednesday night the gifts were taken out to the hospital and given to Mrs. Richardson and she had fun opening them up there—every one a gift for a baby boy.

Housecleaning Hints Used to Answer Roll

The Weneeda Club of near Windsor held their May meeting with Mrs. Grace Smart. Eleven members with Mrs. Henry Smart, Mae Marie Shumake, Edgar Bumpas and Alex Smart enjoyed the dinner.

Mrs. Margaret Bunnell presided at the business meeting in the afternoon. After a song the club collect was read by Vernita Agbert, who also gave a very interesting devotional on "The Life of Fanny Crosby" followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Roll call was answered with "housecleaning hints". A committee was appointed to buy a gift for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smart.

The program consisted of various readings and poems about "Mother's Day. Mrs. Henry Smart became a new member.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Elza Adair.

Menu Item: A Big Bowlful of Germs

The Right Kind Go Into Yogurt, Which Is Booming

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Did you ever eat a big, creamy bowlful of germs, topped with strawberry preserves? Mmmm, yummy!

May sound sickening, but if you get the right kind of germs, such as lacobacillus bulgaricus, they're real tasty. And many thousands of Americans are discavering this bacillus bankuet, which goes under the name of yogurt and is now off to a slow national boom.

Yorut is actually cultured milk, which doesn't mean it comes from hoity-toity cows. It's milk to which has been added carefully selected strains of germs. These busy little organisms proceed to make the milk ferment and it changes into a custard-like consistency.

It's a question whether the final project is something to eat or drink. You can do both. As it comes, you can spoon it up. Or you can shake the container and drink it.

* * *

It has a slightly sour taste. That's the way they like it back in Europe, where it is a very popular food-drink. It has a long history, even being mentioned in the Bible. But it was rediscovered by accident in modern times (say 1000 years ago) in the Balkins.

The Bugarians had a habit of leaving their milk sitting around in the hot Balkan sun. Fortunately for Bulgaria, the germs around there are mostly friendly types, and they settle in the milk and proceed to spend pleasant afternoons making yogurt. This, the Bulgarians liked.

Since these people live, usually to a ripe old age, word of the Bulgars' bacteria beverage spread. And others began making it. The Armenians called it mazoun, the Arabs called it leben, the Indians called it dahi. Over the centuries, it spread across most of Europe.

In 1942, the first commercial attempt to make yogurt in the U. S. began. The company, Dannon Yogurt, is still America's biggest. The head of the concern, a 69-year-old Swiss-born gentleman with a handsome goatee, is Joe Metzer.

* * *

"Public acceptance in America," says Mertzger "has been very slow, I'm sorry to say. The American taste is different, so we are making concessions to the American taste. Now we make yogurt with orange and vanilla flavors and with strawberry preserves. Now public acceptance is startling."

It has become a sort of fad food in certain circles, being linker with other health items like wheat germs and blackstrap molasses. Yogurt is supposed to be very good for the digestion—

THERE ARE GERMS and germs, it seems, so batch of germ-filled yogurt is tested to see there are no wrong ones.

Metzger says it "establishes the normal bacteria flora in the intestines"—and also helpful for people who want to lose weight, because it is filling.

The Dannon plant is completely mechanized, with even the germs on an assembly line basis. The three kinds of germs used breed happily in a tiny laboratory, and are added as the raw milk is pasteurized. After the liquid yogurt is bottled, it sits in an incubator for from two to five hours.

* * *

There, in 110 degree heat, the germs go to work and ferment to their nucleus' content. They multiply until there are roughly 250,000,000 germs per cubic centimeter of yogurt. Figure that one out by the spoonful.

Then, Metxger says, "They've grown enough, so we tell the animals to go to sleep." This slumber is induced by sticking the yogurt into the refrigerator.

Whether it's the sweeter flavors or the health food fad, yogurt consumption in America has increased. Dannon turned out 10,000 half-pint containers a month in 1942; today they produce 700,000. And now there are competitors across the country.

Americans eat the stuff plain, or with sweeting agents like honey, or with stuff like cole slaw dumped in, or on cereals at breakfast. It all depends on how you like your germs.

Mexico Police Uncover a Red Plot In Americas

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's largest newspaper, Excelsior, reported today that Mexican police have uncovered a detailed Russian plot aimed at Communist seizure of power in Latin-American countries.

Success of the scheme, it said, would turn Mexico, Central and South America into "another Poland and Czechoslovakia."

The independent conservative newspaper quoted highly authoritative police sources as saying that Mexico is a center of Russian efforts to build up Red fifth columns throughout Latin America. Mexican Communists and political exiles from other nations—mostly Socialists and Communists—were reported aiding in the plot.

Excelsior said its police sources reported that the Russian Embassy in Mexico City controls 32 Communist cells working throughout Latin America. The embassy itself, the sources added 15 working through the Polish and Czechoslovak legations here in an effort to avert suspicion.

Commie China Offers Britain Trade Dollars

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China is offering Britain fat trade deals of up to 2¼ billion dollars.

The offers have been extended by propaganda publications but they are accented enough to make it look as though Peiping really means them.

It could be another maneuver aimed at widening the breach between Britain and the United States on the touchy China trade issue. Or it could be evidence that the Allied embargo is pinching Red China.

Certainly it is a change in tune for Communist propagandists.

One year ago all non-Communist foreign trade was scored as imperialist poison which China no longer needed.

Four months ago Red propagandists asserted the Western embargo was a failure because it had taught China how to get along without imperialist commerce.

Now the Reds are talking about the benefit of British-China trade and its long history and rich potential.

For example the pro-Communist weekly Economic Bulletin, published in Hong Kong, danaged this bait:

"China is in a position to develop trade with the capitalist countries to the extent of 1½ billion to 2¼ billion dollars per year."

A commentator in the Peiping People's Daily was quoted by Peiping radio as saying:

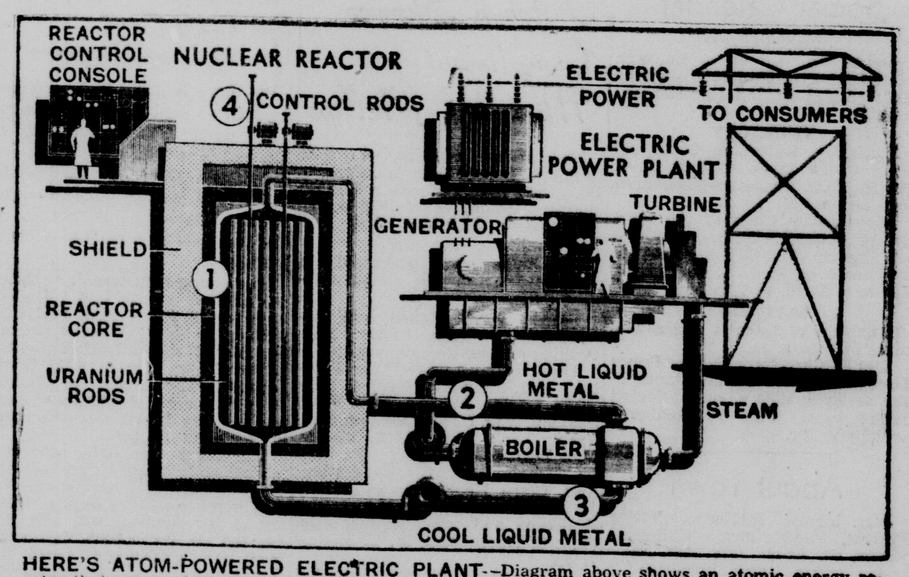

"The U. S. will not open its domestic market on favorable terms. A growing number of business and political spokesmen in British and other countries have come to realize that the only way out for them is to adopt an independent trade policy, oppose the American blockade and promote equal and mutually beneficial trade relations between East and West."

The Economic Bulletin noted the British commerce with China had increased slightly in recent months but said it was only a dribble compared to what it could be.

It said China's five-year-plan of industrialization had "created needs for imports from capitalist countries."

Lottery Slips Kept In Lettuce Draw Fine

NEWARK, N. J (AP)—Frank Farber, a Newark grocer, was arrested yesterday on charges of keeping lottery slips in his lettuce.

Blind Man's Love at First 'Sight' Makes Quick Wedding

By TOM SHAWVER

CHICAGO (AP)—It was a college romance that got its start when a blind honor law student bumped into a petite, dark-eyed coed from Israel. And it was love, he said, "at first sight."

After a courtship of only two months, Burton Kolman, 21, of Chicago, and Anita Gubali, 24, of near Tel Aviv, Israel, were married last night. Both are law students at Chicago's DePaul University.

Kolman, blinded four years ago in a baseball game, told a newsman he proposed to Miss Gubali three weeks after she stumbled into him and his Seeing-Eye dog, Chief, in a university corridor.

"It was love at first sight for me," he said. "I couldn't really see her, of course, but I knew from talking to her that she was beautiful and intelligent. I took her out 21 nights in a row and on the 22nd I proposed.

"Now I feel that if I had missed her I would have missed the whole world."

Their marriage disrupted Miss Gubali's plans for a law career in Israel. The daughter of a rabbi in Israel, she came to the United States from England last year for studies which she hoped would lead to a juvenile court judgeship in her homeland.

"But now I don't know when I shall return," she smiled. "When you are in love, you can't control yourself."

The courtship, the proposal and the marriage followed each other so quickly that Miss Gubali's parents were unable to obtain visas in time to attend the wedding. But they will see moving pictures of the entire ceremony showing Kolman, blond-haired and 6 feet 4 inches tall, walking unassisted down the aisle to meet his five-foot bride.

A top student at DePaul ever since he began his studies there, Kolman was recently acclaimed for having posted the highest marks in the hisiory of the School of Law.

After a wedding trip to a Wisconsin resort, the gift of a radio program sponsor, the couple will resume their studies at DePaul. Kolman graduates next January. His wife also wants to continue her studies for a law degree.

"That," said Kolman, "is because we hope to practice law together some day. It will be 'Kolman and Kolman, attorneys at law.'"

Denise Has Poison Ivy

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Denise Darcel, movie actress and night club entertainer, came to Newark yesterday to help promote a hospital building fund and wound up being examined.

Doctors noticed she had a red rash. They gave her a bottle of lotion for poison ivy.

Rev. Loughran Speaks to Lions Club on 'Words'

"Take My Word For It" was the subject of the Rev. Joseph S. Loughran, pastor of the Federated Church, who spoke to the Sedalia Lions Club at their noonday meeting Wednesday in the Ambassador Room of the Bothwell Hotel. Rev. Loughran told of the formation and romance of English words.

Although the subject has been given before various other clubs and organizations, the Lions, many of whom had heard it before, enjoyed his 30-minute program.

President E. B. Smith announced the names of the newly elected officers for the year of 1953-54 who will be installed on Wednesday, June 24, at a night meeting.

A call for blood donors was made by President Smith for those who desire to give blood at the Red Cross blood bank to be held June 5 and 6.

Delegates to the state convention, to be held in Joplin, were announced and credentials were issued. The Sedalia delegation will stop at the Koronado Motel.

Arthur Morgan, a Kiwanian, was the guest of President Smith.

Molasses Ties Up Traffic on Highway

NEEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—That old saying "As slow as cold molasses" held true last night.

Traffic was tied up over a large section for three hours when a 5½-ton open-top tractor trailer, loaded with molasses, overturned on Route 128.

There was so much molasses over the road that a snow plow had to be brought to the scene to help clean it away.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Leave your pilot light burning—

BECAUSE...

1 Your gas furnace will last much longer. The small amount of heat from the pilot light evaporates moisture and prevents rusting within the furnace.

2 Heat is instantly available when you want it during damp and cold summer days.

3 Simply move the thermostat to the lowest possible setting. This will assure no delay in starting your furnace next fall.

The cost of burning your pilot light amounts to only a few pennies a month. The advantages in longer life for your furnace and instant gas heat more than offset this small cost.

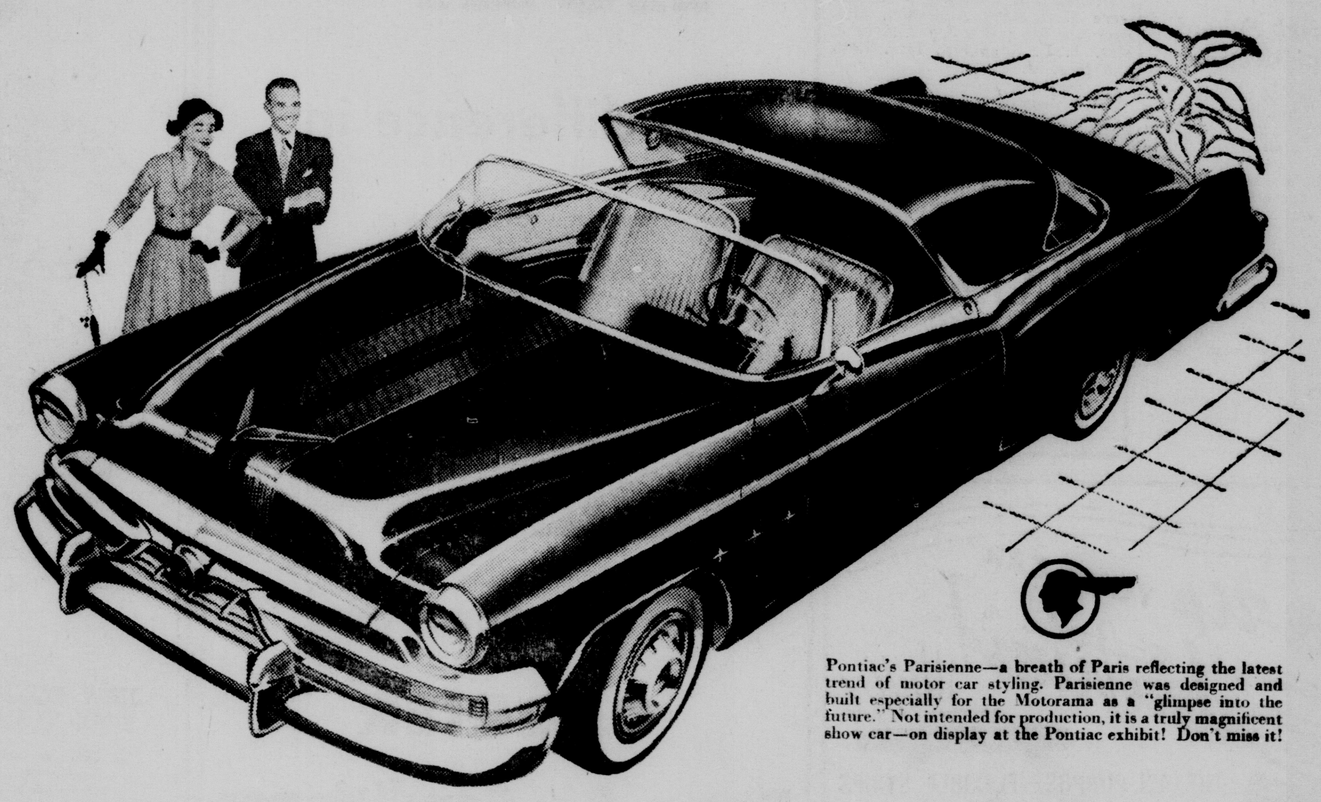

Gas has become extremely popular as a heating fuel. Due to the concerted demand for furnace lighting service on the first cold fall day, it has become impossible for the Missouri Public Service Company to provide prompt service.

Businessmen Give Opinion On Tax Today

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Eisenhower finds out today whether his "businessmen's administration" can count on support of businessmen when his policies pinch their pocketbooks.

His advisers were betting that business would come through for his tax program, by putting a reluctant okay on a six-month extension of the unpopular excess profits tax beyond June 30.

The two largest business organizations, the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, both firmly on record opposing the profits levy, were restudying their policy. Both were due to disclose their decisions before nightfall.

The organizations were approached by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Under Secretary Marion B. Folsom, it developed yesterday, following Eisenhower's recommendation for postponement of some scheduled tax reductions.

Humphrey's activity drew a warning against "lobbying" yesterday from Rep. Daniel Reed (R-NY), ways and means committee chairman and the leading champion of speedy tax relief in the House.

And Rep. Mills (D-Ark) commented that Treasury officials "may well" have violated anti-lobbying laws which bar federal officials from spending government funds to influence legislation, even indirectly, by means other than appearances before congressional groups.

Mills demanded that the committee "find out who in the administration has been talking to whom in an effort to keep them from appearing . . . and freely expressing their views." Reed added: "Further, if I find out they have been violating the lobbying law, I will turn the matter over to the Department of Justice."

Humphrey denied having tried to influence legislation. He testified that he merely asked the busienss leaders whether the Prsidnt's tax and budgt views made any difference in their positions on tax reduction. He said he told them he hoped they would at least be neutral.

Expiration of the excess profits tax would cost some 800 million dollars in revenue this year, and Eisenhower contends taxes should not be cut until a budget balance is in sight. On his nation-wide television broadcast last night, he said his mail is running 8 to 1 in favor of hs tax program.

One small but influential business group already is on record. The 100-odd corporation heads who make up the Business Advisory Council of the Department of Commerce last month went on record as favoring the postponement of tax cuts until a budget balance is in view.

The NAM has polled its 167 directors across the country by telegraph. The polls were closed late yesterday, and the returns were to be tallied and the decision mad known today.

The association had been scheduled to testify before the House committee today, but canceled the appearance pending analysis of the poll.

The U. S. Chamber called a closed meeting of its executive committee this morning. The committee is empowered to act in behalf of the Chamber's directors when the latter are not in session. But Chamber officials were uncertain whether the executive committee could go so far as to change a policy officially adopted in full convention.

The administration itself agrees with a virtually unanimous business community that the profits tax is inequitable. But Eisenhower and Humphrey have declared the tax is needed for the remainder of this year in the face of heavy budget deficits.

Miss Cochran Sets Two More Records; Holds All But One

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Jacqueline Cochran, having set two more marks, today holds all but one of the international closed and straight course air speed records for both men and women.

The 47-year-old aviatrix yesterday flew her Canadair-built F'86 Sabre jet 670 miles per hour over a 15-kilometer straightaway course (9.31 miles) near Rogers Dry Lake —one dash in each direction to offset the effect of wind.

The National Aeronautic Association's report of this feat also disclosed another record Miss Cochran set May 23, when she averaged 590.273 miles an hour for 500 kilometers (310.5 miles) around a 12-pylon 100-kilometer course.

Only speed mark not held by Miss Cochran is the three-kilometer 699 m.p.h. mark set by Maj. Slade Nash of the Air Force last November. Miss Cochran says she may try to set an unofficial three-kilomark. But because her canad-air Sabre at present is not equipped with afterburners for extra thrust, it is held unlikely she can equal Nash's record at this time.

MKT Train Kills Boy Near Boonville

BOONVILLE (AP) — A 20-year-old youth was struck and killed by a Missouri - Kansas - Texas freight train early today at a crossing in Boonville.

The Missouri Highway Patrol reported Jerry Degraffenreid, of Boonville, was struck by the freight train after he jumped or fell from a motorscooter into the path of the train.

The motorscooter, driven by Chester W. Moudy, 17, also of Boonville, was not struck by the train. Moudy was reported injured when the scooter upset.

Letter to Christine Begins "Dear Sir," Seeks to Break Contract

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—In a letter to Christine Jorgensen beginning "Dear Sir," the Hotel Sahara says it is breaking its contract with the former GI who underwent sex surgery in Denmark.

The Sahara said yesterday Jorgensen was misrepresented in the contract as a woman. Christine was scheduled to appear at the hotel as an entertainer for two weeks beginning July 14 at a salary of $12,500 a week.

Atty. John H. Brill, representing the hotel, says a contract clause states the performance will consist of "narration of her film entitled 'Denmark'." The contract is being voided under a "mistake of fact," Brill said, adding that the hotel is taking at face value statements from medical sources that Jorgensen "is not now and never can be a woman."

A Los Angeles theater where Miss Jorgensen entertained reported that business was poor during the engagement.

Curt Simmons Hurt Seriously in Mishap

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pitcher Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies was seriously injured today in an accident at his home. He suffered severe lacerations of the left foot and was taken to Abington Memorial Hospital.

His wife said Curt was cutting the lawn at their home, using a power-driven lawnmower of the rotary type.

While cutting on an embankment, Curt slipped and his foot was caught by the whirling blades.

First reports said the blades cut to the bone of the large toe on his left foot, and made smaller cuts on two other toes. Such an injury could be sufficient to sideline him for some time.

Ginny Sims Gets Divorce, Will Sing

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Ginny Simms obtained an interlocutory divorce decree today from oilman Robert M. Calhoun and said she intends to resume her singing career as soon as she is able.

Miss Simms, 34, testified her husband of less than a year told her he was "just a bachelor at heart" and didn't think he should have assumed the responsibility of marriage.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Hampton Rites

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Jane Hampton, 91, who died at her home, 1920 South Summit, Tuesday, were held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Thursday. The Rev. Ralph Hurd, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church, officiated.

Russell Haight and F. E. Helman sang "Near To The Heart of God," "The Last Mile of the Way." "The Rev. Hurd sang "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be," accompanied by Mrs. Mae Moser at the organ.

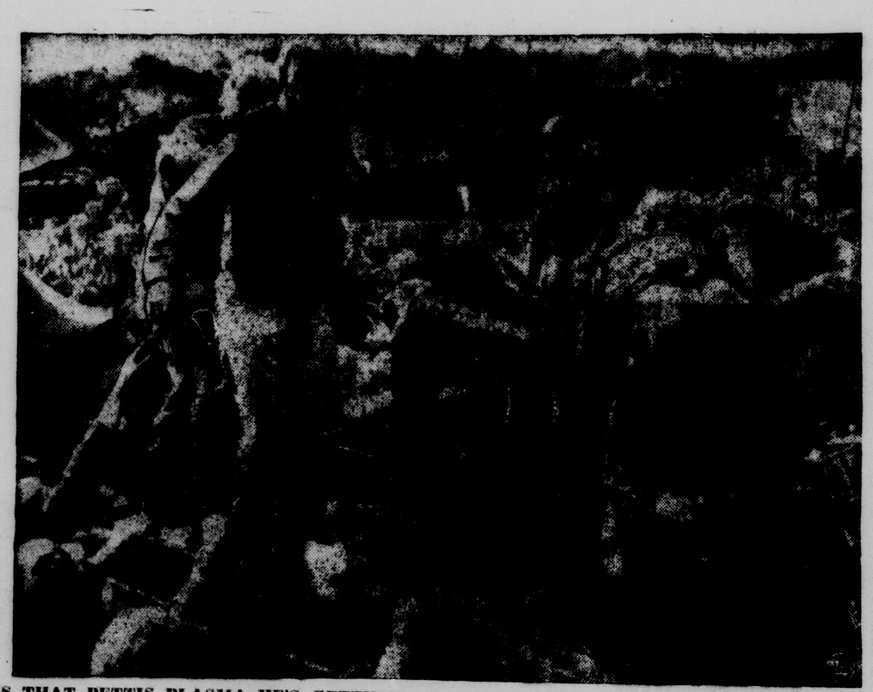

Six grandsons served as pallbearers, Thomas Hampton, Willard Hampton, Robert Herr, Sidney, Paul and William Hampton. Prall.

Burial was in the Camp Branch Cemetery.

Mrs. Hampton was born in Taswell County, Ill., Feb. 28, 1862, daughter of the late Charles and Martha Humphrey Houseman. She came to Missouri with her parents when she was eight years old and lived at Green Ridge and in the Camp Branch community until 1939, when she came to Sedalia to make her home.

She was married at Camp Branch in January 1886 to William R. Hampton. They were the parents of five children. One daughter, Miss Mary Hampton, died in 1906 and a son, John Hampton, died in 1934. Mr. Hampton, died in November 1913.

Surviving are: two daughters, Miss Martha Hampton and Miss Pearl Hampton of the home; one son, W. H. Hampton, Green Ridge; one sister, Mrs. Ollie Eirls, DeKalb; thirteen grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

IS THAT PETTIS PLASMA HE'S GETTING?— Eager GIs wait to help a wounded buddy at an aid station just behind the front lines in Korea while a medic holds the vital plasma being administered to the badly injured man as he is moved from a personnel carrier. A lull in Korea fighting gave UN troops time to patch their wounds and prepare for resumption of battle if current Communist peace offers prove to be another propaganda stunt of the Kremlin. That could be some Pettis Countian's blood in that plasma bottle, since many here have donated at the blood banks in the past. The bank will be here again tomorrow and Saturday to get more blood for wounded GIs. (NEA Telephoto.)

Jewish Congress Accuses East Germans Of Anti-Semitism Rule

CHICAGO (AP)—The World Jewish Congress today accused the Commust regime of East Germany of a vicious anti-Semitism causing Jews to live in terror.

Events of the last three months show conclusively that Jews of East Germany are being singled out for discriminatory treatment, said the report released by the congress' Chicago office.

Those events were listed as:

Seizure of all property of Jewish families who fled to the West; Widespread purge of Jews holding even minor jobs; secret orders to the Communist party calling for removal of all Jews from public office; cross-examination of all Jews on possible Western connections; and repeated police raids on Jewish homes and the seizure of documents.

Ag Dpartment Proposes 62 Million Acres Allotment for Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today proposed a minimum national wheat acreage allotment of 62 million acres for 1954.

Howard H. Gordon, production and marketing administrator, made the recommendation to the House Agriculture Committee.

The committee is considering legislation which would change present law governing wheat marketing quotas. This bill would set the 1954 quota at 66 million acres, meaning that if production controls are applied in connection with price supports, total plantings of 66 million acres must be allowed.

Award Brings Disaster

Taft Says Its 'Silly' To Let 'Neutrals' Influence the Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today it is "silly" to permit India and other members of the United Nations who claim they are neutral in the Korean War to influence truce terms.

The Senate GOP leader made that comment to reports in talking about his May 26 discussion of Korean policy to which President Eisenhower took exception.

Taft indicated he feels there has been some misunderstanding of his views and said he did not believe the United States should "go it alone."

He talked with reporters at the Capitol soon after attending a White House conference of legislative leaders.

He said there was no discussion at the White House, however, of his views on Far Eastern policies or the President's comments about them.

Governor Hopes He Can Complete Action On Fund Bills Soon

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Paul M. Donnelly said today he hopes to complete action before July 1 on the record $741,000,000 appropriation bills rushed through the Legislature before it adjourned Sunday.

The state's new fiscal year starts July 1 and current appropriations run out June 30.

Donnelly said he has not been able to start work on the series of money bills because printed copies have not yet reached him. All he has so far are the formally enrolled copies which become part of the state archives.

Several legislators have predicted the governor would trim many of the items, as he has a right to do under Missouri's constitution to achieve a balanced budget, but Donnelly had no comment on that today.

Senate Group Votes To Approve Bricker Bill on Treaty-Making

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today voted 8-4 to approve the controversial resolution by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) proposing a constitutional amendment to limit treaty-making power.

The committee gave three missing members—Sens. McCarran (D-Nev), Dirksen (R-Ill) and Hennings (D-Mo)—until Saturday to vote before formalizing the approval.

The resolution, which has 64 sponsors in the Senate, calls for an amendment of the constitution which would have to be ratified by legislatures of three-fourths of the states within seven years.

Water Line Break Cuts Macon's Power

MACON (AP)—Macon was without electric power for about six hours during the night due to a water line break at the municipal power plant.

An expansion joint in the condenser cooling line burst, flooding the condenser pit, covering pumps and motors with water.

Left without power were two hospitals and two hatcheries. Standby generators were rushed to the hatcheries. No emergencies existed at either hospital during the blackout period.

The entire plant had to be shut down for fear of a boiler explosion since the water to that equipment had been shut off. The REA supplied emergency units for workmen repairing the damage.

Full service to the city was restored by 3 a. m.

Rosenberg Execution Set on Wedding Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Government officials were unaware of it, but when they fixed June 18 for the execution of condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg they picked the couple's 14th wedding anniversary.

The trial record shows that Julius Rosenberg testified they were married June 18, 1939.

Taft Denies Saying He'd 'Go It Alone'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he did not use the words "go it alone" in his May 26 discussion of Korean policy to which President Eisenhower took exception.

Taft made this comment to reporters at the White House on leaving a legislative conference of the President and Republican congressional leaders. Taft has been hospitalized for treatment of a hip ailment and it was his first meeting with Eisenhower since their public policy disagreement.

The Ohioan refused to discuss the matter further, but said he might make a statement on one point later, probably tomorrow. He said there was no mention of it at today's White House session.

Taft's statements to which the President took exception were in a speech prepared for a Cincinnati audience.

His son read the speech for him because Taft was in the hospital. In the speech, Taft said:

"I believe we might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean War is concerned. I think we should do our best now to negotiate this truce, and if we fail, then let England and our other allies know that we are withdrawing from all further peace negotiations in Korea."

Taft also said: "I believe we might as well abandon any idea of working with the United Nations in the East and reserve to ourselves a completely free hand."

At Eisenhower's news conference last Thursday, the President was asked whether he shared Taft's view that this country might as well forget the UN as far as the Korean War is concerned.

Eisenhower replied, "No" and went on to say the United States needed friends and allies and that if it attempted to go it alone in one region it would have to do so everywhere else.

In asking Taft about the "go it alone" comment today, the reporter said the phrase had been used editorially. The reporter did not specifically refer to the President.

"I didn't use the words 'go it alone,'" Taft said.

St. Louis County Has Water Shortage

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A water shortage in parts of St. Louis County was reported today.

Failure of a booster pump in suburban Overland left residents on top floors of about 100 apartment building in Lucas and Hunt Village without water for an hour last night.

The St. Louis County Water Company requested that lawn sprinkling be curtailed in the north and south ends of the county from 4 p. m. to 9 p. m. daily until two new storage tanks can be put into operation to increase the water supply.

Taft Back In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), who underwent treatment in Cincinnati for a painful hip ailment, appeared in the Senate yesterday for the first time since his hospitalization. He was on crutches.

Senate Fight Due On Air Force Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "hell of a fight" in the Senate to restore some of the five billion dollars cut from Air Force funds was promised by Sen. Maybank (D-NC) today in the wake of President Eisenhower's new defense of his budget.

"We will try to put back whatever is necessary to get the 143-wing Air Force as soon as possible," Maybank said in an interview.

Eisenhower, on his nation-wide television report to the nation last night, reiterated that his administration plans to spend 60 cents of every defense dollar next year for Navy and Air Force air power, and he declared:

"We are not going to cripple this nation and we are going specifically to keep up its air power."

This was only a few hours after Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, the retiring Air Force chief of staff, had told a Senate appropriations subcommittee that cutting back the Air Force goal from 143 wings would "increase the risk to national security beyond the dictates of national prudence."

Vandenberg, who was called back for questioning by the sharply divided senate group today, said the Air Force did not approve the cutback, "and I did not."

The new administration trimmed about five billion dollars out of the new funds requested for the Air Force in former President Truman's January budget. And it reduced from 143 to 120 wings, of 30 to 75 planes each, the buildup target for 1955.

Vandenberg declared that even a force of 143 wings would be a "one-shot Air Force" because it would have "no reserve at all."

The Air Force chief of staff said that in another year Russia will have "a stockpile of atomic weapons sufficient to mount a devastating attack on the United States," and he declared:

"If this country is to have a chance for victory in any major war, it must have an air force that is second to none.

"Rather than reduce our efforts to attain air superiority over the Communists, we should now increase those efforts. An air force of not less than 143 wings is the minimum force which can assure the ability of this nation to resist successfully an all-out Communist attack."

Earlier, Secretary of the Air Force Talbott had said the program of purchasing new combat aircraft is still geared to the 143-wing goal, and he told the senators if Congress voted more money than the administration asked, it could not be spent intelligently. However, he said additional funds would make it possible to train more crews and set up more bases.

"It is my considered opinion," Talbott said, "that the Air Force budget now before you is a sound one at this time."

Vandenberg said neither he nor any of the other retiring Joint Chiefs of Staff had approved the Air Force cutbacks.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the subcommittee indicated he believes the slashes will and should be made. At one point he told Vandenberg his testimony involved "serious charges against the secretary and the President of the United States."

Vandenberg said there was "no sound military reason" to explain the cutback in the Air Force goal.

Vandenberg said Air Force targets had been raised or lowered 10 or 12 times in recent years and that such moves caused a waste of funds and manpower.

Ferguson asked Vandenberg if the Air Force had stimulated criticism of the Eisenhower budget.

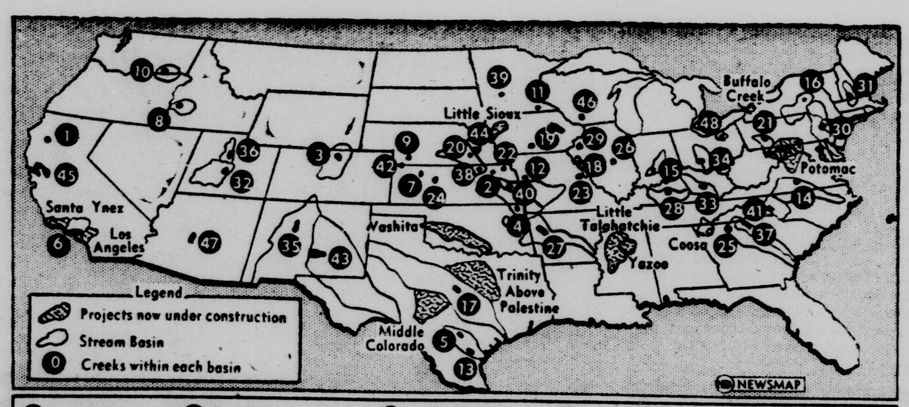

Vandenberg said no, the "objections are coming from the people."

Secretary Talbott said the Air Force would increase from a present 106 wings to 110 or 114 by next July and then to 120 by December of 1955. Meantime, Talbott said the new Joint Chiefs of Staff may raise the Air Force goal within six months, possibly even higher than 143 wings.

Talbott said he did not know just who decided on the Air Force cuts but supposed that was done by President Eisenhower and the National Security Council.

In addition are shown location of 11 pilot projects where flood control work has been in progress since 1946. So far, Congress has appropriated $34 million for these 11 projects. Work includes such things as building stock ponds, sediment traps, larger retaining dams, stream straightening, terracing and soil conservation practices.

Convict Gives Young 'Con' $19,000 to Make New Start

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—He said he wanted to give the kid a chance—

So convict J. C. (Jimmy) Henderson, 49, in for double murder, gave $19,000 to Alton B. Franks, 19, finishing up his term for car theft.

Henderson was a ranchman in West Texas, Culberson County, before he started serving his 50-year term in the state prison here eight years ago. He figured he is worth $500,000 to $600,000.

Young Franks got out of prison May 18, went back to his home town of Houston, bought himself a new car, married a 16-year-old Houston girl, bought new clothes for himself and his bride and planned a California honeymoon.

But officers arrested Franks yesterday. That's when the story of two convicts came out.

Franks was stopped on a minor traffic violation. He had a .38-caliber pistol on the seat beside him in his new car. He was charged with carrying a pistol and released under $400 bond. He said he had bought the pistol for target practice.

Franks told Houston police and reporters he still intends to go straight and intends to use part of the $19,000 to buy a service station. He still has about $13,000 left.

Henderson sat in the warden's office at the Huntsville State Prison yesterday and said he still had faith in Franks.

"I know he's had a lot of hard luck," Henderson said. "I know that he isn't the criminal type. I gave him this money because of my faith in him and because I wanted to show the world what a young man can do with a proper start in life."

Henderson is a frail man weighing 112 pounds. He doesn't do much work in prison because of bad health. He was sentenced for the slaying of a woman and her father in 1943.

He said he had known Franks only a year but had heard of the boy years ago through business associates.

Franks was in the boys' reform school before he was 18 and had served 17 months of his two-year sentence for car theft from Caldwell County when he was released.

Henderson said he had given his daughter, Mrs. D. H. Shoupp, 27, of Tornillo, Tex., the power of attorney and asked her to deposit the $19,000 for Franks in a Huntsville bank.

He said he had helped other convicts on "two or three" previous occasions by giving them $150 and $100 for new clothes when they got out of prison.

He said he had no agreement with Franks about the money.

"Nothing but a gentleman's agreement," he added. "I told him this—'I want to see what you can do with this money. You can throw it away, invest it, make money for both of us if you so desire. I'm leaving it up to you to do the right thing because I have faith in you.'"

Grunewald Fined $1,000 For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry W. Grunewald, Washington mystery man, was fined $1,000 and given a suspended jail sentence today for contempt of Congress.

U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff sentenced the influence peddler to 90 days in jail, but instead of requiring him to serve the sentence placed him on probation for one year.

The judge said in imposing sentence that he was considering "as a mitigating circumstance" that Grunewald had received "bad advice—so bad that it was fantastic" from his former attorney.

The judge said the record showed that when Grunewald first appeared before the House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating tax scandals his then counselor, William Power Maloney, repeatedly directed him not to answer questions.

The judge commented that the fact that a witness acted on advice constituted no defense. But, he said, when it comes to imposing a sentence this may be taken into consideration.

The fine imposed is the maximum for contempt of Congress. The maximum jail term is one year.

Judge Holtzoff last week ordered a heart specialist to examine Grunewald, who is 61 years old, to determine whether going to jail would impair his life or health.

The doctor, Bernard J. Walsh, submitted a report but it was not mentioned today and its contents were not disclosed.

Grunewald was indicted on 31 counts of contempt of Congress for defying the House investigators. He pleaded guilty to one count and the government dropped the others.

Before passing sentence, the judge asked Grunewald whether he had anything to say.

"No, sir, your honor," the heavyset, bald Grunewald replied.

His current attorney, William H. Collins, told the judge that Grunewald, after he pleaded guilty, testified before the tax scandal investigators "for nine straight days, even to the point of exhaustion."

Collins immediately paid Grunewald's fine with 50 dollar bills and a single hundred dollar bill.

Cut 22,418 Workers Off Defense Dept. Rolls During April

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new cut of 22,418 in civilian employes of the Defense Department during April was reported today by Sen. Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the Joint Committee on reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures.

Byrd reported a net decline in civilian employment in all branches of the government of 24,029, which he said was the largest single-month drop since the Korean War began in mid-1950.

Besides the Defense Department, these other departments cut their payroll during the month: Commerce, State, Treasury and Welfare.

The net decrease, Byrd said, left the number of government workers at 2,502,790.

Safety Test for Smokers Set For Before They Get Ether

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—A safety test for cigarette smokers before they take anesthetics for operations was recommended today to the American Medical Association convention.

The test is to cough, to make sure the breathing airways are clear. Or, for heavy smokers, to keep coughing until they are clear.

The test, and reason for it, were described by Dr. Barnett A. Greene and Dr. S. Berkowitz of Brooklyn.

Smoking, and especially the inhaling of cigarette smoke, is a main cause of bronchitis, or inflammation of the breathing airways, they said. Smoking is four to seven times more common cause of bronchitis than anything else, including various infections.

The bronchitis can lead to numerous complications during or after taking of anesthetics, even those given by vein and not breathed in, like ether, Greene said. Sometimes, it can cause death, due to phlegm blocking the breathing tubes.

Anyone smoking more than a pack of cigarettes a day is likely to have such bronchitis, the doctors said. Two packs a day is fairly sure to produce it.

The cough test is a safety measure. The airways are clear if the cough is a single event, not particularly easy to do. An abnormal cough is one which is self-propagating leading to more coughs, either "wet" or "dry." Troubles can be avoided by asking patients to cough, to make sure the airways are clear.

Another convention report tells of successful magnetic artificial eyes, for people who lose an eye.

Artificial eyes look most normal if they move in step with the normal, real eye. The magnets to move artificial eyes look like a good answer, said Dr. Richard C. Troutman of New York Hospital-Cornell University.

A magnet is placed in the eye socket after the diseased or damaged eye is removed. It is attached to the muscles which normally control the movements of the eyeball, in synchronization with the muscles of the opposite, good eye.

Later, the artificial eye is put in place, with a magnet attached to the back of the glass eye. It then moves in response to the eye muscles.

Dr. Seymour J. Gray of Harvard Medical School suggested that stomach ulcers may be brought on, not by nervous stimulation, but through hormones.

The stomach itself, he said, may be a gland-like organ of the body, reacting to hormones just as do other glands of the body.

So, he explained, the hypothalamus gland in the brain, reacting to human emotions, such as worry may affect the pitutiary gland in mone, ACTH, which prompts the the brain, which releases a hor- adrenal glands, sitting over the kidneys, to produce adrenal hormones which perhaps affect the stomach. The stomach may be activated to produce more acids and pepsin, which are blamed for causing stomach ulcers.

Gives Two Best Methods Of Controlling Cut Worms

The two best known methods of controlling the damage to Pettis County corn crops caused by cut worms were learned by Jim Perry, assistant county agent, while attending the annual field crops tour at Columbia Tuesday.

He stopped at the office of Sterling Kyd, extension entomology specialist, and reports that Kyd pointed out these methods to him:

One method is to give the entire field a broadcast spray at the rate of two pounds per acre of aldrin or two pounds per acre of chlorodane. Enough water should be used in the spray mixture to get good coverage of the ground. Thirty gallons is usually sufficient. This material should be disked in lightly. While this method is pretty expensive, it does give control of soil insects for several years. This method is practical only where the stand of corn is ruined and must be replanted.

The other method consists of spraying in the row at a rate of 1½ pounds of toxaphene per acre or 1¼ pounds of D.D.T. per acre. Only one spray nozzle per row should be used and it should be used and it should be directed straight down on the corn. This will spray a swath about 16 inches wide with the corn in the center. While this method will not kill the cutworms beaneath the soil, it will kill those that come above the surface to feed. The most prevalent kind of cut worm this year seems to be the one that feeds on one plant and then moves down the row to the next corn plant.

A supplementary treatment that should be used along with the latter method consists of treating the seed corn with 18 tablespoons of lindane when replanting. While this is only a seed treatment and will not kill the worm feeding the corn sprout, it is thought that the offensive odor of lindane will help repell the cutworm. In any event, this is a very inexpensive treatment and should be used in planting or replanting corn.

Rockefeller Sets Up Fund For His Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—A million dollars—like a magic wand—today leavened the spat over money between Winthrop Rockefeller and his estranged Cinderella bride, Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller.

After Rockefeller yesterday set up a million-dollar trust fund for the pretty, blonde Bobo, she promptly said she hoped to establish a home nearer him.

She has been living on her family's farm near Lowell, Ind., with their son since the fairytale marriage broke up 3½ years ago. She had complained she was penniless.

Rockefeller, in providing the trust fund, which will give her a $20,000-a-year tax-free income, asked that in return he be given rights to share companionship of their son Winthrop Paul, 4.

In Lowell, Mrs. Rockefeller said her husband has always had visitation privileges, but hasn't used them, and that she had even suggested—in vain—bringing the boy to New York to see his father.

"After all," she said, "we are neither separated nor divorced."

She added: "I hope my son and I can now establish a proper home, near his father if possible."

The marriage in 1948 of the wealthy heir to Rockefeller oil millions and Bobo, daughter of an immigrant Lithuanian coal miner, had been a real-life "prince" and "poor girl" wedding.

But they parted company shortly after their child's birth in September, 1948.

Last year, Rockefeller set up a million-dollar trust fund for the youngster. At the same time, Mrs. Rockefeller told the Chicago Daily News she was broke and living off the charity of friends.

She said her son realized "a small amount" from the trust fund but added:

"I wouldn't touch it except for a real emergency."

In announcing the new trust fund, Rockefeller's lawyer, Timothy N. Pfeiffer, said the income from the boy's trust fund now is $9,000 annually.

It "will increase as he grows older until he ultimately receives the full income of one million dolars," the attorney said. He added:

"Mr. Rockefeller hopes that his wife will now be willing to agree to arrangements under which in the future he may have the custody of Winthrop Paul at regular intervals so that he will have the companionship of his son."

Emotions of Expectant Mother May Really 'Mark' Her Baby

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — A pregnant woman's emotions may really "mark" her unborn baby, making the child neurotic, Dr. William S. Kroger of Chicago said today.

The infant may become predisposed to psychosomatic ailments, the complaints born of emotional upsets rather than actual physical trouble, he said.

This kind of effect is not the same as the old wives' tales that if a woman is frightened by a spider, for example, her baby will have birthmarks. It is something different.

Kroger, gynecologist of the Chicago Medical School, was telling the American Medical Association convention of some psychosomatic aspects of gynecology and obstetrics.

Recently, he said, scientists have found that various effects from a mother's physical and emotional health can lastingly affect the growing embryo, or unborn baby.

"In other words, disturbing maternal emotions and behavior may produce a neurotic fetus (unborn baby) with a predisposition toward a wide variety of psychosomatic diseases," he said.

By present evidence, he said, the first few weeks or months of a baby's life are more important than any other period in shaping personality.

Some specialists, Korger continued, think that bottle-feeding of a baby may lead to psychosomatic ailments, that breast feeding is better.

"I believe it makes little if any difference how or when a baby receives nutrition, as long as it is held and cuddled by a loving mother," he declared.

Other scientists, he added, have found that harmful emotions are more important than hormone upsets in producing spontaneous miscarriages or abortions in pregnant women.

Further, he said, the placid Oriental women rarely suffer nausea and vomiting during pregnancy. But when women of these same races become Westernized, they do suffer these troubles.

Emotions, he added, can also produce infertility or inability to conceive a child.

Retired Minister Goes to Church On Stretcher at 100

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A retired minister celebrated his 100th birthday by going to church on a stretcher.

Dr. George Summey attended services yesterday at the Third Presbyterian Church here, where he was pastor from 1903 to 1928.

It was the second time he has left his bed since he was confined to a hospital almost two years ago. Last year, he celebrated his 99th birthday in the church.

Congratulations were received from President Eisenhower, Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana and many church leaders.

Dr. Summey was the youngest person to graduate from Davidson College at Davidson, N. C., and is now the college's oldest alumnus.

The century-old minister was born in Asheville, N. C., and was ordained in 1873. He served churches in Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina and Louisiana.

Mounting Tension For Italy Election

ROME (AP)—Italy today approached a crucial parliamentary election week end with mounting tension after the nation's first night of political violence in many weeks.

Riot police patrolled Naples, scene of a bloody brawl last night between supporters of the pro-Fascist MSI faction and police during which 34 persons were hospitalized and 100 arrested.

Elsewhere in the peninsula police were on guard to stop any new outbreaks. Forty MSI partisans were arrested last night in Rovigo, North Italy, after they demonstrated against a police ban on a planned meeting.

Only two days of campaigning were left until the nation chooses whether to stand with the moderate coalition of Premier Alcide de Gasperi or to turn right or left.

Yanks Pounce On White Sox For 18-2 Win

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

If the rest of the American League doesn't run for cover now it won't be the fault of the New York Yankees.

The other seven clubs have been warned—in the boldest possible terms—that the Yanks are dead serious about winning their fifth straight pennant and woe unto anyone brash enough to oppose them.

The doubters can examine the remains of the Chicago White Sox.

The Sox and Cleveland were the preseason choices to stop the Yankees, if the Yankees could be stopped. The Indians folded at the mere sight of the Bronx Bombers but the White Sox, after losing their first encounter, bounced back to win four in a row from the New Yorkers—a serious mistake.

Vows were vowed, sights were set and when the champs roared into the Windy City Tuesday for a three-game series they were ready to make immediate amends. They did.

Tuesday night they stopped the Sox, 4-3. Yesterday they trampled all over them, 18-2, in the biggest rout of the season in either league. Four Chicago pitchers were mauled for 19 hits and the New Yorkers benefited from nine bases on balls, a hit batter and three White Sox errors.

Riding a six-game winning streak and holding a fat 5½-game edge over the runner-up Indians, the Yankees wind up their business in Chicago today and move on to St. Louis for four games.

The Indians slipped another full notch back last night when Boston came up with three runs in the top of the ninth for a 4-3 decision.

The Philadelphia Athletics whipped the hapless Detroit Tigers, 10-7, dropping the Tigers 20 games behind New York. Washington beat St. Louis, 3-2, in 10 innings in the other American League game.

Milwaukee made it two straight over Brooklyn on the Dodgers' home grounds, 14-9, after trailing 7-2 at the end of three innings. In winning the Braves stretched their National League lead to a game and a half.

The Philadelphia Phillies split a twilight-night double-header with the St. Louis Cardinals, winning the second game, 6-5, and losing the opener, 5-3. The New York Giants trounced Cincinnati, 11-3, and Pittsburgh moved into sixth place with a 1-0 decision over Chicago.

The Red Sox victory over Cleveland broke their four-game losing streak. Trailing by two at the start of the ninth Boston put together a pair of singles with a double by George Kell for one run and picked up two more on Sam White's single.

Slugging Gus Zernial paced the Philadelphia attack at Detroit with a pair of home runs, raising his season's total to 11, and five runs batted in. The Tigers haven't won a game in their last 10 starts.

Walt Masterson, who was supposed to pitch tonight for Washington came on in the ninth in St. Louis and became the winning pitcher in the 10th when his mates scored on two singles and a stolen base. The loser was Satchel Paige.

The Milwaukee - Brooklyn melee saw 11 pitchers in action with the hitters treating almost all of them like batting-practice tossers. The Dodgers blew two and five-run leads and after they got back in the running in the seventh they couldn't find a hurler to halt the blasting Braves. Ady Pafko and Jim Pendleton, both peddled by Brooklyn during the winter because the Dodgers had no use for them, homered as Milwaukee scored five runs in the eighth.

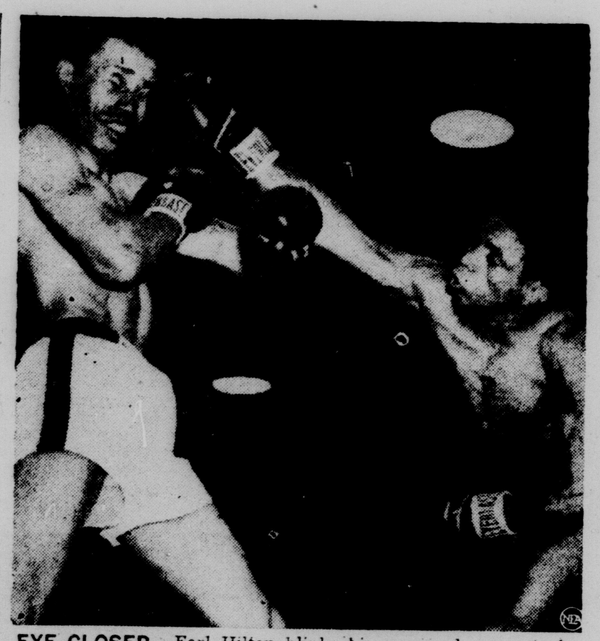

The Cardinals managed only six hits off Curt Simmons and two successors in the first game at Philadelphia but the blows included home runs by Steve Bilko and Rip Repulski plus a triple by Repulski and a double by Del Rice.

In the nightcap Connie Ryan singled home Tommy Glaviano with the winning run in the eighth after Glaviano had tripled.

Cards Sign Schofield, 18, of Springfield, Ill.

ST. LOUIS (AP) —The St. Louis Cardinals have signed 18-year-old John Richard (Dick) Schofield of Springfield, Ill., for a reported $37,500 under baseball's new bonus rule. He will join the Cardinals at Brooklyn tomorrow.

He is the first player to be signed to the Card roster straight from high school. Under the new ruling, making a bonus player (over $4,000) subject to unrestricted draft from any minor league club, the Cards must carry Schofield for a two-year period.

EYE CLOSER—Earl Hilton blinks his eyes and seems to be using Miquel Berrios' glove for a pillow, but actually it was anything but peaceful as the Puerto Rican shook up the Philadelphia featherweight to win a unanimous 10-round decision at Brooklyn's Ridgewood Grove Arena. (NEA)

Sports Roundup—

Bucky Harris Makes Baseball Stars From Castoff Players

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The job Bucky Harris is doing with the glued-together Washington Senators at the moment once again demonstrates what we have long contended: that the old "Boy manager" comes very close to being the greatest handler of baseball players in the game today. He continues to do more with less than any of them.

The latest official averages, you may or may not be surprised to learn, show that Bucky's weird assortment of bargain basement athletes are leading the American League in club fielding and double plays and are second only to the Champion New York Yankees in collective batting. They climbed into the first division the other day and threaten to close in on the Chicago White Sox.

Frank (Spec) Shea, upon whom the Yankees gave up last year, is pitching some of the finest ball of his career for Harris when his shoulder doesn't hurt. Wayne Terwilliger, waived out of the National League, is playing a bang-up second base. Ed Fitzgerald, who flunked every test with Pittsburgh, is making passes at the first-string catching job under his new manager. Clyde Vollmer, still another ex-National Leaguer recently cast off by the Boston Red Sox, has gained new outfield life for Harris.

It's all very mystifying. Scarcely a player on the club cost any real money and its salary list must be about the lowest in either league.

There is no bench strength whatever. One of its pitching mainstays is a 45-year-old cigar-smoking Cuban named Conrado Marrero. The team possesses only one genuine long ball hitter, Jackie Jensen. But it's up there in the race, and the answer must be Harris.

Casey Stengel, who succeeded Bucky as Yankee manager five springs ago and has done pretty well himself, came home from his most recent visit to the capital exclaiming that the Senators were the most improved club in the league.

"That Terwilliger has made a fine shortstop out of (Pete) Runnels," Casey said. "They murder you with those double plays. That under other managers or at most have played with small distinction is something we have never been able to learn nor seen satisfactorily explained. All we know is that every man who has played under him during his long career with several clubs thinks Bucky is a great guy and would like to play for him again.

Ike to Greet Sports Group As His Guests

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will play host tomorrow to sports figures ranging from Rocky Marciano to Clark Griffith.

Eisenhower will greet each of the 40-odd athletes, but it's a good bet he'll spend much of his time chatting with but one of the visitors, a fellow named Gene Sarazen.

Sarazen is the lone golfer on the guest list and the President's fondness for the fairways is well known.

The occasion for the get-together is the annual baseball game between the Republicans and the Democrats on Capitol Hill. Picked teams of players unlikely to break into the major leagues will have at it at Griffith Stadium tomorrow night. Eisenhower will throw out the first pitch.

Before that moment, though, there will be much hoopla and fanfare, starting with the White House luncheon.

The man who was to have been the honored guest won't be there. Cy Young, who pitched more baseball victories than any other man, first accepted an invitation but decided later he didn't feel up to making the trip. Cy is 86.

But baseball will be well represented, by such diamond greats as Tris Speaker, Lefty Grove, Jimmy Foxx, Joe DiMaggio, Billy Werber and Joe Judge. And, of course, Clark Griffith, the 83-year-old president of the Washington Senators.

Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano will represent boxing. His wife Barbara will be along, decked out in a new hair-do. Bangs, of course.

From the world of football there'll be Slade Cutter, the one-time Navy star; Al Dorow, former quarterback at Michigan State, and All-Aerica quarterback Jack Scarbath of Maryland.

Carol Ann Peters, the figure-skating champion, will be present along with former tennis champ Pauline Betz Addie, diving star Ze Ann Jensen, and canoe champion Frank Havens.

There'll be many others, including Andy Anderson of Houston, Tex., who sometimes is known as the world's No. 1 fisherman, and Edwin T. Chandler of Richmond, Va., winner of an award as the world's No. 1 fan.

Mims Fresh, Almost Unmarked In Defeat Of Turner Wednesday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Holly Mims, fresh and almost unmarked after his unanimous decision over Jesse Turner of St. Louis here last night, feels his victory entitles him to a shot at one of the top-ranking middleweights in Madison Square Garden.

Mims, fighting out of Washington, D. C., mentioned two fighters —Paddy Young and Joey Giardello—but said he's take on any of the top 10 in his division.

Using a left jab crossed with a powerful right hand, Mims sent Jolting Jesse to the deck for a mandatory eight count in the sixth round.

Judges Al Graft and Gene Farrell awarded the fight to Mims, 53-47, while referee Harry Kessler saw it for Mims, 51-49.

Ftizgerald might not have been any good in the National League, like they say, but he sure looks good to me."

The secret of Harris' success with players who either have failed

Olympic Cast Off Out to Beat Best In the 440

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — J. W. Mashburn, the strapping blond comet from Oklahoma, made the trip to Oslo, Norway, last year only to find himself left off the Olympic quarter-mile team at the last moment.

At that time, he vowed, the coach would be sorry for the decision every time he ran.

That it was not an idle threat Mashburn proved by turning in a 46.5 second performance in Germany shortly afterward. It was the fastest quarter ever run by any U. S. college freshman, and the 20-year-old sprinter hasn't lost since.

Still rankled over the Olympic snub, Mashburn hopes to keep that perfect record intact against two of the world's best in a special race tomorrow night at Compton, Calif.

The 6-foot-3, 200-pound sophomore, the father of an infant son, is challenging no less than Jamaicans Herb Mckenley, the world 440-yard record holder at 46 seconds flat, and George Rhoden, the 400-meter king at 45.8.

Can he step with such fast company? He did last month in San Francisco's Coliseum Relays, showing his heels to this illustrious pair and the rest of the field with a 46.8 clocking.

Behind each step was a driving determination to make good on that vow made to California's Brutus Hamilton, the Olympic track tutor when he learned he was left off the American team.

WRONG WAY—Sam Tagliarini seems to be going the wrong way rolling end over end after being struck broadside by Bud Brasch, far side, during stock car races at Cleveland's Sportsman Park Speedway. Neither driver was hurt. Car in foreground sped by untouched. (NEA)

Sports Scraps

(By D. KELLY SCRUTON)

LOST—Some 300 fathers of Sedalia's Little League. That's a small count in comparison to those who have reported to Liberty Park to assist in building the Little League's new home and giving to more than 450 boys, from 8 to 12 inclusive, a real place to play ball. But thanks to a "select" few who have dug in every night for the past six weeks to carry on the work in which some fathers apparently are not interested.

Too many Dads take it for granted that somebody else will do it for "me." Too many Dads are either not interested, too lazy, or are too bashful to put on work clothes and report out there to at least offer their assistance.

It's not too late. We still need manpower for tonight, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, if you can, to get the park in shape for the opening Monday night. That's the big night for the opening, but manpower will be needed next week to help get the dugouts constructed.

George Ray, who took it upon himself to get the ball to rolling in the construction line, has just been pushed into the foremanship of the work. But, I might say with the help of a number of other "old faithfuls" whose names I will mention at the proper time, Sedalia is going to have one of the finest Little League parks in the middle west.

That's for sure. I have seen pictures of some of the some odd 1,000 parks and only a very few will come up to the standards of Sedalia's. It is beautiful and it isn't complete yet. What is it going to be when finished? Well, words cannot express it.

But that's not why the Sport Scraps today—it its to solicit help, more help, help like came through the first part of the week from Sedalia's Junior Chamber of Commerce members who worked like veterans and deserve credit. This job isn't a one-man, one-organization, or any select group affair—it's Sedalia's affair and every father in Sedalia should be out there helping out, or at least offering to help.

Chiefs Play Marshall Here At 8 Friday

The Sedalia Chiefs will battle with the Marshall semi-pro ball club on the Liberty Park diamond at 8 p.m. Friday. This is a non-league tilt, but Sunday night the Chiefs take a trip to meet the Boonville Lions in a Central Missouri League game.

The visitors from Marshall have a former Triple A player managing the team and they are all hep to baseball and how its played. The record of the Marshall aggregation is three victories out of four games played.

Marshall's team is sponsored through the city recreation program.

Manager George Thompson of the Chiefs has elected to start either Arnold or Delph on the mound with Larry Mines on the receiving end. "Skip" Schultz is expected to start against Boonville on Sunday with Mines behind the plate.

The Chiefs will return the Marshall engagement on July 23 when they will play at Marshall in Indian Hills park.

Sportsmen Have Games Here Both Saturday, Sunday

Sedalia Sportsmen take on the Warrensburg Giants Saturday night and then meet the 'hot' Versailles team Sunday afternoon in games to be played at Liberty Park's diamond.

This will be the third game of a series with the Giants, a Negro ball club, and up to now each team has won once. Miller will hurl for the locals and either Hays or Bowman will be behind the plate.

Sunday afternoon Versailles comes for a Central Mo. League game and the visitors will hold an edge due to the stellar play they have been turning in. Recently they shut out the fast Red Birds team of Jefferson City, 5-0, with a one-hitter and they took on the Ft. Leonard Wood team and made the soldiers go all out to win a batfest 19-18.

This will be the third league game for both clubs and Hayden will hurl for the Sedalians. The Sportsmen have won one and lost two in the loop while Versailles has won two and lost one.

Santee Set To Run Down Johansson

LAWRENCE, Kas. (AP) —Cocky Wes Santee, Kansas University's deluxe model middle-distance star, says he's going to prove a certain point to another outspoken harrier in the invitational mile run at Compton, Calif., tomorrow night.

"The outspoken harrier" is Denis Johansson of Finland.

The certain point, according to Santee, is that Johansson should be the pupil instead of giving instructions about the mile.

Santee, who set a new collegiate mile run record of 4:06.3 in the Big Sevent meet at Ames, Ia., two weeks ago, and Johanssen, will run the ivitational mile along with Gaston Reiff of Belgium, once clocked at 4:02.8, and Bob McMillen, late of occidental college but presently of the army.

The Ashland (Kas.) antelope, as Santee has been tabbed, is favored to win tomorrow because of his collegiate record and a 4:07.4 mile in the Missouri Valley AAU meet last Saturday.

On paper, Reiff appears to have the best chance of outlegging Santee, but it's been some time since the Belgian ran his 4:02.8. Anyway, Santee says he's primarily interested in giving Johansson a lesson in running.

Why all the fuss?

Recently Johansson was quoted by a West Coast reporter as saying Santee isn't mentally or physically ready to run a really great mile —that he's still a little too immature in both departments.

(The statements, by the way, was before Santee ran his 4:06.3 and 4:07.4 on successive Saturdays.)

Santee and Johansson met at the Kansas Relays in 1951 and conferred again in Finland during the Olympics last summer. They've never clashed competitively.

Old Satch Nipped In Tenth After Great Relief Role

By The Associated Press

A pair of 10th inning singles, sandwiched around a stolen base, were the difference last night as the Washington Nationals downed the St. Louis Browns, 3-2.

The damage came off ageless Satchel Paige, who just the night before had retired 10 straight men in a relief role. This time he struck the first two men out in the extra frame.

Then Eddie Yost singled and stole second. He scored on a single by Wayne Terwilliger and that was the game. The Brownies didn't threaten in their half of the frame.

Don Larsen pitched nine good innings for the Browns, holding Washington to seven hits. He went out for a pinch hitter in the ninth when the Brownies tied the game on a single, safe bunt, sacrifice and outfield fly.

In Philadelphia, the Cardinals split a twi-night doubleheader with the Phillies, winning the first game 5-3 and losing the second, 6-5.

Wilmer Mizell received credit for the first game win although he needed help from reliefer Al Brazle. Steve Bilko hit a two-run homer and Rip Repulski got his first in the majors during the game.

The Phils won the second game in the eighth inning as Tommy Glaviano tripled and came home on Connie Ryan's single, making Brazle the loser after his successful relief stint in the opener.

Braves Haven't Yet Convinced Those Dodgers

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers had just absorbed their second straight licking at the hands of the Milwaukee Braves. They had surrendered first place to Charlie Grimm's amazing upstarts. But strangely enough, the Brooks had little respect for their conquerors.

"If they are the club we have to beat for the pennant," snorted Jackie Robinson, "I am not worried the least bit. Don't misunderstand me. If we don't win it, I like nothing better than to see Milwaukee do it. It would be a boom for baseball. But they won't do it. They just haven't got enough.

That seemed to be the general attitude of the defending champions as they discussed the rise of the surprising Braves after yesterday's 14-9 loss to Milwaukee.

"They haven't convinced me," scoffed Charlie Dressen, the Dodger manager. "Sure, they got some power, but it's an old club. Let's wait until the hot weather comes around. Then we will see how good they really are.

"That kid on third (Eddie Mathews) is a pretty good hitter, but he can be pitched to." (Mathews hit a home run and single and drove in three runs yesterday.)

"They are not bad down the middle," Dressen continued. "That shortstop (Johnny Logan) and second baseman (Jack Dittmer) are improved over last year. That center fielder (rookie Billy Burton) gives the club some speed. But we know how to pitch to him." (Burton had a single, double and triple and scored four runs yesterday.)

"Their pitching isn't so hot. We've played them six games and we've knocked out their starting pitcher each time. They used five today didn't they? That guy Bickford, who started against us today is not much. Three years ago I would have given anything to get him. Now, I wouldn't take him as a gift."

"None of them was any good."

Robinson, who hadn't heard Dressen's comments, spoke glowingly of the Braves' mound crop.

"Their chief strength in their pitching," Robinson said. "They got veteran starters and the addition of kids like Antonelli, Buhl and Liddle gives them pitching depth.

"But they have too many older fellows and their defense is not too strong. I know they beat us twice in a row but I don't think they look good. We just looked worse."

East Sedalia Baptists' softball team will meet a team of MoPac Shopmen tonight at 8 o'clock on the Center Park diamond. This will be the Baptists' second game and they'll seek a second win.

Kiner, 3 Other Pirates Traded To Chicago Cubs

PITTSBURGH (AP) —The Pittsburgh Pirates traded home run king Ralph Kiner, catcher Joe Garagiola, pitcher Howie Pollet and outfielder - infielder George Metkovitch to the Chicago Cubs today for six players and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The Pirates got pitcher Bob Schultz catcher Toby Atwell and outfielders Gene Hermanski, Preston Ward and Bob Addis. Also the Pirates got the option to purchase infielder George Freese from Springfield in the International League for fall delivery.

The player deal, biggest in the National League this year was announced jointly by W. Mathews, director of player personnel of the Cubs, and Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pirates.

The management of both teams advised the players to chance uniforms immediately for the afternoon contest between the Cubs and Pirates.

Kiner, 30-year old native of Santa Rita, N. M. joined the Pirates in .46 and has led or tied his league in homers every year since—a feat not even the fabulous Babe Ruth accomplished He is one of the select group of major leaguers who have hit 300 homers.

Kiner was the first in the National League to reach the 50 home run mark twice. He also holds the record for hitting 40 or more homers in five years.

Truman Strikes Out Batter When Opening a Game

GRANDVIEW, Mo. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman had to "fudge a little" but he managed to strike out the batter in a semipro baseball game here last night.

Truman's opposing batter was Eddie Jacobson, a former business partner.

He threw one ball as a warmup and then stepped up about 10 feet in front of the pitcher's mound, explaining:

"I've got to fudge a little."

Jacobson obliged by swinging at a wide pitch and the umpire yelled "Strike three," retiring the side.

The game proper was a regular scheduled Heart of America League contest.

Kryhoski Off Bench To Be a Top Hitter

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dick Kryhoski of the St. Louis Browns, a benchwarmer when the season started, was the American League's seventh leading batter today.

The 28-year-old first sacker is hitting .320 on 32 hits in an even 100 times at bat. He had one safety against the Washington Senators last night.

Midwest's Best To Milwaukee Track Tourney

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Top Midwest talent, sprinkled with performers from the South and East, will compete here Saturday in the 28th running of the Central Conference Track and Field championships.

The field's luster will be dimmed slightly by the absence of defending champion Illinois, prohibited from entering by a school rule banning travel of athletic teams during examination periods. This fact has thrown the scramble for the team title into a probably four-squad battle between Iowa, Notre Dame, Michigan State and Marquette.

Sprinter Thane Baker of Kansas State carries the top individual billing into the meet. The Big Seven Conference dashman has the best times in the United States this season—9.4 seconds in the 100, 20.4 seconds in the 220 and 47.1 seconds in the 440. All three times are better than the current 3-c records.

A quartet of hurdlers is a threat to the low stick mark of 23.7 seconds. James Philbee of Bradley, Al Thomas of Marquette, Bill Smith of Wayne and Don Smith of Kansas all have bettered the time, with Philbee's flat :23 the top effort.

The 3-C carnival is the last major midwestern track test prior to the NEAA meet at Lincoln, Neb., June 19-20.

'Best' Bible School Ends

By Margaret Yarnell

CLARKSBURG — The Clarksburg Baptist and Methodist Bible School held its closing exercises Friday evening. From all reports this school was the best the community has ever had.

Mrs. Margaret Caldwell and children entertained with a family dinner Sunday honoring Mrs. Caldwell's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Scott, Omaha, Neb., who were here for a weekend visit. Guests other than the honorees were Mrs. Paul Yarnell and her four children, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Camer and family, Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. John Camer and family, California and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Camer.

C. J. Ladman, Lahman, was here Saturday. He plans to accompany his brother to Iowa in the near future to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Clark, Kansas City, visited her father, Chester Cobb. Mr. Cobb accompanied them to Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Reding and children, Joplin, were here for a weekend with his mother, Mrs. Hannah Reding. Other guests Saturday were Mrs. Reding's nephew, Lewis York and family Tipton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Streby, Sedalia, were here last Thursday visiting relatives and decorating the graves of relatives before going to the Lake of the Ozarks for a few days.

Memorial services were held at the Sappington and Masonic Cemeteries Saturday morning. The Rev. Joe Lanes was the speaker.

Mrs. Susan Jobe, Miss Manie Vaughan and Mrs. Cora Birdsong went to the Loren Scott home, High Point, last Thursday and visited Mrs. Agnes Hess and Mrs. Scott. Mrs. Hess is a half sister of the late A. V. Jobe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vaughan and son, Stover, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Simmers and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Simmers and family, Prairie Home, visited his parents Saturday.

Mrs. Vina Williams Wallace, Windsor, spent a few days last week with her niece, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Milligan. They attended the Williams reunion Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Yarnell, Kansas City, called on his brother, C. D. Yarnell Friday after visiting the Sappington and Masonic Cemeteries.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Long, who are living at Ft. Leonard Wood, where Mr. Long is employed spent the weekend at their Clarksburg home.

Mrs. Charles Sivinney is visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Simmers accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hurt, California to Excelsior Springs Thursday where Mr. Hunt went for a checkup at the hospital there.

The Rev. Kenneth Johnston and a group of young people enjoyed a picnic at Hidden Lake farm Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Floyd Lee, Milan, and her brother, Dewey Burron, Slater, recently called on Mildred Martin enroute to the New Zion Church.

Millard Peppington has purchased a home in California and moved there.

Mrs. Lucy Halloway and daughter, Vivian, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Milligan.

Mrs. Douglas Winebrenner returned home from the Charles E. Still Hospital Thursday after undergoing surgery there. She is convalescing nicely.

Fatally Injured As Car Hits Tree

MONETT, Mo. (AP) — Wynona Rogers, 19, Seligman, Mo., was injured fatally last night when an automobile she was driving failed to make a curve on highway 97, one half mile north of the Barry County line.

The girl was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Vincent's Hospital here.

State Highway patrolmen reported her car left the highway and crashed into a tree. Miss Rogers was thrown clear of the car and suffered multiple injuries. The accident occurred about 11:45 p. m.

AMA Asks VA End Free Medical Service to Vets

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Medical Association has called on Congress to end free medical care for veterans with most nonservice-connected ailments.

Such care, the AMA House of Delegates said in a resolution yesterday, puts the government "in a gigantic medical program in competition with private medical institutions."

Congress Fails To Provide Funds For RR Safety

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The safety section of the Association of American Railroads was told today the Interstate Commerce Commission would be forced to abolish its highway safety bureau unless more funds were appropriated by Congress.

Robert J. Bayer of Chicago, editor of Traffic World, said in a speech prepared for delivery that the ICC budget as it now stands "provides nothing—absolutely nothing—for federal safety policing of highway traffic."

He said if the funds now approved become law, the ICC has no other recourse than to abolish the safety bureau.

Bayer pointed out that there had been approved an appropriation for the ICC of $11,349,000 for the 1954 fiscal year. This, he said, is about four and one-half million dollars below that requested.

He said at the same time a budget of $140,000,000 has been approved for the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

"It doesn't look good for Congress to deny to the commission, an agency indispensable to maintenance of order in the national transportation picture, a request for a much-needed increase of only a few million dollars when there is evidence that many millions of dollars provided by Congress for agencies less important to the domestic economy x x x x"

Sen. McCarthy Does Not Want Presidency

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) said he thinks a senator with a lot of seniority can get as much done over a long period as any president can in his two permitted terms.

The senator denied presidential ambitions in talking to newsmen yesterday.

McCarthy refused to say where he had been when he returned here yesterday. His trip apparently was a vacation to the Mexican ranches of Dallas millionaire Clint Murchison.

But the senator talked freely about other matters. He denied any plans to be married at this time. He repeated his charge that the British and French have been supplying war materials to the enemy.

On his own ambitions, McCarthy said he had none beyond his seat in the Senate.

"If you get into the Senate at an early age," he said, "and get a lot of seniority, you can get as much done over a longer period as any president can. The President has greater power, but can serve only two terms." McCarthy was 37 when elected to the Senate.

More Showers Make Flood Threat Worse In Northwest Montana

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—More showers fell early today to heighten the flood threat from Northwest Montana streams already swollen by heavy rains.

Laboring around the clock, 300 to 400 men filled sandbags and built dikes along the Sun River in West Great Falls. They included personnel from the Great Falls air base.

Maj. James Austin, reporting parts of a 6 by 15-block district in that low-lying section were under three inches to three feet of water, said a state of near-emergency exists.

Forecasters promised more rain over Northwest Montana in the area east of the Continental Divide, where at least 113 families had fled their homes.

Russia Making New Bid to Get Austria Visitors

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Russia is making a new bid to entice thousands of normally pro-Western and anti-Communist Austrian workers to visit the Soviet Union, it was disclosed here today. So far, however, the invitation is being generally ignored.

Practically every Austrian shop steward—there are 47,000 of them, mostly anti-Red Socialists—recently received invitations to apply for Russian visas. So did hundreds of other persons of both left and right-wing political views who have connections with the Austrian labor movement.

Reportedly, only a few of those invited have accepted.

American labor sources in Vienna disclosed the big Soviet drive began a few weeks ago. Apparently it has two purposes:

1. To strengthen the Kremlin's "peace offensive" in Austria by opening up the Soviet Union to conducted tours similar to those extended recently to a party of American newspaper and radio executives who visited Moscow.

2. To win converts to communism who will return to this strategic outpost of Western democracy full of enthusiasm over the Soviet "workers' paradise" and ready to aid Austria's negligible Communist party.

American sources said the Soviet drive may be an attempt to match U. S. invitations to selected Austrian workers to work and study in America for a year.

The Soviet trips, however, are good for only six weeks.

Mother, 3 Daughters, 3 Granddaughters Killed In Accident

CHICAGO (AP) — A mother, her three daughters and three granddaughters were killed last night when their crowded automobile crashed into a Michigan Central Railroad passenger train. No one on the train was hurt.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Catherine Zawacki, 60, her daughters, Mrs. Irene Skala, 22, Mrs. Genevieve Kovack, 26, and Patricia Zawacki, 18; and her granddaughters, Barbara Davis, 11, Arlene Zawacki, 7, and Jacqueline Kovack, 5.

A new power grinder for the laboratory revolves the mortar or grinding bowl electrically, while a weighted arm holds the pestle and swings it back and forth in the bowl. It handles laboratory solids faster and more effeciently than the hand mortar-and-pestle method.

President Walks Into US Living Rooms on His First TV Report to the Nation

Promises No Appeasement, Nor Risk of General War In Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower inaugurated a new era of presidential contact with the people last night—pledging on a "family circle" telecast there would be no appeasement of communism and "no risk of a general war."

Surrounded by four members of his official family, and inviting his millions of television watchers to think of themselves as fellow-dwellers in "the national house," Eisenhower gave these assurances in a precedent-setting White House report to the nation:

"We are going to keep our temper; we are going to build our strength."

"We are not going to cripple this nation and we are going specifically to keep up its air power."

"Our effort is to secure peace—and prosperity in peace."

So, in easy conversational style, and passing the ball repeatedly to his Cabinet aides, Eisenhower met head on the accusations aired in Congress only a few hours before that his Air Force budget cuts are imperiling the nation's security.

He did more than that: By introducing the TV presidential panel program, with free technical advice from some of the highest-priced advertising experts in the business, he gave a new dimension to the "fireside chat" invented by Franklin D. Roosevelt and adapted for radio and television, now and then, by Harry S. Truman.

Eisenhower's audience, estimated in TV circles at 50 millions, saw little hint of the backstage paraphernalia—the three red-eyed TV cameras, the big white cards with the panel members' cues, the glaring lights. And, naturally, they saw nothing of the two intensive earlier rehearsals designed to make the show look spontaneous and unrehearsed.

They saw and heard the President, a little fidgety at first but calm as you please later, lean on his desk and talk . . . tell them, with a reference to the 1938 concessions to Adolf Hitler that sowed the seeds of the last world war and became a symbol of appeasement:

"There is going to be no new Munich and at the same time there is going to be no risk of a general war, because a modern war would be too horrible to contemplate."

Then they saw him, rather like a principal introducing the teachers on parents' visiting day, introduce the four department heads.

George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury, spoke first. He said—as he has said before—the budget should be balanced a year from now unless the Russians upset the applecart. And that, if Congress keeps the excess profits tax for another six months, there'll be a tax cut for everybody at the beginning of next year.

"Mr. Secretary," said Eisenhower, "I endorse every single word you say."

Then, with the camera moving swiftly, Eisenhower introduced the others to say their pieces—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, chic in a blue outfit with pale blue perky hat; Secretary of Agriculture Benson, promising a "grass roots" approach to the farm surplus problem; Atty. Gen. Brownell, promising to uproot every bad security risk in the government "in the next few months."

Nobody talked very long. Charts and graphs appeared on the screen in profusion, to hold the attention of TV watchers. For further variety, Eisenhower fished a letter from a pile of 3,000 that he said flooded into the White House in a single week.

It was from a Pawtucket, R. I., housewife—not named—who said the government's spending figures are so huge she finds it almost impossible to grasp them.

"I might tell the lady," Eisenhower said dryly, "so do I."

Many a member of Congress watched this panel production—which, the President said, is the first of a series.

Republicans generally found it Grade A.

"An exceptional presentation," said Sen. Carlson (R-Kan).

"Clear, understanding," said House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass).

Democrats were less ready to cheer.

"I don't see anything to comment on," said House Democratic Leader Rayburn (D-Tex).

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), however, called the program "a very effective innovation."

A further comment came from Ben Duffy, president of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, the New York advertising agency which donated its assistance in producing the telecast.

"I think it was one of our best shows," he said.

Speaking of security problems, Eisenhower said with reference to his forthcoming talks with Prime Minister Churchill and whatever premier the French have chosen by that time:

"I am going over to Bermuda to meet with some of our friends and talk over these things. But remember, in these vast problems that affect every one of our lives, there is no thought that you can cut the knots; you must untie them slowly and laboriously."

Eisenhower went on, interrupting himself to call on the various Cabinet members, to a discussion of other problems:

The deficit: "During 17 of the past 20 years we have gone into debt, borrowing cheapens money. That is like water in your coffee."

Economy: "These expensive military establishments are going to be maintained at the most economic way possible. You are going to get one dollar's worth for every dollar we spend. I am going to keep that promise."

The excess profits tax: "It is inequitable, it is unjust, it is clumsy, and it is awkward. But . . . it must not be taken off until we can reduce the individual income taxes."

Agriculture: "We are going to have stability in farm income and we are going to do it with no farmer being taken over by the government. . . . It is unthinkable—unconscionable as I see it—that the United States should have wheat moulding and crops spoiling and people—friends of ours—should be starving in the world."

Government employe security: "We go after the weeds of disloyalty but we don't want to uproot a single good plant. . . . The great mass of your federal employes are a wonderful, dedicated group of men and women whose jobs are going to be protected."

Then, with time running out, the President promised that "we are going to report to you from time to time—with these or other people with me—so that you may know what is going on."

"Thank you for being with us," Eisenhower concluded. "Good night. God bless you."

Disastrous Fire

The Cocoanut Grove fire in Boston killed 492 persons, a loss of life greater than that suffered by U. S. troops in the North African invasion of World War II.

First Names Are In Order On Telecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was just as if the President of the United States and a quarter of his top helpers had paid you a visit to chat about the affairs of state.

Watching your television set, you saw President Eisenhower in his first television broadcast from the White House. With him were four Cabinet members: Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Hobby, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Atty. Gen. Brownell.

First names were in order, as befits the easy informality of conversation in your living room.

There were no typed speeches. The visitors talked mostly right at you, but occasionally their eyes flickered to one side.

That was to see the big cue cards, which bore phrases like those an orator jots down for an off-the-cuff speech. "There are two ways to balance the budget," said one card. They also bore data to tell the talkers how they were keeping pace with the half-hour period of their visit via all the TV networks.

Like good visitors—and good TV performers—they finished what they had to say and left. It was "right on the button," according to an aide to Ben Duffy, the advertising man whose firm donated its technical assistance.

Two rehearsals had gone several minutes overtime.

Duffy, exchanging congratulations in the midst of some 30 cameramen and technicians, wore a big smile. He had hovered outside camera range throughout the performance.

"I think it was one of our best shows," he said. "I wasn't worried about timing. Rehearsals always run long."

Looking into the conference room from which the broadcast emanated—it is across from Eisenhower's office and is called the "Fish Bowl" because fish used to be kept there—all you really saw were the cameras and lights. They were ranged in a semicircle close to the desk, chair and sofa occupied by the five stars. With the air-conditioning cut off because of its noise, the air was tight. There was a strong odor like that of hot paint—the odor, technicians said, of the TV lights.

Perspiration darkened the shirt collars of the technicians. But Eisenhower and his supporting cast kept their cool look, thanks to pancake makeup.

Outside the White House a big van—the directing truck—picked up the images from three TV cameras, selected one and relayed it out to the networks.

Outside the conference room, sitting in his office and watching his set while chain-smoking cigarettes, was James Hagerty, the presidential press secretary, who had told newsmen earlier:

"It was my own idea."

Rural Churches

Approximately two-thirds of the churches in the United States are located in rural communities, which have one-third of the nation's churchgoers.

Decision Due Soon On Wayne's Wife Getting Big Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A decision is expected today on whether the eestranged wife of actor John Wayne is entitled to $9,350 monthly alimony pending the October trial of her separate maintenance suit.

In closing arguments yesterday, Wayne's attorney, Frank B. Belcher, charged Mrs. Esperanza Bauer Wayne, former Mexican actress, had indiscriminately exaggerated in an attempt to show her need for the large alimony payments.

Wayne has offered $900 a month. Belcher said Mrs. Wayne listed $3,000 a year for beauty shop expenditures. He asked the court: "Is this lady's beauty so fragile that it takes some $3,000 a year to maintain it?"

Her attorney, Jerome Rosenthal, contended in his final remarks that Wayne's holdings had increased from $70,000 when the couple was married in 1946 to more than $400,000. He said Mrs. Wayne is entitled to her share in this increased property, which he described as community property.

Use New Mothproofing Methods To Make Saving Woolens Easy

Spray Solutions and Your Deep Freeze Will Kill Larvae

The easy way to mothproof your washable woolens for summer storage is to add new mothproofing solution to the wash water. Weight of the dry woolens tells this homemaker how much solution to use on the basis of one tablespoon for each pound. The concentrate EQ-53 contains DDT. It was developed by U.S. Department of Agriculture and is marketed under various trade names.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

New methods of mothproofing your winter woolies for summer storage simplify this annual chore to the point where it needn't disrupt regular housekeeping routine anymore.

You can, for example, mothproof washable woolens as you rinse them, thanks to the devolopment of EQ-53 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. DDT is the insecticide in EQ-53 which also contains a solvent and an emulsifying agent. The new product is marketed under various trade names.

To use it you weigh the dry woolens and add one tablespoon of EQ-53 for each pound of clothes to the first rinse water if you wash by hand, or to the suds water if articles are machine-washed.

Wool picks up the DDT which protects it until washed or dry-cleaned. EQ-53 will not, says the department, cause shrinkage or matting of wool.

I find this new treatment especially good for blankets which must be washed anyway before storage, and for sweaters, socks and caps. Outgrown baby woolens like shawls, sacques and booties which I'm storing away "just in case" were also treated.

The Department of Agriculture does caution us, however, to avoid irritation to infants' skin by dry cleaning the treated articles before they are used again.

Because of the DDT content, it's advisable to wash your hands promptly with soap and water if any of the concentrate spills on your skin. Do it also after handling wet, treated woolens. Another suggestion is to wear rubber gloves.

Another mothproofing ally is your quick freezer. Moths and their larvae (which do the damage) can't survive zero temperatures very long. Articles can be sealed in freezer bags, stored in the freezer for two or three days, then removed and shelved in the sealed bags.

Obviously, this isn't practical with bulky articles but it's an easy way to protect bunny muffs or bunny-trimmed winter bonnets or the pair of gloves that's usually overlooked.

Bulky woolens, like coats, jackets, heavy blankets or auto robes, can be sprayed with DDT or fluoride solutions to protect them from ravenous moths. Pick a nice sunny day and hang the clean articles on the clothesline. Spray them until their surfaces are moist but not really wet. Then let the garments dry thoroughly before storing.

Most of us will continue to use moth crystals (paradichlorobenzene), naphthalene flakes, or balls for some woolens stored in boxes or closets. This is good protection as long as they are used in sufficient concentration and in containers that are as airtight as possible.

You'll need at least a pound of crystals or balls for a large trunk-size box or each 100 cubic feet of space. In a closet the protective agents should be placed higher than the clothes because the moth-killing vapor floats downward.

If you have faith in cedar chests, make sure they are constructed with ¾-inch red cedar heartwood. If the chest is old you'd better play safe and scatter moth crystals or balls between each layer of clothing anyway.

You'll be safer with these modern weapons in the annual anti-moth battle.

The quick-freeze treatment will kill moths and larvae that may be lurking in the small wool or fur-trimmed articles. The girl, above, sealed articles in regular air-tight plastic freezer bags and will store them for three days at sub-zero temperatures then shelve them in the closet.

Field Trip By 4-H Club At Blackwater

By Mrs. M. R. Gillespie

BLACKWATER — The W. W. 4-H Club and their leader, Mrs. Billie Clemens, went on a field trip Saturday afternoon. The club members were to identify thirteen trees, get a twig and leaf from each which they will mount and enter in the conservation contest sponsored by the Rod and Gun Club in June. The children and leader returned to the club house and held a wiener roast. The club will meet on Friday night when William Stessue, county agent, will be present and show a film on the bob white. Price Mack 4-H will be guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Whitlow and daughter, Mrs. Owen Schrum, and her three children of Cassville spent last week visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitlow, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Shemwell, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mercer of Blackwater and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Potter of the Peninsula Community.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Price were hosts at dinner Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Widel, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Becker and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Widel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Esser.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mercer son and daughter, Ronnie and Thelma, were week end guests of the Mercer's son-in-law and daughter, S-Sgt. and Mrs. William Brown, Kansas City. They also visited in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Burd and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Strickfaden.

Mrs. Fannie Kelly and grand-son, Kenny Bloom, Kansas City, spent the week end with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Bagby.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Heuman and children Kansas City were guests Friday night, May 15, of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heuman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lueckert and son, Scott, Philadelphia, Pa. arrived Saturday for a visit with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Lueckert. Mrs. C. B. Alley and daughters, Cammie Lou and Debby, of Kansas City, came Wednesday to be with her brother, Jack Lueckert, and family and her parents.

New Trick With Ham or Beef

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's a new dish that's easy to make, thrifty, good to eat and pretty - as - a - picture. Served with a garden - fresh green vegetable, it's a fine main course for a party lunch or supper.

Its cornmeal biscuit dough has an interesting crisp texture, and its fillings are delicious. You can use leftover baked ham for one of the fillings; ordinary hamburger goes into the other. All you do is spread the filling over the biscuit dough and roll it up in jelly-roll fashion. Then with each slash of your knife, you have an attractive pinwheel that needs only a short baking time in a hot oven.

Add a frozen fruit salad, for dessert, to this menu, and you'll have a meal that will win you real praise.

Ham or Beef Pinwheels

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ cup enriched corn meal, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, 2-3 cup milk, Ham or Beef Filling.

Method: Sift flour, corn meal, baking powder and salt together into a medium-size bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, mixing lightly only until dry ingredients are dampened. (Add a little more milk if necessary to make a soft dough.) Turn out on prepared pastry cloth or lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to make a rectangle 12 by 10 inches. Spread with Ham or Beef Filling. Roll up like a jelly roll, starting with the 12 - inch side. Cut into slices 1 inch thick and place on greased shallow pan. (Or use greased cooky sheet for Ham Pinwheels since their filling is not likely to ooze.) Bake in a very hot (450F) oven, 12 to 18 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings — 2 pinwheels apiece.

Ham Filling

Ingredients: ¾ pound ground cooked lean ham (about 2½ cups very lightly packed), ½ cup light cream, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons pickle relish.

Method: Mix all ingredients together well.

Beef Filling

Ingredients: ¾ pound ground raw beef (use ordinary hamburger as prepared in meat market), ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¾ cup chili sauce, ¼ cup finely chopped onion.

Method: Mix all ingredients together well.

Cool Drinks for Warm Days

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Quick as a wink, you can have an ice - cream soda right in your own home. Small fry, as well as everyone else in your family, will enjoy this recipe because its lemonade base gives it a most refreshing flavor.

Want to up your youngsters' milk quotient? Then serve them this milk shake flavored with fresh raspberries.

As a go-along for either drink, these Spiced Butter Crisps are perfect. All the ingredients needed for them will be in the house, and they have a delightful flavor when they're allowed to bubble under the broiler. This is a good recipe to keep on hand for small - fry snacks or to serve to unexpected company with iced tea or coffee.

Lemonade Ice Cream Sodas

Ingredients: ½ cup frozen concentrate for lemonade (thawed and undiluted), 1 pint vanilla ice cream, two 7 - ounce bottles sparkling water, 4 strawberries.

Method: Put 2 tablespoons of the lemonade concentrate in each of four (about 10-ounce) glasses. Add a small scoop of the ice cream and partly fill glasses with sparkling water. Stir vigorously to mix ice cream with other ingredients. Divide remaining ice cream among the glasses and fill with remaining soda. Garnish each soda with a strawberry — it will stay propped up on the floating scoop of ice cream. Serve at once with iced-tea spoons and straws or with spoon-sippers. Makes 4 servings.

Raspberry Milk Shake

Ingredients: ¾ cup crushed fresh raspberries, 1¼ cups milk, few grains salt, 1 pint vanilla ice cream, few whole raspberries.

Method: Use potato masher to crush raspberries before measuring. Put berries into a container with milk, salt and three-quarters of the ice cream. Shake or beat until blended. Pour into 4 glasses and top each glass with remaining ice cream and a few whole berries. Makes 4 servings.

Spiced Butter Crisps

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, dash of ginger, 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts or pecans, 6 slices bread.

Method: Cream butter, sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger. Mix in nutmeats. Toast bread and cut into triangles. Spread triangles with spiced mixture. Arrange on cookie sheet; place under broiler heat until bubbly. Watch closely because this will take only a minute or so. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Tossed Cats

The "Wednesday of the Cats" was started by Baldwin III, Count of Flanders, as a day on which cats were hurled from towers to ward off evil.

Golden State's Braised Beef With Polenta Is Fine Eating

California's cosmopolitan populace produces some very fine eating. This combination of polenta (a yellow cornmeal mixture) with a savory braised beef, brightened with a touch of California wine in the sauce, may be one reason why Horace Greeley advised, "Go West, young man."

Braised Beef With Polenta
(Serves 6)

Two pounds beef stew meat (cubed), flour, salt and pepper to taste, ¼ cup salad oil, 1 large onion (minced), 1 No. 2 can stewed tomatoes, 1 (4-ounce) can mushroom stems and pieces (undrained), ½ cup Burgundy or Claret wine or ½ cup water, ½ teaspoon oregano, ¼ teaspoon each thyme and marjoram.

Dredge meat with flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Heat oil in a large, heavy skillet or Dutch oven; add meat and onion; saute, stirring frequently, until meat is nicely browned. Add remaining ingredients; season to taste with salt and pepper. Cover and simmer gently, stirring frequently, about 2 hours, or until meat is tender.

Add a little more wine or water during cooking if gravy becomes too thick. To serve, spoon polenta in a ring around the edge of heated platter; pour meat mixture in center. Serve grated Parmesan cheese separately.

Polenta—In the top of a double boiler, mix 1½ cups yellow corn meal with 1½ cups cold water. Stir in 3 cups boiling water and 1½ teaspoons salt. Place over direct heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Place over boiling water; cover and cook 1 hour. Before serving, stir in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

TABLE TREATS FROM THE FAMOUS M.C.P. KITCHEN LABORATORY COPR. 1953 MUTUAL CITRUS PRODUCTS, CO. ANAHEIM, CALIF.

NEVER BEFORE HAS SUCH A THING BEEN POSSIBLE!

TO MAKE THE FINEST BERRY JAM WITHOUT COOKING OR BOILING... You simply won't believe how wonderful it is until you've made it yourself . . . by the amazing new recipe (below) developed by M.C.P. Jam and Jelly Pectin. It's a miracle of ease to make, too. Just try it!

HERE'S THE RECIPE*

1. Wash, stem, and crush thoroughly enough berries to make 4 level cups. Put crushed berries into 2 or 4 quart kettle. Sift in slowly 1 package (3½ oz.) M.C.P. Jam and Jelly Pectin (no other pectin may be used), stirring vigorously. Set aside 20 minutes, with occasional stirring.
2. Add 1 cup light Karo. Mix well.
3. Measure exactly 5½ level cups beet or cane sugar into a dry dish. Gradually stir this into crushed berries. Warming to 100° F. (or temperature for baby's milk) will hasten sugar dissolving. No hotter, please!
4. When sugar is dissolved, jam is ready to eat. Makes 4 full pints. To keep for a month or so, while being consumed, put in covered pint jars (no paraffin needed) and chill 24 hours in deep freeze, or freezing or ice cube compartment of refrigerator. Then, store as you would milk and use as desired.
5. To make large quantities at one time, and keep them a long time, pack in covered ½-gallon glass jars or paper cartons and store in deep freeze or frozen food locker, at temperatures from 10° below to 20° above zero. To use, remove large container from freezer and place in refrigerator. When jam has softened, change to smaller containers and store in refrigerator as you would milk. Jam will keep this way more than a month while being consumed.
6. Never store these uncooked jams on pantry shelf. They will not keep without refrigeration.

Note: For Strawberries, add ¼ cup lemon juice in Step 3, after sugar is dissolved, and mix well. (Red Raspberries, Boysenberries, Loganberries, and Youngberries need no lemon juice.) Use M.C.P. Canned or Frozen Lemon Juice because it is pure, containing no preservatives (sulphur dioxide or benzoate of soda.)

THE BIGGEST BEVERAGE BARGAIN OF THEM ALL!

HOMEMADE LEMONADE . . . so refreshing and wholesome . . . so inexpensive, too, made with M.C.P. CANNED LEMON JUICE. One small can makes about 12 glasses at less than ⅓ the cost of 12 bottles of most soft drinks. And how much better for the kids . . . for everyone! So easy to make—no muss or fuss, just add water and sugar. M.C.P. LEMON JUICE is pure, full strength, rich in Vitamin C. — contains no artificial preservatives (sulphur dioxide or benzoate of soda). It's so convenient, so economical, so useful—for lemonade, cooking, baking, jam and jelly making, and so many other ways. Why not write the M.C.P. # Harry Reineke Crew In Scenes Of a Movie

By Mrs. Roy Meyer

SWEET SPRINGS — Mrs. Edward Clayburn, formerly of Sweet Springs now of St. Louis, recently returned home after visiting her son, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reineke and grandson, Patterson, La. Mr. Reineke is chief engineer and draftsman for the Baryside Construction Co. of which he owns an interest. Universal Motion Picture Co. recently filmed a part of the picture "Thunder Bay" starring James Stewart, Dan Duryea and Joanna Drew, at the shipyards. Mr. Reineke and his crew appear in some of the scenes.

Judy Parker was treated at the Jones Clinic Tuesday after receiving a cut on her foot while swimming at the Memorial Park lake.

A-3c Orbie H. Ballenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Ballenger is presently training as an air force technician at the USAFB Technical School at Warren Air Base, Cheyenne, Wyo.

"Tubby" Wilkens, Concordia, wrecked his car Monday afternoon on highway 40, west of Sweet Springs. He lost control of his car and swerved to the side of the road and landed in a ditch. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Schelp were the occupants of the other car and were treated at the Jones Clinic. They suffered bruises and slight cuts.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wallhausen and sons, Independence, Kan., were weekend guests of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallhausen and Susan Gail.

Mrs. Floyd Thornton and Mrs. John Cowden, Kansas City, came Friday and attended the funeral of Mrs. Nancy Haggard.

Mrs. Richard Wall and daughter escaped injury noon Thursday when Mrs. Wall fainted and lost control of the car half a block from her home. The car ran over the sidewalk, brushed a tree and stopped in a ditch.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Linder and sons went to Marshall Sunday night and attended baccalaureate service at the Marshall High School. Mrs. Linder's sister, Miss Shirley Jo Nightwine is a member of the graduating class.

Mrs. Meta Dorley and Mrs. A. H. Duewer, New Berlin, Ill., are guests of her brother, E. L. Fischer and Mrs. Fischer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sewickley, Los Angeles, Calif., who are on an eastern tour are spending several days with Jack Albertson and Betty.

Mrs. Florence Gibson, mother of Miss Betty Albertson, arrived Saturday morning from California to take up permanent residence here. She is visiting her daughter until she obtains possession of her residence.

Mrs. Tom Newsome and children, Morton, Ill., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dierking.

Mrs. Robert Adams and daughter, Gena-Beth, Kansas City, were weekend guests of her grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Davis. Mr. Adams came Monday and accompanied his wife and daughter home.

Mrs. John Gehlken and sons, Wis., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. August Gehlken and Herbert.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ed Krause and Mr. and Mrs. Will Lehman, St. Louis, and Bill Oerding, Concordia, attended the celebration at the Lutheran Church Sunday. They also visited his sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hollrah. The Rev. Krause preached at the afternoon service.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil St. Martin, Plainville, Kan., arrived Friday and were guests of her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Crockett until Tuesday when they left for Alabama to visit relatives. Their children, who had been visiting their aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Vogt and daughters, the past two weeks accompanied their parents to Alabama.

Miss Nell Longan, Sedalia, and Mrs. Edwin Reavis, Jefferson City, spent Saturday afternoon here and visited friends.

Rebekah Award To Mrs. Palmer

GREEN RIDGE—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Palmer and son, Harold, Oxnard, Calif., accompanied by Miss Gladys Fletcher, Green Ridge, and Mrs. Fred French, Calhoun, went to Sikeston, Mo., Monday, May 25, where the I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge and the Rebekah State Assembly was in session for three days.

Mrs. French was a delegate to the Rebekah State Assembly.

Mrs. Palmer was one of the 30 women and five men of the state of Missouri that received the Decoration of Chivalry in an impressive ceremony held in the school auditorium at Sikeston, Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and son, Harold and Miss Fletcher returned to their homes Tuesday evening.

Mr. Emmett Boltz, Ionia, and Mr. William Elliott, Windsor, and Mrs. Scena Paige, Green Ridge, also went to Sikeston to attend the Grand Lodge and Rebekah State Assembly. Mr. Boltz and Mr. Elliott were representatives to Grand Lodge and Mrs. Paige delegate to Rebekah State Assembly.

They returned to their homes Wednesday night.

Cadet Grimes Gets Award At University

By Mrs. Roy Meyer

SWEET SPRINGS — James W. Grimes, student at Missouri University, received the Chicago Tribune award last week. He was selected as the outstanding second semester sophomore military student. This award was based on his military grades and attitude. James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grimes, is a cadet sergeant in the field artillery division of the ROTC at the University.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Turner, Misses Nettie and Julia Pelot and Charles Pelot spent Sunday afternoon in Sedalia with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Simmons had as Sunday guests his sisters, Mrs. Earl Epperson, Greeley, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. T. H. King, Clinton. Supper guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Friedly and Karen, Leavenworth, Kan. Mrs. Epperson remained at the Simmons home for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J ..W Jones left Sunday for a few days vacation at the Lake of the Ozarks.

Mrs. Joy Payne received a fractured wrist Thursday evening in a fall at the skating rink. Taken to the Jones Clinic it was put in a cast.

David Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson received a cut on each leg Monday when he fell from the porch steps of a neighbor onto a coffee can. He was taken to the Jones Clinic where four stitches were taken in each cut.

Mrs. Mary Weher received a cut on her head Sunday when she fell while at church. She was given first aid treatment at the home of the Rev. Delventhal and was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Kueck. Three stitches were taken to close the wound.

William Giffin returned to his home from the Veterans' Hospital, Wadsworth, Kan., where he was treated for severe injuries received in a car accident May 17 on highway 23 north of Concordia.

Mrs. Meryl Jones, Mrs. Scott Jones, Mrs. Mote Haggard and Mrs. Alva Hunter went to Marshall Saturday and visited their cousin, Calvin Minks, who has been ill.

Glen Larue, Bobby Sleeper and Rex. Thompson, intermediates of the Christian Church school accompanied by the Rev. Gilbert Yerian left Sunday afternoon for Camp Hawthorne, south of Bagnell Dam, where they will spend a week. Rev. Yerian will be an instructor at the camp.

Entertainment Alphabet

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—The alphabet has always been used in Washington for bureaus and agencies, but Vermont uses it for social activities.

Women legislators were entertained at the home of Rep. Aline Ward of Moretown. Women whose names began with the letters A through L were guests at a buffet supper one night while M through Z attended the next night.

There are 54 women in the legislature.

Enjoy New England Chef's Apple Pie and Chicken Pie

The chef at the Williams Inn in Williamstown, Mass., succumbed to our enthusiasm for his chicken pie and deep-dish apple pie. Yes, he gave us his old-style recipes.

Chicken Pie

Use a fat, 5-pound fowl and cook it tender. You'll have enough meat for 4 or 5 individual servings. Use butter or chicken fat. Melt the fat to begin the roux (white sauce). Thin the sauce with extremely strong chicken stock. Flavor with onion (but strain the onion out later), salt and pepper and nothing else.

Arrange large pieces of chicken in individual baking dishes, cover with the sauce and top with good, old - fashioned New England pie crust.

Simple as all that — nothing fancy, no potatoes, no carrots or peas, no tricks — just Yankee chicken pie to perfection.

Deep-Dish Apple Pie With Vanilla Ice Cream

Sliced apples (fresh or frozen), 1¼ cups granulated sugar, juice of ½ lemon, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, pinch salt, 1 tablespoon butter.

Fill deep - dish baking pan with apples, generously: quantity depends on size of pan. Add sugar and lemon juice. Sprinkle with cinnamon, nutmeg and salt and dot with chips of butter. Cover with flaky pastry making sure pastry is well over edge of pan. Brush with melted butter and prick with fork. Bake approximately one hour in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve topped with vanilla ice cream.

'Rice Capital of The World,' Claim Made By Crowley, La.

Crowley, La., calls itself the Rice Capital of the United States. The people are friendly and some are good cooks — and of course they all use rice. Here's one recipe we picked up there.

Rice Corn Fritters
(Makes 10 fritters)

One-half cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 cup corn (fresh cooked or canned), 1 egg (beaten), about 3 tablespoons milk.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Add the rice, corn and eggs. Mix thoroughly. Add enough milk to make a thick batter and mix thoroughly. To make each fritter, drop batter by spoonfuls into deep hot fat (350 degrees F.). Cook until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Combine rice with shrimp, another Louisiana product, to make a main dish summer salad.

Shrimp-Rice Summer Salad
(Makes 4 generous servings)

One pound cooked chilled shrimp, 2 cups cooked, chilled rice, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup chopped scallions, ¼ cup sliced, stuffed olives, 1 cup diced raw cauliflower, dash pepper, ¼ cup French dressing, ¼ cup mayonnaise.

Cut medium - sized or large shrimp in two or three pieces. (Leave small shrimp whole). Combine all ingredients in large mixing bowl. Chill about ½ hour. Serve in lettuce - lined bowl or in individual lettuce cups.

The barbershop will be closed for an hour tomorrow to honor a man who still had a shaving mug on the shelf there and still tipped 10 cents when he died.

Durable Schools

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — This mining town ,nearly two miles high in the Colorado Rockies, will have its first new school buildings this year since the high school was built in 1899.

A junior high school and a grade school are being financed by a $700,000 bond issue voted last fall.

Hefty Herd

More than 15,000 mule deer, largest single herd of its kind in the United States, roam Arizona's Kiabab forest, north of the Grand Canyon.

Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten?

PITTSBURGH (AP)—When Paul Benson was serving with the U.S. Army in Germany he frequently went to Air Force dances at Frankfurt. One of his favorite partners was pretty red-haired Erna Marie Loeblich of Grosskrotzenberg.

Benson came home in 1946 and resumed work with the Naturalization and Immigration Service in Pittsburgh. His job included interviewing applicants for citizenship. Recently he was examining a list of applications and noticed one from Grosskrotzenberg. Benson arranged to handle the interview and asked about Erna.

It wasn't necessary, however, for the Mrs. Davis applying for citizenship turned out to be Erna, now married to a railroad worker and living in Pittsburgh.

AND so we come to that fateful last day of January, 1952, when the King stood at London Airport waving his daughter goodby as she and the Duke of Edinburgh set off on their flight to Africa and the Commonwealth tour they were undertaking in his place.

For 40 minutes the King stood bareheaded in a biting, wintry wind, and after he had waved what was to be his last goodby to his daughter, he followed her plane with his eyes until it was no more than a faint speck in a gray sky.

Who knows what feelings were in his heart when at last he turned away—and what were the feelings in the heart of his daughter as she sped across the world on her Royal mission?

Twice within six months Princess Elizabeth had been called upon to endure parting from her father after a grievous operation, for which the nation's prayers were asked, when all her instincts as a daughter must have cried out to stay by his side.

This time, Princess Elizabeth was never to see her father alive again.

All over the world newspapers carried stories of the progress of the Atalanta, Princess Elizabeth's airplane, and her safe arrival in Africa, where she was met by 400 African chiefs resplendent in plumed headdresses and leopard skins.

The hearts of millions of ordinary men and women going about their humdrum tasks were daily warmed by the happy, carefree pictures of the Royal couple in their informal moments in the first few days of their great tour.

Pictures of the Princess with her camera eagerly "shooting" lion stalking through the jungle while a nearby guard moved with his rifle at the alert; pictures of her and the Duke of Edinburgh in the Royal Lodge—the wedding gift of the people of Kenya—joyous, unworried pictures we all loved to see; pictures, like those of any young married couple, of the Princess and her husband enjoying the peace and beauty of their home.

But the sands of time were ebbing fast . . .

In Britain, King George was at his beloved Sandringham, scene of his birth, living a country life. The Queen and Princess Margaret were with him. Daily he enjoyed one of his favorite sports, shooting, with a few chosen friends from among his neighbors.

Tuesday, Feb. 5, was a particularly lovely crisp winter's day in Norfolk, and the King enjoyed one of his best day's sport. That evening he made arrangements for the next day, and before she said good night to him Princess Margaret suggested that he might like to make an early start in the morning.

The King went to bed and his valet brought him his usual nightcap, a cup of hot chocolate. The King wished him good night in a cheerful voice and settled to read a book.

* * *

ACROSS the world, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were spending the night in the picturesque Treetops, a four-room hotel some distance from their Royal Lodge, which is built in a giant fir tree overlooking a water hole so that its visitors may observe animals by night.

The Princess arrived wearing a bush shirt and brown slacks, and was afforded a magnificent spectacle of the big game of Kenya. When she arrived at the beginning of the forest trail she heard that no less than 40 elephants were gathered around Treetops. And later when she arrived at her "hotel" she was asked to climb the ladder slowly so as not to disturb one elephant who was by a pool only 10 yards away. Thirty-five elephants and 11 calves appeared while the Royal party were having tea, and after dusk eight rhinos were spotted.

It was around midnight when the Princess retired.

After breakfast next day she delayed her return to the Royal Lodge for an hour, enjoying the first sunlit moments of the African morning, amusedly watching the antics of a family of baboons which had climbed to the Treetops windows and were grabbing slices of sweet potato laid on the sills. Then she and the Duke set off for the Royal Lodge, unaware of the terrible news which awaited them.

* * *

ON that morning of Feb. 6 there was silence in the King's bedroom at Sandringham. His valet, entering with his usual cup of tea, could not rouse him. Beside his bed, its bookmarker set, lay the book the King had been reading when he fell asleep some time before midnight.

At 10:45 a. m. the news of his death was announced.

And in one of his most moving broadcasts, Mr. Churchill revealed that the King had known that from day to day his life hung by a thread:

"The King walked with death as if death were a companion, an acquaintance whom he recognized and did not fear.

"In the end death came as a friend, and, after a happy day of sunshine and sport, after 'Good night' to those who had loved him best, he fell asleep as every man or woman who strives to fear God and nothing else may hope to do."

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

The young bride was making a cake and got all of her ingredients ready before she started. Then she stirred it up, put it in a pan and in the oven.

The next thing was to clean up the mess. Bowls, spoons, cups started going in the dishpan and about that time she made a discovery. There were the eggs she had already to go into the cake, but somehow had overlooked. She ran to the oven and looked in. The dough had spread nicely over the pan and was just starting to set. She took the pan out, stirred the eggs in the mixture and put it back in the oven, knowing full well that the cake wouldn't be any good—but to her surprise, it was the nicest cake she has ever made in her life.

Maybe she should make her cakes that way all the time if they come out better that way—that might be the secret of successful cake baking. Maybe cake failures are due to putting the eggs in too soon. Well, one never knows, something sure causes them and it might as well be putting the eggs in too soon as anything else.—H. L.

Sedalia youngsters are doing all right in getting their little feet solidly planted in their own home town and saying with pride, "I'm helping Sedalia grow."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wendt, 1820 East Ninth, have given their little girls, Penny 4, and Cindy, 2, a stake in Sedalia's future by buying them a $100 note in the industrial fund drive.

The better the town, the more opportunities it will have to offer Penny and Cindy, Mr. and Mrs. Wendt believe. Sedalia is getting better and better, and better, with more advantages all the time, and to keep it going in that direction people must believe in it and invest in it.

So, Penny and Cindy are being trained to feel that the more you put into anything the more you get out of it and they are putting their money in Sedalia for a better town in which to grow up. —H. L.

All U. S. Showers Trinklets on First Lady

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the second of two warm-hearted closeups on Mamie Eisenhower, who in her first few months as America's new First Lady has become everybody's favorite.

By PATTI SIMMONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Washington isn't the only place beating the First Lady's bandwagon these days.

Mementoes pour in daily to the President's wife from housewives and grandmothers across the United States. Mostly handmade, they include aprons, pot - holders, crocheted doilies, costume jewelry, handkerchiefs, with dainty tatted borders, hats especially designed for Mamie, heaps of home baked cookies, fruits and preserves.

Mamie - admirers likewise dispatch oil or ink sketches of the Eisenhowers; photographs of the sender's family, even recordings of their kids' voices. In the trinket department elephants and pins rate high, the White House reports.

Often packages addressed to Mamie contain books, many of them on religious or historical subjects.

But women aren't the only ones bowled over by Mamie. Twenty-two of the town's most eligible bachelors think she's pretty terrific, too. The White House aides ought to know. They have a better chance to see Mamie in operation than anyone in Washington.

In addition to full time Pentagon jobs, these servicemen take on the added gold braid duty of introducing visitors to Mrs. Eisenhower or assisting the President and his wife at official functions.

The First Lady's receiving line patter follows no standard form such as "nice to see you" or "how do you do" with, maybe, something more personal thrown in once in a while, one aide reports.

It's always different and it's always natural, he confides with admiration. "A few times I've heard her say—'don't you look pretty in your hat?" And she means it, he insists, "because when she says it I look at them. And they're sharp!"

Mamie's prolonged, friendly handshake is accompanied by things like "How nice of you to come and see me," or "Of course, I know that town. I've been there."

As one aide puts it, she seems to give everyone the feeling they're the one she's been waiting to see. If the crowd isn't too large she's liable to hold up the line and stand chatting to one visitor five or ten minutes.

At a recent top official luncheon a couple of the aides were somewhat concerned about protocol and in what order several of the guests should be presented to the President and his wife.

Suddenly the Eisenhowers came into the room and promptly started to shake hands with everybody. The next thing you know, says one of the aides, there was no protocol to worry about. "Everybody just walked into the dining room together like a big happy family."

This same gracious informality accounts for stars in the eyes of a photographer's wife in Washington.

When the newsman was traveling on Eisenhower's campaign train he happened to tell Mamie about his wife and two children. The First Lady remembered the conversation, and invited them all to the White House. She spent an hour with them, and even though she had just finished shaking 250 hands, took them on a personal tour.

One room she didn't bother to show them was an old storage spot which she mentioned having converted into an ironing room so the maid wouldn't have to climb stairs.

Another barometer of Mamie's coast to coast popularity comes from a big fashion designer. The nation's buyers, he reports, are demanding dresses, suits and hats just like Mamie wears to sell to their customers.

One gentleman observer of the Washington scene explains the Mamie trend this way. 'It's the first time in 20 years," he declares, "that the average American housewife feels she's just like the woman in the White House."

Maybe he's right—right down to Mamie's having what she jokingly calls "grandmother's disease."

This spring, when the grandchildren invaded the Executive Mansion, one of their favorite playgrounds was Mrs. Eisenhower's bedroom. The First Lady kept pencil and paper in her room so her little visitors could write and draw. She read to them, played with them, hugged them — symptoms of grandmother's disease.

No doubt about it, Mamie's still the same gal who set up Army housekeeping with a two burner gas stove and a refrigerator in the bathroom.

She's not career-minded, doesn't want to shine except in the reflected glory of her husband, and never was awed at the thought of being First Lady.

"It will be just playing the wife again," she said at a news conference soon after the election. "And that's something I've always done."

"GRANDMOTHER'S DISEASE," which Mamie Eisenhower jokingly admits she has, shows its symptoms in this happy closeup of the First Lady and granddaughter Susan Elaine Eisenhower.

GIFTS POUR IN TO MAMIE from all over America. Here she samples a prize-winning cherry pie brought to her at the White House by Maxine Walker of Huntsville, Pa.

Ike Follows Style of FDR

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Eisenhower is picking up where President Roosevelt left off in taking his case directly to the people.

"Papa's here and everything will be all right" was the impression Roosevelt sought to give when he took to the radio. He was always relaxed, like a man whose problems, if any, had been trained to lie down and roll over.

For Roosevelt, the radio was a wonderful instrument not only for getting his ideas across to the nation but for creating public confidence in him and his administration. It helped elect him four times. No wonder he used it.

He read well and he had a warm voice. They were great assets. He read so well that, behind the mask of the radio, you weren't conscious he was reading at all. He used all the devices of good talking: seriousness, gaiety, sarcasm, humor, figures of speech.

Roosevelt probably would have been equally successful on television but its development, nationwide, was after his time.

President Truman never learned to read aloud with ease. He lacked the unbothered voice of Roosevelt. It was one of Truman's worst handicaps. He was at his best talking off the cuff in the heat of a campaign, without a script.

There was a refreshing crispness and even a reassuring earnestness about his voice on the radio. But he was never at ease, reading. His inflections were stilted and self-conscious, as if someone had marked his text: "Emphasize this."

Even though he spoke behind the faceless radio, anyone listening soon realized Truman was reading, and sometimes he sounded as if he was reading it for the first time.

TV was in swaddling clothes at the start of Truman's administration in 1945. By the time he left the White House in 1952 TV had grown up and was the center of attention in living rooms from coast to coast.

Truman may explain in his memoirs why he didn't use TV and radio more, particularly in the last two years when he and his administration were under fiery criticism.

It is possible he might have turned the tide against his foes if he had gone repeatedly to the people, face to face on TV, to explain his case as he saw it, just as Roosevelt did on radio.

It was obvious, from a political standpoint, he was missing a bet in not using the airwaves more. Eisenhower and his advisers could not help being aware of this.

Judging from what he has done in the past two weeks, Eisenhower probably will use radio and TV to the fullest advantage.

He made a nation-wide radio talk May 19 to explain one of the sorest pills the public ever has to swallow: why there shouldn't be a tax cut now. He read that talk.

Last night on TV he talked without visible script but not without help. That was a carefully prepared program, rehearsed, and using modern TV techniques. It amounted to a production.

Eisenhower doesn't read as well as Roosevelt. He's stiffer and more self-conscious, more like Truman. And he's not as relaxed as Roosevelt or, perhaps, Truman, when he's talking off the cuff without notes and without rehearsal.

He's more intense than either of them. And sometimes, as anyone who has watched him at a completely unrehearsed news conference knows, he often sounds like a man in a verbal hurry.

Since this country faces difficult days, at least in foreign affairs, when there may be more international heat than light, Eisenhower will probably use the airwaves with fair regularity.

Drew Pearson's Washington Merry-go-round

Taft Becoming 'Mr. President' To Cabinet

WASHINGTON — It will probably be denied, but one of the most amazing advices ever given to a cabinet regarding a particular senator has just been suggested to Eisenhower cabineteers — namely, to clear all major policy matters informally with Senator Taft.

This was not handed out to the Eisenhower cabinet as categoric hard-and-fast orders, but rather as a suggestion. However, the effect is just about the same and the advice is having two important results:

1. Taft, the man whom Eisenhower defeated at Chicago, more than ever is becoming Mr. President. He is in the unique and enjoyable position of having power without official responsibility. While Eisenhower doesn't guarantee to go along with Taft on everything, as, for instance, cooperation with the United Nations, he has leaned farther than any other President in years to give Taft the fullest cooperation — almost veto power — over domestic policies and appointments

2. Secretary of Labor Durkin is almost certain to resign.

Political enemy No. 1 of the labor movement is Robert Alphonso Taft. Because he authored the Taft-Hartley act, both the AFL and the CIO did everything in their power to defeat him. Therefore, for the Secretary of Labor, a former AFL executive, to clear policies with the enemy of labor is more than he can take.

Durkin doesn't want to break with Eisenhower, and his AFL colleagues don't relish the idea of a break. But if the instruction to clear with Taft stands, Durkin is almost certain to bow out of the cabinet in the near future.

NOTE — The Secretary of Labor has felt unhappy about two other things. He has received no help regarding the revision of the Taft-Hartley act. His colleagues in the cabinet just aren't interested. Second, when he gets to cabinet meetings, Durkin sometimes finds other cabineteers there in advance, gets the impression that certain matters have been decided before his arrival.

Washington Pipeline

The Senate barbershop still charges only 75 cents for a haircut. The price is $1.25 in downtown Washington. . . . During his recent illness, Ohio's influential GOP congressman Clarence Brown had a temperature of 105. He credits Navy doctors at Bethesda Medical Center for saving his life. . . . Harry Truman writes to Dean Acheson at least twice a week. The letters contain pithy comments about the new administration's policies (not too complimentary.) . . . The state department had no advance warning before Ambassador Luce announced withdrawal of U. S. aid from Italy in the event De Gasperi's government is overthrown in next Sunday's elections. Her speech didn't help. . . . In the last five months Washington's police have put in more than 10,000 hours overtime without pay — most of it during inauguration week. . . . Washington's real estate agents claim Attorney General Brownell got "stuck" on his new $55,000 home. They claim it's a "dog," that he could have bought a much better house for the same money. . . . White House haggling continues over five big political plums—one FCC commissionership, two each for the ICC and SEC.

Defense Boss Charlie Wilson and wife attend more "important" parties than any other cabinet family. Wilson "sells" the defense department during all social conversations. . . . The Democratic National Committee was in a turmoil last week. A trucking company had "lost" 175,000 addressed envelopes ready to be sent out with promotion material for the new "Democratic digest." The envelopes were finally discovered in Baltimore. . . . The Bureau of Internal Revenue will soon lose some of its top "loophole" experts —the sleuths who keep their eyes on big corporations' taxes. The move may cost the taxpayers millions, yet it's being done in the name of economy. . . . Last week the Bureau of Internal Revenue raided the House of Representatives' dining room and seized 131 packs of cigarettes without federal stamps. The cigarettes were intended for the National Training School for Boys but somehow had been diverted to the congressmen. The congressional dining room had been selling the tax-free cigarettes at regular prices.

Charlie Wilson's Rabbit

As the congressional heat increases, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson is groping frantically to justify his curtailment of the Air Force. Latest grope is to pull a brand-new atomic rabbit out of the hat.

This is: the theory that we have developed more powerful atomic bombs since the 143-wing Air Force was planned two years ago, therefore we can deliver the same punch with a smaller Air Force.

Real fact: the plan to cut the budget came first; the idea that we had stronger atomic bombs was thought up afterwards.

Further fact: the new Wilson strategy is based on a study of atomic strength that hasn't been completed. The report isn't even due until July.

Last year Gen. Matt Ridgway was ordered to make a new study of European defense based on any changes in our atomic strength. He made a preliminary finding that some cutbacks in European armed strength might be possible, but his full report wasn't due until July and now, Ridgway says, won't be finished until September.

Meanwhile, Russia is building up her atomic stockpile so fast that U. S. intelligence experts estimate she will have enough A-bombs to wage war in 1956.

NOTE — The airplanes Secretary Wilson is now cutting out of the budget are those to come off the production line in 1956.

Congressman's Kindness

To look at his voting record on social security, labor etc., you wouldn't know that the milk of human kindness ran strong in the veins of GOP congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio.

The other day, fire totally destroyed the Brown Publishing Company, wholly owned by the congressman and one of the mainstays of his home town of Blanchester. Simultaneous with this heavy financial loss, Brown was stricken with a gall-bladder ailment, underwent major surgery.

Despite all this, a new factory is being built in Blanchester to be owned and operated by Congressman Brown's employees. He has quietly arranged the financing for them. In addition Mr. and Mrs. Brown used some of their personal funds to replace the plates of the high-school yearbook which had been destroyed in the fire.

Said one employee: "Congressman Brown won't admit it, but he has just about saved our town."

No Strapless Gowns For Eighth Graders

GARWOOD, N. J. (AP)—Strapless gowns and plunging necklines may be stylish—but not for girls in the eighth grade, says the local board of education.

The board warned yesterday against wearing such styles at the grade's June 15 prom at Lincoln school.

Robert Laird, school superintendent, asked the board to support his request for conservative dress at the affair. Laird said he had noticed several "daring" dresses at recent school dances.

He 'Borrowed' Mother's Savings, Lost Them By Nose In the Derby

NEW YORK (AP)—By the bare margin of a horse's head, Henry J. Way Jr., 43, was in trouble with the law today—and his mother was minus her savings.

Police said Way, hoping for a sure profit, had drawn $16,000 of his mother's savings from a bank, and bet it at the track on highly favored Native Dancer in the Kentucky Derby. The horse lost by a head to Dark Star.

If Native Dancer had lived up to expectations, Way would have won 70 cents on $1—a total of $11,200—instead of being held in court yesterday in $5,000 bail on a grand larceny charge.

A detective signed the complaint, after Way's 70-year-old mother refused to do so.

Three Charged, 45 Others Freed In Fatal Shooting of a Miner

CLAY, W. Va. (AP)—Three men were indicted on a murder charge and 45 other freed yesterday in the fatal shooting of a nonstriking miner.

The mass arrest and charge against the four dozen men followed the May 7 shooting of Charles Frame, 29, at a mine in nearby Widen. The Clay County grand jury singled out Jennings R. Bail, Dennis A. Graham and Clifford L. Pritchard.

They were among a group of pickets at the Elk River Coal and Lumber Company, scene of violence during an eight-month strike over a union organizing move.

Mrs. Truman's Dress Goes to Smithsonian

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of Mrs. Harry S. Truman's dresses was added yesterday to the Smithsonian Institution's collection of First Ladies' gowns.

The dress is one Mrs. Truman wore at the presidential reception on the evening of the 1949 inauguration. It is of pearl gray satin and silver lame, cut on princess lines with a slight train and push-up sleeves.

COLD COMFORT—Demonstrating a new technique in heart surgery, Adele Masulis allows herself to be "frozen" in Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago. The patient is packed in shaved ice and the body temperature is brought down to 79 degrees to combat the problem of poor circulation. So far, three patients, who otherwise might have died, have been successfully "frozen."

Say Skin Test Can Show True Sex of Person

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—A skin test to tell true sex was reported today at the opening of the American Medical Association's annual convention.

It tells whether a baby of mixed-up sex, or hermaphrodite, is really a boy or girl. It takes a new kind of look at cells taken from the skin or bone-marrow of the infant, to see if the cells are male or female in their heredity.

The answer tells whether the child should be made into and reared as a boy, or as a girl.

This method, plus others promising new cell clues to cancer, mental illness, and allergies, was described by Dr. C. M. Pomerat, of the University of Texas, Galveston.

Sometimes babies are born having both male and female characteristics. Their true sex is in doubt and tragedies come because they are wrongly reared as boy or girl.

They may have one female sex gland—an ovary to produce eggs—and one male sex gland—a testis to produce sperm. The question is, are they predominantly boy or girl?

The answer can be had by looking at the chromosomes of ordinary body cells. Each cell of the body contains chromosomes, the necklace-shaped structures carrying the genes or units of heredity.

There's a difference between the male and female chromosomes in any cell. Male cells contain two chromosomes of Unequal length. In females, the sex chromosomes form an identical pair.

Dr. T. C. Hsu, an associate of Dr. Pomerat, discovered a way of making tightly - packed chromosomes inside a cell separate, so they can be seen clearly, and be counted and examined. Hsu found the chromosomes will spread out if there is no, or little salt in the fluid which is added to cells to keep them alive.

A look at the chromosomes in skin or bone-marrow cells can then tell a surgeon whether he should remove the ovary of testis of the doubtful-sex baby to make the child a complete boy or complete girl, to give the infant the best chance for a happy, normal life.

This is just one possibility in amazing research by Dr. Pomerat and associates.

He can take any kind of human body cells, and keep them alive and growing in glass flasks. He can take motion pictures, under a microscope, to see what happens inside these fantastically tiny engines of all life. New differences may be found between cancer cells and healthy cells.

The movies are made by snapping one picture every few minutes, then running off this film at ordinary motion - picture speed. The events taking two hours to happen inside a cell are seen within one minute.

One study could give new answers to control of allergies and asthma. Cells taken from inside the human nose are kept alive inside glass flasks. Then some hayfeverish pollen is added to the fluid. The nose cells go into violent, protesting reactions. The scientists hope to learn why and how they react, how their protests can be controlled to relieve allergies or asthma.

Nerve cells taken from human brains can be kept alive in this same way, to look for differences in brain cells of healthy persons and those mentally sick.

Movies of nerve cells show that a kind of glue for nerve cells actually has a rhythmic, pulsating activity. Why these nerve components have this action is not yet clear.

Turn Fresh Berries Into Jam

FRESH BERRIES are ready now to win lasting glory in economical homemade jams and jellies by the short-boil pectin method.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Baskets of bright and beautiful blackberries on the market now, with strawberries, raspberries and blueberries, mean beautiful jars of jams and jellies for the American menu.

Try making these berry jams by the short boil- pectin method to save not only your time, but precious materials as well. Your economical homemade jellies and jams will have the fine, rich flavor of fully ripe berries.

Blackberry and Strawberry Jam (Yield: about 11 medium glasses)

Four and one-half cups prepared fruit, 6½ cups sugar, one 2½-ounce box powdered fruit pectin.

First, prepare the fruit—Crush completely, one layer at a time, about 1 quart each fully ripe blackberries and strawberries. Measure 4½ cups fruit into a very large saucepan.

Then make the jam—Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ⅛-inch hot paraffin.

Blackberry, Pineapple, Raspberry and Strawberry Jam (Yield: about 10 medium glasses)

Four cups prepared fruit, 6 cups sugar, one 2½-oz. box powdered fruit pectin.

First, prepare the fruit—Crush thoroughly about 1 pint each fully ripe blackberries, raspberries and strawberries. Measure 3 cups into a large saucepan. Add 1 cup (8-ounce can) crushed pineapple. Or—pare 1 very small, fully ripe pineapple. Chop very fine or grind and measure 1 cup into saucepan with berries.

Then make the jam — Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ⅛-inch hot paraffin.

Memories of the Coronation: Wives Happy With Girl Ruler

By HAL BOYLE

LONDON (AP)—Coronation memories:

British wives often have a feeling of envy for the freedom American women enjoy and the power they have in the home.

Here the Englishman's house is not only his castle—he is pretty much the king in it. He has the big say, if any partner in the marriage does, particularly in the spending of money.

Naturally, then, wives here like any step leading toward more feminine authority, and they aren't unhappy at all to have a queen instead of a king reigning over the land. They'd like to put the same system into their own households.

Thus, perhaps one of the most cheerful moments of symbolism in the coronation ceremony to many a British housewife was the act of homage paid to his wife, the queen, by the duke of Edinburgh.

Kneeling at her feet, the handsome duke spoke his ritual:

"I, Philip, duke of Edinburgh, do become your liege man of life and limb, and of earthly worship; and faith and truth I will bear unto you, to live and die, against all manner of folks."

Many a wife here must have been daydreaming of how nice to be in the queen's position at that moment. One middle-aged housewife, after viewing the scene on television, turned around with a look of utter happiness on her face and said:

"At last we're coming into our own!"

No one can help admiring the British gift for courage and wry good humor in a test of fortitude. It was shown strikingly by thousands who stood or slept on the pavement through shine and showers for 24 to 48 hours to watch their queen ride by.

But what surprised me was the number of parents who took their children through the same pneumonia-risking ordeal, children too small to understand the meaning of the event. There were hundreds.

I watched one tot of four—the same age as the queen's own son—who had waited with his parents for nearly 33 hours on a curb for the queen and her troops to come past. He was in torture for hours, the torture of a child whose tired body cried out for sleep.

Meanwhile two interesting announcements came over the loud speaker:

"The R. S. P. C. A. (Royal Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) advises not to bring animals into the coronation crowds. Those coming into London are reminded to be sure to leave plenty of food and water for their pets at home, and provide for their exercise.

"Before you light your coronation bonfires be careful to see that no birds have built their nests in them, as they have been up for a long time."

There was no warning at all about not bringing toddling children or infants in arms to the long coronation watch.

What happened to the little boy on the curb? All the queen's horses and all the queen's men couldn't keep him awake. He fell asleep on his mother's shoulder. When the queen's royal gold coach rolled by, the mother roused her son.

But he only glanced at it, and then threw his small arms around her neck and sank into his dreamland, perhaps a dreamland where little boys are kings and don't have to sit on a curb a day, a night and half a day again to see a parade and a queen—even one so fair as Elizabeth II.

Profitable Strike

NAUGATUK, Conn. (AP) — A recent strike of 6,000 rubber factory employes gave local merchants something to smile about.

The strike started on a pay day and the workers spent idle time next day spending money, the erchants reported. The strike asted two days.

Blast Biggest A Bomb

Fireball Boils Over 20 Seconds, Shows Intensity of Twice Any Previous Bomb

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The biggest atom bomb ever exploded in the United States flamed for more than two minutes in the pre-dawn sky Thursday over Nevada proving ground.

The fireball boiled for more than 30 seconds indicating an intensity twice that of any previous bomb or device detonated in the desert.

The 20-kiloton Hiroshima bomb had a second fireball.

Dropped from an extremely high-flying B-36, the unprecedented A-bomb flashed across the entire horizon and bathed the desert in a ghostly white light for at least five seconds. Then it formed into a brilliant golden fireball.

The power of this amazing weapon was probably not less than 50 kilotons. The Atomic Energy Commission has previously detonated three devices at Yucca Flat that have had an intensity greater than the so-called nominal or Hiroshima bomb.

Reports in Los Angeles to police and sheriff's officers showed that hundreds of residents felt a window-rattling shock about 20 minutes after the blast.

Calls from Burbank, Van Nuys and North Hollywood in the San Fernando valley; from Lancaster and Palmdale in the Antelope vallay; Santa Monica and Beverly Hills. Cats howled and dogs barked.

Observers on mile-hith Mt. Wilson near Los Angeles said the burst lighted the whole countryside and a shock and rumble were felt 15 to 20 minutes later.

Associated Press correspondents in Northern California said window-rattling rumbles were felt at Marysville, Yuba City and Paso Robles 26 to 30 minutes after the detonation.

Today's blast, 11th and final of the spring series, probably compared favorably with some of the huge explosions reported at the Pacific proving grounds at Eniwetok.

Science director Alvin C. Graves has said the device was a refinement of one tested previously in this series. It incorporated a "discovery" made in the previous shot, he said, but he did not elaborate.

The explosion went off exactly at 4:9 a. m. (7:9 a. m. CST). The flash was seen in San Francisco, 400 miles away and in Los Angeles 250 miles distant.

The fire in the cloud was visible to mountain observers for two minutes and 20 seconds before it faded. Veteran atomic reporters agreed that this far outshone any of the 30 previous blasts in Nevada.

Fires were observed burning on Yucca Flat some minutes later when observers started returning to Las Vegas. The fires probably were in Yucca trees and perhaps some tall cedars and pines left over from previous tests this spring. No structures were known to have been involved today.

The burst appeared to be at a height of more than 2,500 feet. The device was dropped from a bomber coming from Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N. M., at an altitude of probably 35,000 or 40,000 feet.

This is calculated on the basis of the AEC announcement that it took 42 seconds for the bomb to drop from the plane to its point of detonation.

The previous high power of any bomb dropped here is believed to have been about 30 kilotons. The physical evidence of today's detonation would indicate that its power output was nearly double any previous shot.

A kiloton is the AEC scientists' term for the equivalent of 1,000 tons of tnt. The nominal or Hiroshima bomb contained the equivalent of 20,000 tons (20 kilotons) of TNT.

Witnesses here said the view of the fireball was the best of any blast held since the test program started in 1951. The mushroom cloud, also quickly visible, appeared unusually large.

The Las Vegas area was illuminated for nearly 20 seconds by the flaring golden light, with the first flash so dazzling as to almost blind the eyes. The flash was also seen in San Francisco, 600 miles away.

But as sometimes happens, even with the brightest blasts, the shock wave was not noticeable here. The AEC has explained that shock waves skip around freakishly due to atmospheric conditions and may hit a given place on one blast, but bounce over it on another.

No troops were involved today, but the Air Force continued its indoctrination program with a flight of planes over the test site.

Civil effects studies included flash tests on the eyes of rabbits—awakened in time for the burst by alarm clocks in their cages. The animals had one eye taped shut, the other open and exposed to the flash.

Dogs and mice were also stationed at varying distances from the blast point.

Master of A-Bomb Planes In Last Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The master of the atomic planes, Col. Osmond J. Ritland, flew his last nuclear test mission today.

The Air Force said that, after a leave, Col. Ritland will be assigned to the Industrial War College at Washington.

Elinor Van Dyke Wins Wool Sewing Contest In District

Elinor Van Dyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Dyke of Smithton, a student at Smith-Cotton High School, was the winner in the junior division of the "Make It Yourself From Wool" contest of the southwest district. held at Clinton on June 3. Amy Ann Scott of Fristoe was winner in the senior division.

These two girls will represent the district in the state finals to be held in Sedalia June 15, when they will compete with district winners from over the entire state.

Elinor placed first in the junior division with a rating of 97 points out of a possble 100 and although there were only first place winners, ranking second in the contest was another Smith-Cotton girl, Charlotte Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Houston, Sedalia, with a rating of 95 points.

Ruby Silsby, Smith-Cotton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Silsby, was a runner-up in the contest.

Other girls in the junior division were Donna Sue Jones, Holden, and Shirley Holley, Avery, and in the senior class, Louise Long, Centerview.

The judges were Mrs. Floyd Ream and Miss Ruth Hampton, home economics teacher of the Clinton High School.

Carnations were presented to all the girls competing by Mrs. George Fichter, southwest district contest director as a gift from a Sedalia florist.

The girls were accompanied to Clinton by their mothers and by Mrs. Mary Maddox and Mrs. Louise McKee, who teach home economics at Smith-Cotton.

The garments were made from 100 per cent virgin wool and were judged on suitability of material, pattern, style and workmanship. Each girl modeled her garment and was again judged upon fit, poise, posture, accessories and general attractiveness.

The state contest will be held at the Bothwell Hotel at which time the prizes will be given by the state and Sedalia merchants and the Chamber of Commerce will assist in entertaining the girls and will present them gifts.

The winner of the state contest will represent Missouri at the seventh National Fashion Show in Long Beach, Calif.

Says Russia Has Deadly Poison Gas

BALTIMORE, June 4—(AP)—Col. Ulius L. Amoss, retired Air Force officer who heads a privately financed international intelligence agency, said today that Russia has developed a poison gas strong enough to kill a man if one drop contacts his body.

Col. Amoss last March was credited with masterminding the scheme for Polish flier Franczizek Jarecki to escape to the Danish-owned island of Bornhold with a Soviet built MIG-15 jet fighter plane.

However, Lt. Jarecki, now in this country, later denied that anyone helped him get the plane out of Poland.

Col. Amoss, director of International Services of Information, said he had received three formulae for the Russian-made poison gases and had turned them "into official channels."

He said he was not permitted to name the government sources with whom he is in contact. But he did say "two general officers" were involved.

Col. Amoss said the formulae were written on slips of paper smuggled out of Russia by a German scientist who was shot just before entering the East sector of Berlin.

A friendly agent traveling with the German, Amoss added, escaped with the papers and sent them on to ISI headquarters here in Baltimore.

World Farmers Meet To Discuss Income, Famine

ROME, June 4 (AP)—The sixth world meeting of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, representing 20 million farmers in 26 countries opens here tomorrow.

For eight days the delegates will try their hand again at two tough problems: how to assure the farmers an adequate income for what he produces and how to distribute his produce so the world's hungry may be better fed.

The last previous meeting of this organization of independent national farm organizations, cooperating with the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations, was held in Mexico City in 1951.

Communist countries are out. Their farm organizations are ruled to be tools of governments and thus not independent.

Ike's Request Granted For Special Commission

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—The House voted approval today of President Eisenhower's request for creation of a special commission to study problems involving federal relations with state and local governments.

It ordered, however, that Democrats be given at least six of the 15 places on the commission to be filled by the President. This provision sent the bill back to the Senate which passed it without the requirement that the President name some Democrats.

Elks Go Over Top With Blood Donors; Bank Here Tomorrow

The Elks Club has gone over its quota of donors for the Red Cross mobile blood bank which will set up Friday and Saturday at the Smith-Cotton cafeteria. Asked to provide 15 donors, the Elks have signed up 21.

Forrest Yoder was chairman of the Elks donor sign-up and was assisted by James Durley, Robert Moore, Bob Johnson and Ed Ringen.

For the blood bank tomorrow only 105 donors are registered and 200 are needed. Saturday is in worse shape—51 registered and 200 needed. Anyone who can give may go to the cafeteria at their convenience.

Business Jars Ike Tax Plan

NAM And Chamber Of Commerce Want Profits Tax Ended

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—President Eisenhower's drive for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax collided with a jolt today against the two biggest business organizations in the country.

The National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce refused to go along with his plea for the extension.

In terms of revenue, the extension involves the relatively modest sum of 800 million dollars but the business groups' action was a jarring blow to Eisenhower's "business men's administration," which says it needs the money to help balance the budget.

It capped a new cry of defiance from within the President's own party in Congress. Rep. Daniel Reed (R-NY), chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, stood adamant against White House appeals for continuing the tax beyond its scheduled expiration date of July 1.

Reed Renews Stand

Reed renewed his stand that the tax must die after House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) came away from a conference with Eisenhower saying the 10 per cent cut in individual income taxes scheduled for Jan. 1 may be placed in jeopardy if the excess profits levy is not continued until then.

The NAM and the Chamber of Commerce decided, at separate all-day sessions, against changing their previously adopted stand for expiration of the excess profits tax on schedule. They had agreed to restudy their position after being approached by Treasury officials.

Speaker Martin coupled the profits tax with individual income tax reduction due next January.

"If the excess profits tax is not extended, it is very doubtful if financial conditions would be such as to warrant individual tax reductions," Martin said, adding:

"They go along together."

Denies Change

But Rep. Daniel Reed (R-NY), chairman of the tax-writing ways and means committee, promptly issued what he described as "a flat denial" that his group intends to change its stand in opposition to extending the excess profits tax.

This tax affects about 50,000 business firms. The individual income tax cut slated for next year would apply to about 50 million taxpayers.

Eisenhower and his secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey, agree with critics that the profits tax is unjust and inequitable but they say the 800 million dollars it would produce during the last six months of this year is needed to help offset budget deficits.

"It must not be taken off until we can reduce the individual income taxes," Eisenhower told a nation-wide television audience last night.

Vandenberg Pleads Again For 143 Wings

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, pleading for Swift completion of a 143-wing Air Force, told Congress today that if the United States falls short of that goal the nation will have a "second-best air force" — topped by Soviet Russia.

And he indicated that U. S. air aid to America's North Atlantic allies will have to be cut under the Eisenhower administration's proposed five-billion-dollar slash in Air Force funds.

The four-star general, who steps down as air chief of staff on June 30, drew renewed expressions of Democratic support as he continued his attack on the administration's cutback plans at a televised hearing before a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) told Vandenberg:

"I'm convinced about the need for 143 wings. I don't need any argument. I want it in being and ready for full combat duty as early as we can."

In addition to McClellan, Senators Hill (D-Ala) and Maybank (D-SC) rallied behind Vandenberg's plea for a return to the 143-wing goal set by the former Truman administration.

Maybank said he would make "a hell of a fight" on the Senate floor to restore at least some of the five billion lopped off by the Eisenhower administration.

But while Vandenberg and some Democrats chafed at the cutbacks, President Eisenhower indicated in a nation-wide TV broadcast last night that the administration plans to keep on the course it has charted.

"We are not going to cripple this nation, Eisenhower said, "and we are going specifically to keep up its air power."

Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott have contended the administration, by using new methods, can trim expenses without suffering any loss in air combat power.

The new administration's revised target is 110 wings by the end of 1954 and 120 wings by Dec. 1955. Wings vary in size from 30 bombers to 75 fighters each.

Cool and composed under the glare of TV floodlights, Vandenberg stuck to his guns in contending that 143 wings are the absolute minimum for the nation's safety under the threat of a possible Soviet atomic bombing attack.

"We are well along the way with the Air Force," Vandenberg said. "We would have 143 wings by the end of 1955 if there had been no cutbacks. The job is now two-thirds completed, and the goal is in sight.

"But if we stop short, we will have a second-best air force."

Government Will Use Wilson As Defense Witness In Trial

CHICAGO, June 4—(AP)—A General Motors spokesman said today Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson will be called next week as a defense witness in the government's civil anti-trust trial of the DuPont Company.

The spokesman said Wilson, GM president from 1941 until he joined President Eisenhower's Cabinet in January, would be subpoenaed to appear June 11.

Federal Judge Walter J. Labuy, who is hearing the case without a jury, will be asked tomorrow to issue the subpoena for Wilson, the spokesman said.

General Motors and the U. S. Rubber Company are defendants with DuPont in the anti-trust trial. The government contends the DuPont have used stock holdings in the two firms to influence GM and U. S. Rubber policies. It has asked Judge Labuy to order the DuPonts to surrender their stock interests in the firms.

Mendes-France Fails To Win Premiership By 13-Vote Margin

PARIS, June 4—(AP)—Pierre Mendes-France failed in the French National Assembly tonight by a 13-vote margin on his bid to be premier. The job would have given him a seat at the Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill late this month.

The Assembly, voting on confirmation, gave Mendes-France 301 votes. He needed at least 314.

Now President Vincent Auriol must again take up weary search for a man to head the 19th post-liberation government and sit in on the three-power Bermuda conference.

Pettis County 4-H'ers Named For Club Week

Twelve Delegates Selected to Attend Event June 9 To 12

Twelve Pettis County 4-H Club members have been selected by the Farm Bureau Rural Youth Committee to attend the eighth annual State 4-H Club Week. The event will begin on June 9 and continue through the afternoon of June 12 at Columbia.

Selected to attend were: Shirley Klein (Ringen Brushy 4-H), Jeanetta Moon (Hughesville 4-H), Betty Breshears (Pleasant Green), Claudene Townsend (Tanglenook 4-H), Lorene Klein (Walnut Grove 4-H), Helen Rugen (4-H), Francis Norfleet (Prairie Ridge 4-H), Aleta Mae Chevalier (Pleasant Green 4-H), George Fairfax (South Abell 4-H), Eugene Oelrichs (Pacific 4-H), Robert Harvey (Welcome In 4-H) and Burton Ives (Pacific 4-H).

Burton Ives, 4-H Council president, will not be able to attend since he can not get off work. Burton was recommended as an automatic delegate to State Club Week, since he is president of the 4-H Council. The Rural Youth Committee felt the council president should be a representative to the State 4-H Council.

Between 700 and 800 4-H'ers from almost every county of the state, plus 100 to 150 leaders and agents, will attend the event which is one of the highlights of the club year. The program includes assemblies, tours, parties, planned recreation, the election of state club officers and a citizenship ceremony.

Speakers of note on this year's program include: Everett Mitchell, nationally known radio commentator and world traveler; Mrs. James D. Wyker, president of the United Church Women; Charles Horn, president of the Federal Cartage Company; Gordon Nance, University of Missouri extension economist and Mrs. Lloyd White, who will present her comedy hat act.

This year, for the first time, citations will be made to friends of 4-H who have been outstanding in their contributions to the 4-H club program. The Missouri 4-H Foundation will present the citation plaques.

Boys and girls attending club week will have an opportunity to meet other 4-H'ers from throughout the state, become acquainted with their state university and, if the past is any indication, will have a grand time at this year's event.

The Farm Bureau Rural Youth Committee is composed of Mrs. P. S. Reed, chairman; Mrs. W. L. Hayes, Raymond Kahrs, Mrs. J. T. Edmundson and Francis Mergen.

St. Louis Cramped, Still Has 37 Farms

ST. LOUIS, June 4—(AP)—The city of St. Louis, hemmed in by suburbs and cramped for space, still has 37 farms within its corporate borders.

This was disclosed today in a publicaiton of the Bureau of the Census entitled "County and City Data Book—1952."

The St. Louis farms produced crops worth $169,000 in 1949. Figures for later years were not available.

St. Louis county still has [illegible]'45 farms with 139,000 acres in [illegible] vation and with a crop [illegible] of $5,753,000.

Early Agreement Seems Likely On Korea Truce

ARGUE AIR BUDGET ISSUE—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, left, Air Force Chief of Staff, and Harold E. Talbott, right, Air Force Chief of Staff, and Harold E. Talbott, right, Air Force Secretary, testifying before the Senate Appropriations subcommittee, argued over whether the Eisenhower budget will mean 23 fewer air wings a year hence than would have been provided by the Truman budget.

World Awaits UN Decision At Panmunjom

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Communist proposals for breaking the prisoner of war deadlock are so close to United Nations terms that early agreement on an armistice in Korea now appears likely.

This information from fully qualified informants coincided with reports from Korea itself that Allied authorities there regarded the Red POW solution put forth last night as solving major difficulties blocking final agreement.

Diplomats of United Nations with troops fighting in Korea met at the State Department today with Far Eastern experts and studied the Red plan, which was generally regarded as in the nature of a set of counter-proposals to the "final" concessions offered the Reds by the U. N. Command on orders from Washington ten days ago.

Both the U. N. proposal and the Communist reply were stamped top secret by the U. S. Command and the government here, and officials refused to discuss any of the provisions. However, much had been learned previously from South Korean sources about the U. N. terms of May 25 because the South Koreans objected to inducements offered the Reds, and for a time they threatened to carry on the war despite any truce made on such terms.

The Red respose was forwarded to the Defense and State Departments and the White House from Panmunjom, reaching the hands of policy-making officials in late morning. Shortly thereafter word spread that prospects for a truce had brightened enormously. In some quarters the Red counter-proposals were considered so close to what the U. N. had offered as to amount to a virtual acceptance, leaving only minor differences still to be negotiated.

Fingers Are Crossed

However, officials have had much experience in the past with "minor differences" with the Reds and some were keeping their fingers crossed lest technical questions in future negotiations should develop into major issues.

The question of what to do about 48,500 POWs, held by U. N. forces who have declared they would resist going home to Red rule has blocked the truce for more than a year. The conviction of officials here is that if it can now be answered successfully there are no other matters in the way of an actual armistice, except for the negotiation of the detailed location of the present battle line, which would become the truce line. Optimism about the outlook has caused a sharp revival of interest in other Far Eastern problems with attention being focused on the following points:

1. The State Department has largely completed a study of the position which the United States should take toward Red China. The extreme alternatives are a policy aimed at splitting Red leader Mao Tse Tung from Moscow, and one based upon the conviction that such a break is impossible and some other kind of solution must be sought in the Far East. An announcement reflecting the decision may be made soon, but authorities would not indicate how quickly or in what circumstances.

Formosa Rallying Point

2. United States policy toward the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa is to make it a rallying point for anti-Communist Chinese throughout Asia and to maintain the army there as an effective fighting force against communism.

3. The United States hopes that the Associated States of Indochina will work out their differences with the French through friendly conferences and obtain the liberties to which this government considers them entitled. It is believed here that the conduct of the Indochina War has been greatly hampered by anti-colonialism directed against the French.

4. The United States government hopes that agreement may be reached promptly for the evacuation from Burma of 20,000 Chinese Nationalist troops which are a sore point in U. S. relations with the Burmese government.

All these and other problems developed new interest and concern with the possibility that the Korean War may shortly be brought to an end.

Rose Show Friday At Little Theatre

The annual Rose Show, sponsored by the Sedalia Rose Society, will be held Friday at the Little Theatre. It will be open to the public from 1:30 until 9 p. m. Entries will be accepted from 8 a. m. until 10 a. m.

The glorious seasons of Missouri will be featured in arrangements: Springtime, A Midsummer Dream, Autumn Splendor and Winter Rapture.

Reds Hang On To Six Hills, Repel ROKs

SEOUL, Friday, June 5 (AP) — Fiercely fighting South Koreans and Reds clung to slopes of the same hills at some points in East and Central Korea today—separated only by the crests — after savage hand to hand combat in which the Reds had the better of it.

Chinese and North Koreans backed by artillery concentrations, broke six South Korean counter-attacks Thursday. A seventh counterattack swept the Chinese off an Allied outpost on Bloody Ridge, on the east-central front 13 miles east of Kumsong.

Much of the fighting was with hand grenades and bayonets. The South Koreans clawed their way up muddy slopes, only to be hit and driven back by fresh Red troops. In just one of the outpost actions, 358 Chinese were counted killed and 200 more estimated killed.

Chinese Reds clung despite high casualties to a second outpost Bloody Ridge and three more on nearby Finger Ridge.

On Luke the Gook's Castle, on the east-central front, and on Anchor Hill, on the extreme eastern front, North Korean Reds even bettered their advantage on two key Allied mainline positions after smashing counter-attacks.

At the close of fighting Thursday for positions captured by the Reds in the past seven days, North Koreans held half of Luke the Gook's intricate defenses and were digging in on a portion of the Anchor's crest.

The Chinese Reds poured 2,500 men into bloody battling for three outposts of Finger Ridge, northeast of Kumhwa. In one 15-minute barrage they hit a counter-attacking force of South Koreans with 11,000 artillery and mortar shells.

Troops of the South Korean 8th Division broke under this fire power after locking with the Chinese in hand to hand combat.

Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers used electronic aiming sights in attacks through clouds and low haze on the Red front line positions and troop areas in the Bloody Ridge, Finger Ridge and Anchor Hill sectors.

Taft Assumes UN Will Make Korea Policies

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — Sen. Taft R-Ohio said tonight that if a military truce is agreed upon he assumed the final decisions aimed at bringing peace to Korea will be reached in the United Nations.

The Senate's majority leader, who recently urged that the U. S. "forget the United Nations as far os the Korean War is concerned" if armistice efforts failed, said he hopes an agreement is reached to end the fighting.

The U. N. and Communist high commands were reported on the verge of an agreement to stop the shooting.

"That would end the differences, Taft said, in obvious reference to President Eisenhower's rejection of the Ohio senator's previous proposals that the U. S. operate outside the U. N. if the conflict continued.

Taft said in an interview that he still believes an armistice under the final terms offered by the Allies would be "unsatisfactory." But he made it plain he has no intention of balking at U. N. participation in subsequent political conferences.

Sees World Conference

"I suppose we will have to have a large-scale international peace conference, the kind that haven't been very successful in the past," he said. "That is what we are in for and we will have to make the best of it.

"I had hoped that we could settle all of the political questions in the truce agreement but now they will have to go to a conference."

Previously, he had advocated a "one-bite" approach to Far Eastern problems, including Korea and other trouble spots.

Taft stuck to his contention that the U. S. should by-pass the U. N. if truce efforts fail, but he denied that he had ever said in so many words that the U. S. should "go it alone" or had advocated single-nation action in the Pacific.

Esenhower used the words "go it alone" in commenting on Taft's Cincinnati speech at last week's White House news conference when the President said no, he would not favor such a policy.

Should Gather Allies

Taft said that what he was driving at in the speech which caused all the furore was that the U. S. should gather its chief allies together with it in a military alliance for the Pacific similar to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe.

He said if the Korean war continues he doesn't believe that nations which are taking no real part in it should be allowed to "hamper" future decisions.

"It is silly to have nations like India, which are members of the United Nations but still claim they are 'neutral' influencing the truse decisions," he said.

Taft said he recognizes that the U. S. and Britain should have a common policy in the Pacific and elsewhere in the world.

"But if we have to negotiate with the British about that policy, we will be better off doing it as partners within a military alliance than we will carrying on the arguments in the open in the United Nations," he said.

St. Louis Bar Studies City Police Courts

ST. LOUIS, June 4—(AP)—Mayor Raymond R. Tucker today announced a study and analysis of the St. Louis police courts by the city Bar Association.

The survey, he said, would consist of a review of procedures, past and present, as well as proposed measures to improve the court practices.

There are two police court judges, both appointed by the mayor, in St. Louis. They hear cases involving violation of city ordinances. Both present judges have been advised they will not be reappointed by Mayor Tucker.

Is Step Toward Industrial Power

AEC Announces Successful Atom 'Breeding'

By FRANK CAREY
(Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — Successful "breeding" of atomic material—a long step towards realizing industrial power from the atom—was announced today by the Atomic Energy Commission.

It is probably the most revolutionary atomic development since the perfection of the A-bomb.

Breeding means the creation of as much or more atomic material—for use in bombs or as a potential power fuel — than is "burned up" in manufacturing such material.

Until now, the AEC has indicated the manufactured atomic material, plutonium, has been produced only at a net loss of another so-called "fissionable" material, precious and scarce uranium-235.

Plutonium is actually made from another kind of uranium, called —238, which is 140 times more common in nature than U-235, but which is not an atomic energy material itself. But precious U-235 must be burned in the process of converting this U-238.

Means More Efficiency

"Breeding" gives a new twist to the picture. U-235 still will have to be "burned," but not at a net loss, and therefore the potential exists for getting far more in atomic payoff out of the world's uranium—U-235 and U-238 mixture—than was possible before. This may also hold true for another potential atomic fuel called thorium which is more plentiful than uranium.

AEC Chairman Gordon Dean made the historic announcement —namely, that commission scientists at Arco, Idaho, have perfected an atomic reactor, or furnace, which "is changing non-fissionable uranium into plutonium at a rate that is at least equal to the rate at which the uranium-235 is being consumed."

At the same time he declared that while this and other technical developments held out a promise for economic atom power for industry, achievement of such a goal will require "policy" changes. He meant changes in the Atomic Energy Act to lessen government "monopoly" of the atom and give greater latitude to private industry in the quest for useful atomic power.

"Dean hailed the "breeding" achievement as meaning the United States has "now reached still another milestone in the history of atomic energy."

The AEC chief added in a speech prepared for the 21st annual meeting of the Edison Electric Institute at Atlantic City:

"It is a development which holds out the promise of making a civilian atomic power industry even more feasible and attractive in the long range than it has hitherto appeared to be."

Cautions Perspective

But Dean cautioned that "we must take care to see that this encouraging development is kept in its proper perspective."

"This news does not mean," he said, "that economic power from atomic fuels is here. It does not mean that overnight we have suddenly obtained all the fissionable material we want or need. It does not mean that uranium can now be regarded as a virtual costless fuel."

However, on the positive side, Dean remarked:

"The real significance of breading is that it is now possible for mankind ultimately to utilize all of the uranium that can be extracted from the earth's surface for atomic fuel, whether it is fissionable or not in its natural state."

What he meant there was that it should ultimately be possible to utilize all of the earth's stores of uranium-238, which is 150 times more plentiful than its fisisonable twin, uranium-235.

Despite all the labor-saving devices in the modern home, the average American housewife will never fully appreciate democracy's freedoms until someone invents a mechanical gadget to pick up the junk scattered about the home daily by her husband, children and grandchildren.

Inherent freedoms in our social life are so deeply rooted, Americans to protect their right to work, will remain idle for weeks in order to secure it.

Six Hurt In Traffic Accidents

Two Are Critical After 3 Mishaps In This Area Saturday Morning

Six persons are in the hospital, two critically injured and four others severely hurt, as a result of three separate accidents which occurred Saturday morning. One crash took place at a country crossing two miles south of Sedalia on the Abel Road, at 10:30 a.m.; another at the Cedar Creek bridge about three miles north of Sedalia on Highway 65, at 11 a.m., and the third about 5 a.m. near Warrensburg.

In the first wreck three persons were injured and are in the Bothwell Hospital. They are:

Lank Stewart Robinson, 43, Montrose, driver, who suffered paralysis of the left arm, a puncture wound on the right side of his head, right eye badly bruised, severe shock and multiple bruises about his head and body. He was unconscious up until 3 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Beulah Robertson, 40, his wife, suffered a concussion, laceration on the head, severe shock and multiple bruises. She also was unconscious at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Oliver S. Taylor, 68, driver of a truck, 2025 Benton, Kansas City, Mo., who suffered bruises of both shoulders and shock.

They were taken to the hospital in the Gillespie ambulance.

In the second wreck, on north Highway 65, two persons were hurt. They are:

Otto Bucher, 83, Shackelford, suffered a laceration on his forehead just above the nose and on the right wrist, both of which necessitated the taking of stitches to close, also bruises.

Miss Rosemark Markes, 20, granddaughter of Mr. Shackelford, who was driving the car, suffered a moon shape laceration on the back of her head, chest injury and multiple bruises.

They were taken to the Bothwell Hospital in the McLaughlin ambulance.

Dr. Carl Siegel treated the injured of both wrecks.

The wreck on South Abel Road occurred as the 1937 Chevrolet flatbed truck, driven by Taylor, was headed south on the Abel Road and a 1952 Dodge sedan, driven by Robertson was headed east. The two vehicles met at the intersection, collided and then swerved southeastward into a ditch. Both vehicles were demolished.

Taylor was thrown out of his truck on the right side, his shoulders and head pinned beneath the right running board. Mrs. Robertson was thrown forward onto the floorboard of the car and her husband was thrown over on top of her.

Forrest Bryan, 3200 South Kentucky, and B. B. Taylor, 1604 South Osage, and a companion with him, who were the first to arrive at the scene of the crash, succeeded in freeing the injured persons from the vehicles and assisted in putting them in the Gillespie ambulance, which had been summoned.

Oliver Taylor, the only one of the three who regained consciousness upon arrival at the hospital, said he didn't know what had occurred. He reported "it happened so fast, I don't know what happened."

Taylor's truck was loaded with heavy timbers which he was taking to the country to be used in building a house. The timbers were skidded off the truck and along side the road, clear past the Dodge sedan which was in the ditch beside the truck.

According to a report given the patrol, Taylor was followed by a car whose driver reported he was driving between 25 and 30 miles an hour.

The wrecked vehicles were towed to the Chamberlin Service Station.

A car endeavoring to pass another car and hooked bumpers caused the wreck on North Highway 65. In this wreck one vehicle, a 1951 Chevrolet tudor, was demolished when it was flipped over on its top, and a 1946 Buick tudor sedan had the right front fender and wheel damaged.

According to J. W. Snyder, 1727½ Main, Kansas City, formerly of Sedalia, driver of the Buick, he was driving north and started to pass the Chevrolet which was driven by Miss Markes, just after crossing the Cedar Creek bridge.

Snyder told State Trooper Earl Gregory he didn't know what happened unless the bumpers locked.

The Chevrolet was sent swerving to the east of the pavement onto and down a slight embankment, and then crashed into a filled ditch used for a roadway off the highway. It turned over on its top. The top was smashed and pinned in Bucher and his granddaughter. Passing motorists stopped and freed them from the car and they were rushed to the Bothwell Hospital in the McLaughlin ambulance.

Mr. Bucher and his granddaughter had come to Sedalia to place flowers on Mrs. Bucher's grave in Calvary Cemetery, and they then stopped for a brief visit with his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Waller, 311 West Fourth. They were returning to Shackelford when the accident occurred.

Snyder reported he was enroute back to Kansas City where he was to have reported to work Saturday afternoon.

With Snyder were C. W. Brumble, 200 Harrison, Kansas City, Raymond Hayes, 223 East Walnut and Milford Fisher, 334 North Randolph, both of Sedalia. None of the passengers in the Buick were injured.

In an early morning accident near Warrensburg, on Highway 50, Miss Emma Partridge, 1705 South Water, Wichita, Kan., suffered injuries to her shoulders and bruises. Miss Partridge reported she was enroute to Sedalia and her car skidded on the road and overturned.

She was brought to the Bothwell Hospital where Dr. John Lamy rendered medical atention.

Miss Partridge was enroute to Sedalia from Wichita to visit with her sister, Mrs. Earl Borne, 1211 East Broadway, when the accident occurred.

Mrs. H. L. Hill's Music Has Made Her a Civic Leader at Smithton

Mrs. H. L. Hill

Ever since she moved into the beautiful little community of Smithton, or rather close by, Mrs. H. L. Hill has been interested in everything that went on in the town and usually had a hand in making it a success.

She and Mr. Hill moved to a farm near Smithton from California, Mo., in the days when they drove an old gray mare to a one horse buggy, and right then and there she was interested in all the affairs of the town. She was always attending some meeting or organization in the afternoons and would tuck her three small children, all too young to go to school, under the lap robe and off to town she would go.

If there was a meeting at night her husband would keep the children and she would go alone in the buggy. It wasn't so easy in those days because there were no headlights on the buggy and the rural roads were dark. When she came home with the buggy she didn't just hop out and leave it. The horse had to be unhitched, unharnessed and then led to the barn, and the harness hung up. The barns didn't have any electric lights, either but that never stopped Mrs. Hill from attending any meeting or working on any civic or church project that came up.

A talented pianist, Mrs. Hill taught music classes for years—until just recently. She brought beauty to the minds of the boys and girls of the community through music. In former years, when the train service was so that one might go from one neighboring town to the other by train, Mrs. Hill would go to California and Latham on the train of a morning, teach music all day and return home in the evening. She served as pianist for the Smithton Christian Church, of which she was a member, for years and planned many wonderful programs for the church.

Mrs. Hill never limited her religious work to her own denomination, however. She worked wherever and whenever she was needed and often attended activities of the othr two Smithton churches. She seemed to know just how to make services beautiful and helped in planning Children's Day, singspira- other two Smithton churches. She er and Christmas programs, and many other kinds of programs.

Although she has given up some of her musical activities, she is still interested and frequently attends the Municipal Opera in St. Louis.

For many years Mrs. Hill has owned and edited the Smithton Times, a weekly newspaper, and she owns and operates a gift shop in her newspaper office that is filled with a beautiful selection of articles.

In her paper there is always room for stories of some worthy cause or community activity and always room for articles about school children or by school children. In payment for her paper she has accepted an old hen, a fryer a crocheted centerpiece, embroidered pillowslips and other such items.

She loves children and has worked with the junior department of the church for many years. She also teaches a Bible class and sometimes goes to other towns to teach in Bible courses and conduct training courses.

Among other community activities she has been interested in have been farm organizations, the Garden Club, of which has been president, the Home Maker Club, serving as its president several times, a member of the Royal Neighbors of America, holding many offices in this organization over a long period of years, PTA, and she helped promote the Smithton band concerts that were held in the park during the summer months for a number of years.

Mr. Hill is now a retired Missouri Pacific shopman and also did farming. They have raised their three children, Margaret, a teacher, who died several years ago; Wilma, now Mrs. George Knox a teacher in the Sedalia schools, and Harold, who lives near Smithton and is a successful farmer. Harold and his attractive wife have twins, a boy and girl, Larry and Linda, in which Mr. and Mrs. Hill have the very great pride of all grandparents. That pride shines in their faces as they go down the streets of Smithton, Mrs. Hill leading Linda by the hand and Mr. Hill with Larry.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Hill built a new modern, three bedroom home on their farm on the farm-to-market road north of Highway 50 about a mile east and a half mile north of Smithton. They tore down the home that was on the farm and lived in the garage until Mr. Hill built the house — but it was finally all finished and they moved in. Then they planted their flowers, for they both love to grow flowers, and they have a beautiful garden.

Another thing Mrs. Hill has always been interested in is the community plays for which Smithton is well known. For the past 26 years she has had six or seven community plays during two successive nights in March each year. She has directed plays, cast characters, selected plays, begged people to take parts, played parts herself when she couldn't find anyone else to play them, decorated the stage, hunted costumes for characters, hunted and begged the use of articles of clothing or furniture to use in the plays, in fact — she has done just about everything, sometime or other, during the plays except take the part of the leading man or sit peacefully in the audience.

Mrs. Hill is not only known in Smithton, but in Sedalia and all over the Sedalia area, but of all places the little town of Smithton is the closest to her hert. That is the reason she has worked so hard in all its activities — she has a real civic pride in her own home town.

Books Will Help H.S. Grads Pick College, Plan Careers

High school graduates who are making plans for extending their education will find "Choosing the Right College" a helpful guide in making their choice of schools. Annette Turngren, the author, has addressed her book expressly to the high school boy or girl, and the material in it has grown out of the many inquiries the author has received both as a teacher and as editor of a teen - age magazine. Her advice is frank and authoritative, as she outlines the economic, academic and social facts of campus life.

"Planning Your Career" by S. A. Hamrin, is a book for young people who are looking ahead to the future, whether or not they intend to include college in their plans. Mr. Hamrin is a professor of education at Northwestern University, and his book includes tests and devices to aid young adults in gaining insight into themselves, their aptitudes and possibilities.

Especially for young women is "Vocation for Girls," by Lingenfelter and Kitson. Almost every possible vocation open to women is discussed in detail, including the special skills or education required.

In appraising the value of a college education, "They Went to College" will be found to contain a wealth of pointed information. The book is based on a survey of U. S. college graduates made by Time Magazine, and analyzed by the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Social Research. Heretofore little has been known about college graduates as a group. "They Went to College" therefore is a milestone book: the most complete study yet published of the college graduate in America, and of what college has done for him and to him.

Two books to help get the new college student off on the right foot at the college of his or her choice, are "Off to College," by Suzanne Gould Emerson, and "You Can Always Tell A Freshman," by Hudnut and Bauernschmidt.

Two Local Men Will Take Part In Naval Revue

LONDON — The USS Baltimore has been chosen to represent the United States in the forthcoming Naval revue to be held at Spithead, England, in June for the newly crowned Queen Elizabeth.

Serving aboard the heavy cruiser are: James E. Williams, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams, 404 East Chestnut, Sedalia, and Kenneth W. J. Hinck, yeoman seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Hinck of Box 96, Concordia.

The 1400 men and officers of the crew will "man the rail" and give three cheers when Queen Elizabeth steams down the line of 90 warships of the world in her royal yacht.

The evolution known as "man the rail" is very old in Naval custom and is carried out by stationing the entire ships company along the outer edge of the upper decks, dressed in their finest uniforms and standing at attention.

The Baltimore recently departed the continental limits of the U.S. for a tour of duty with the U.S. Sixth Fleet in Mediterranean waters from which she was detached to proceed to England for the Coronation.

Enroute to the Mediterranean she earned a "Well Done" for her proficiency in connection with a fast carrier task force demonstration for about 100 members of Congress.

The Baltimore is to be the flagship of Commander Cruiser Division 4, and will visit ports which will probably include France, Italy, Spain, Sicily, Sardinia, and eastern Mediterranean ports known the world over for the romance of their history.

PICNIC WEATHER

Now it's getting picnic weather,
Families love to get together,
Picnics big and picnics small,
Too much eatin' at them all,
Chicken piled on platters high,
Salads, sandwiches and pie,
Iced tea, lemonade and cake,
Picnics at the park or lake,
Fishing, swimming, baseball, hikes,
Each one doing what he likes,
Snoozing, boating, conversation,
Picnics are for relaxation,
Anything you want to do,
Picnic fun depends on you,
Picnics always mean—"We eat"
That's a hobby you can't beat.

SUMMER MORNINGS

When it's morning in the summer
It's the best part of the day,
God wakes me with the sunlight
In just such a gentle way,
When the golden tinge of sunshine
Mingles with the morning blue
And the breeze is so sweet scented
From the flowers still damp with dew,
When the birds outside my window
Sing their morning songs to me,
Seem He's showing me a glimpse of
Just what Heaven's going to be.

Sedalia BJ Team Bested at Mexico By Ramblers, 4-7

The Sedalia Ban Johnson team made a mistake going to Mexico Friday. The Ramblers trimmed them there, 7-4, and six of those seven runs were belted out in the first inning, knocking Bill Arnold off the mound.

Bob Brown took over the pitching job for the next two innings, but manager George Thompson removed him to save him for today's game with Brookfield at Liberty Park. He was replaced by Newkirk, who held the Mexicans down to one more run. Kenny Retzer pitched for the Ramblers.

None of the Sedalians got more than one each of their eight hits. They made three errors. Bob Moser led Mexico in scoring three of its 11 hits in four times at bat. The Ramblers made two errors.

Skip Schulz will start for Sedalia in tonigh's game, beginning at 8 p.m. Brookfield lost its only game.

Jaycees Give Little League Money and Men

Sedalia's Junior Chamber of Commerce is pouring on the fuel toward giving the Little League a lift with both manpower and money. The Jaycees passed two resolutions last Thursday night in which they assure Sedalia's 450 Little Leaguers, they will have both money and manpower on hand next week to see the season is not further shortened.

It seems the lack of manpower support to the Little League in the construction of the new stadium-home and baseball diamond, caused a postponement of the league opening for one week. Continued lack of manpower this week gave an indication it might be called off again or sent to another ball park for the opening.

The resolutions adopted promise both manpower and money. The manpower is to be on hand starting the first of the week when each man will take with him shovels, rakes and hammers. Hank Evans will be in charge of the Jaycee crews each night.

Members have agreed that if they fail to show up on the night assigned, they will forfeit $2.00 toward the stadium fund.

People interested in the Little League and these youngsters from 8 to 12 can do much by joining in with the Jaycees, report for work and give their help. If they can't work a few "bucks" will help in purchasing of needed material.

BIBLE PRESENTATION—The above picture is the presentation of a pulpit Bible to the Epworth Methodist Church on Mother's Day by the Rev. E. W. Bartley, district superintendent of Methodist Churches, and Mrs. Bartley in tribute to their mothers. On the left is Mr. Bartley, center, Mrs. Bartley, and on the right, the Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd, pastor of Epworth Church. The Rev. Mr. Bartley preached the sermon on that day at Epworth Methodist Church and used as his topic: "The Holy Bible."

The inscription in the Bible reads as follows: "Presented to Epworth Methodist Church by the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Bartley, Mother's Day, May 10, 1953, in honor and memory of their mothers, Mrs. Sudie Young Weber and Sarah Ellen Bartley."

Forming a background for the service that day was dogwood, the second time in 30 years, Mr. Hurd stated, that the dogwood had been in bloom on Mother's Day that he might use it for decoration in his church.

Carolyn Morgan Becomes Bride Of J. R. Hays Jr.

At seven o'clock in the evening, Friday, May 22, Miss Carolyn Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morgan, 919 East Broadway, became the bride of Mr. John Robert Hays Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hays Sr., Leeton, in a simple but very impressive ceremony performed by the Rev. Warren Neal at the Broadway Presbyterian Church. The double ring service was read in the presence of the immediate families.

For her wedding the bride wore a ballerina length dress of white nylon velvaray. The bodice sprinkled with rhinestones was designed with a deep V neckline in the back and front. A wide taffeta sash at the waist was tied on the right side. Her small white hat and veil had a sprinkling of rhinestones on it. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis tied with white satin.

Miss DeAnn Rodgers, sorority sister of the bride, formerly of Sedalia, was the bride's only attendant. Her two piece light pink dress with tiny white collar decorated with lace and rhinestones was complimented with a corsage of white carnations. Her accessories were navy blue.

Mr. Jem Norcross, Warrensburg, served Mr. Hays as best man.

Mrs. Morgan, mother of the bride, witnessed the ceremony wearing a sky blue lace dress with white accessories. Her ensemble was completed with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Hays, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a white and black striped silk dress with pink and white accessories. A corsage of pink carnations was pinned at the shoulder.

When the newlyweds left on their wedding trip the new Mrs. Hays was wearing a beige suit with dark brown accessories. Her corsage was a purple orchid surrounded by stephanotis.

The bride graduated from Smith-Cotton High School with the class of 1951 and is a junior at Central Missouri State College. She is a member of Theta Sigma Upsilon social sorority.

Mr. Hays also graduated from Smith - Cotton with the class of 1951 and attended Central Missouri State College. He is employed in Warrensburg.

They are now at home at 210 West Market Street, Warrensburg.

Freda Schmidt Recent Bride Of Ervin Toellner

Miss Freda Mae Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will R. Schmidt, Tipton, exchanged vows with Mr. Ervin Toellner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Toellner, Bunceton, Saturday morning, May 16 at 10 o'clock at St. Andrew's Catholic Church in Tipton. The Rev. Benedict Harter, assistant pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with potted ferns, spring flowers and lighted tapers. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. Oscar Schmidt, Tipton, played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown designed with a bouffant skirt which lengthened into a cathedral length train. The fitted bodice featured a yoke of lace, appliqued with satin flowers. The long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists. The bride's veil was fingertip length with a headpiece of orange blossoms. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gladioli. The bride's only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Ray Kueffer, Clarksburg, was the matron of honor. She wore a mint green taffeta dress with a net yoke and her headpiece was a matching bandeau.

Miss Mildred Schmidt, Tipton, and Miss Norma Toellner, Bunceton, sister of the bridegroom, wore dresses of light yellow styled identically to that of the matron of honor. All wore single strands of pearls and pearl earrings and carried crescent bouquets of orchid gladioli.

Mr. Wilbur Toellner, Bunceton, served his brother as best man. Mr. Leroy Niebruegge, Lone Elm, and Mr. Ray Kueffer, Clarksburg, were groomsmen.

Both mothers wore navy dresses with matching accessories and their corsages were white gladioli.

At noon a dinner was served to 100 guests in St. Andrew's dining hall and at 2:30 in the afternoon a reception was held. The dining hall was decorated with white and green crepe paper streamers, spring flowers and lighted tapers.

The bride attended school in Tipton and is employed at the Tipton Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Toellner is a graduate of Bunceton High School, class of 1947, and served three years in the Army. ## Miss Wanetta Renfrow Becomes Bride Of A-2c J. Beard In Church Ceremony

At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, May 24, Miss Wanetta Renfrow, 1417 West 11th, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Renfrow, Ionia, exchanged vows with A/2c Jerry G. Beard, son of Mrs. Ed Beard, Madisonville, Ky., at the Ionia Methodist Church. The double ring service was performed by the Rev. S. A. Gardner before an altar bedecked with bouquets of white iris, peonies and pale lavender hespers and lighted tapers in tall candelabra which were entwined with huckleberry and fern. The Rev. Gardner officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents.

As the guests were being seated Mrs. Don K. Thomas, Ionia, played a program of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Arthur Hempy, Cole Camp, as she sang "I Love Thee," "With This Ring I Thee Wed" and "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of traditional white satin fashioned with a tight fitting bodice and long sleeves tapering to points at the wrist. The yoke of the round neckline was cut out in deep petal effect which was outlined in seed pearls embroidery over nylon tulle. The bouffant skirt, worn over hoops and crinolines, lengthened into an aisle wide train. Her headdress was a white satin bonnet trimmed in orange blossoms and held a fingertip illusion. She carried a white Bible adorned with a bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid. The Bible was borrowed from her cousin, Mrs. E. D. Sutherlin. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Jean Renfrow, sister of the bride, wore a forrest green dress of nylon tulle over matching taffeta.

Miss Sue Schroeder and Miss Alberta Runge, bridesmaids, wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor in nile green and maize. They were designed with a wide neckline and deep bertha of the tulle edged with a double ruching of the tulle. The bouffant floor length skirts were trimmed with rows of the double ruching at the hipline accenting the skirts' fullness. Their headdresses were carnation bandeaux and they carried bouquets of tinted carnations.

The flower girl, Jody Rismon, Eagle River, Wis., was dressed in a floor length dress of blue taffeta with a pink sash tied at the waist and white nylon gloves. She wore a bandeaux of red roses in her hair.

Ricky Lujin, Versailles, was ringbearer. He wore a light blue suit.

A/2c John V. Knudson, Halmen, Wis., attended Airman Beard as best man. A/2c Attley D. Bundy, Seattle, Wash., and S/Sgt. Carroll Reed, Sedalia, were groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Renfrow wore a navy bemberg dress with a navy and white accessories and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Beard, was attired in a navy dress with white accessories. Their costumes were completed with white carnation corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room. The room was decorated with white peonies, pastel shades of iris and lavender hespers.

When the couple left for a short trip to the Lake of the Ozarks the bride was wearing a dusty rose Weathervane suit with matching hat and navy accessories. A white orchid was pinned at her shoulder.

The bride is a graduate of Cole Camp High School and Central Business College and attended Central Missouri State College. Before her marriage she was employed as secretary to the prosecuting attorney.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Madisonville High School and is now in the Air Force. He is presently stationed at Robbins Air Force Base, Ga.

After a visit with the bridegroom's mother the newlyweds will make their home in Macon, Ga.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Ed Beard, Miss Shirley Beard, Miss Dell Writtenberry, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mouser Jr. and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Beard, all of Madisonville, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elder and Patsy, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Mabry, Eldorado, Ill., Mrs. Bud Rismon, Jody and Craig, Eagle River, Wis., A/2c John Knudson, Holmen, Wis., A/2c Attley Bundy, Seattle, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sharpless, Misses Rose and Maggie Sharpless, Barnett.

Jane Quint, B. F. Steeples Exchange Vows

The First Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Jane Luann Quint, 216 West Sixth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quint, Pilot Grove, and Mr. Benjamin F. Steeples, route 2, at two o'clock Friday afternoon, May 28. The Rev. T. W. Croxton, pastor, performed the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. T. W. Croxton, organist, accompanied Miss Mary Jo Case as she sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white suit with matching accessories complimented with a corsage of red roses.

Miss Eva Louise Quint, sister of the bride, wore a baby blue suit with a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. Robert J. Brown, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip. Upon their return they will be at home at 1908 East Twelfth.

The bride and bridegroom are both employed at the Bagby Poultry Farm.

In addition to the four children Mr. and Mrs. Eirls have five grandchildren and two great grandchildren they are very proud of. Their grandchildren are, Charles E. Eirls Jr., St. Louis, Mrs. Steve Range, Lubbock, Texas; Mrs. Virgil Schupp, Pleasant Green, Michael and Keith Owens, Sedalia and the two great grandchildren are Debbie and Steve Range Jr., Lubbock, Texas.

Voting Machines Made Legal in Part of State; Sedalia Is Included

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Missouri cities will have a chance to speed their vote counting with voting machines in next year's elections under a bill signed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly yesterday.

The bill would allow the machines' use in Sedalia, but not other parts of Pettis County nor in any adjoining counties to Pettis.

The new law allows cities or counties with permanent registration to install voting machines if the voters approve. If the machines are to be bought, two-thirds of the voters must approve, but a simple majority can authorize renting the machines.

Harmony Club Has All Day Meeting

Harmony Club met with Mrs. Earl Carver May 21 for an all-day meeting.

Seven members and eight children were present. A contributive dinner was served at noon and a quilt was quilted for the hostess. Mrs. Mary Crockett gave the devotional. Roll call was answered by naming Bible characters whose names began with the first letter of the members' names.

Guests were Mrs. Helen Dawes and Lelia, Mrs. Harold Hardy, Mrs. May Speaker, Otterville, Mrs. Earl Carver Jr., Delores and Bobbie Rehmer and Jack Speaker.

The next meeting will be June 18 with Mrs. Verling Cramer.

Senate Fight Due On Air Force Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "hell of a fight" in the Senate to restore some of the five billion dollars cut from Air Force funds was promised by Sen. Maybank (D-NC) today in the wake of President Eisenhower's new defense of his budget.

"We will try to put back whatever is necessary to get the 143-wing Air Force as soon as possible," Maybank said in an interview.

Eisenhower, on his nation-wide television report to the nation last night, reiterated that his administration plans to spend 60 cents of every defense dollar next year for Navy and Air Force air power, and he declared:

"We are not going to cripple this nation and we are going specifically to keep up its air power."

This was only a few hours after Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, the retiring Air Force chief of staff, had told a Senate appropriations subcommittee that cutting back the Air Force goal from 143 wings would "increase the risk to national security beyond the dictates of national prudence."

Vandenberg, who was called back for questioning by the sharply divided senate group today, said the Air Force did not approve the cutback, "and I did not."

The new administration trimmed about five billion dollars out of the new funds requested for the Air Force in former President Truman's January budget. And if reduced from 143 to 120 wings, of 30 to 75 planes each, the buildup target for 1955.

Vandenberg declared that even a force of 143 wings would be a "one-shot Air Force" because it would have "no reserve at all."

The Air Force chief of staff said that in another year Russia will have "a stockpile of atomic weapons sufficient to mount a devastating attack on the United States," and he declared:

"If this country is to have a chance for victory in any major war, it must have an air force that is second to none.

"Rather than reduce our efforts to attain air superiority over the Communists, we should now increase those efforts. An air force of not less than 143 wings is the minimum force which can assure the ability of this nation to resist successfully an all-out Communist attack."

Earlier, Secretary of the Air Force Talbott had said the program of purchasing new combat aircraft is still geared to the 143-wing goal, and he told the senators if Congress voted more money than the administration asked, it could not be spent intelligently. However, he said additional funds would make it possible to train more crews and set up more bases.

"It is my considered opinion," Talbott said, "that the Air Force budget now before you is a sound one at this time."

Vandenberg said neither he nor any of the other retiring Joint Chiefs of Staff had approved the Air Force cutbacks.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the subcommittee indicated he believes the slashes will and should be made. At one point he told Vandenberg his testimony involved "serious charges against the secretary and the President of the United States."

Vandenberg said there was "no sound military reason" to explain the cutback in the Air Force goal.

Vandenberg said Air Force targets had been raised or lowered 10 or 12 times in recent years and that such moves caused a waste of funds and manpower.

Ferguson asked Vandenberg if the Air Force had stimulated criticism of the Eisenhower budget.

Vandenberg said no, the "objections are coming from the people."

Secretary Talbott said the Air Force would increase from a present 106 wings to 110 or 114 by next July and then to 120 by December of 1955. Meantime, Talbott said the new Joint Chiefs of Staff may raise the Air Force goal within six months, possibly even higher than 143 wings.

Talbott said he did not know just who decided on the Air Force cuts but supposed that was done by President Eisenhower and the National Security Council.

Jewish Congress Accuses East Germans Of Anti-Semitism Rule

CHICAGO (AP)—The World Jewish Congress today accused the Commust regime of East Germany of a vicious anti-Semitism causing Jews to live in terror.

Events of the last three months show conclusively that Jews of East Germany are being singled out for discriminatory treatment, said the report released by the congress' Chicago office.

Those events were listed as:

Seizure of all property of Jewish families who fled to the West; Widespread purge of Jews holding even minor jobs; secret orders to the Communist party calling for removal of all Jews from public office; cross-examination of all Jews on possible Western connections; and repeated police raids on Jewish homes and the seizure of documents.

Senate Group Votes To Approve Bricker Bill on Treaty-Making

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today voted 8-4 to approve the controversial resolution by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) proposing a constitutional amendment to limit treaty-making power.

The committee gave three missing members—Sens. McCarran (D-Nev), Dirksen (R-Ill) and Hennings (D-Mo)—until Saturday to vote before formalizing the approval.

The resolution, which has 64 sponsors in the Senate, calls for an amendment of the constitution which would have to be ratified by legislatures of three-fourths of the states within seven years.

Water Line Break Cuts Macon's Power

MACON (AP)—Macon was without electric power for about six hours during the night due to a water line break at the municipal power plant.

An expansion joint in the condenser cooling line burst, flooding the condenser pit, covering pumps and motors with water.

Left without power were two hospitals and two hatcheries. Standby generators were rushed to the hatcheries. No emergencies existed at either hospital during the blackout period.

The entire plant had to be shut down for fear of a boiler explosion since the water to that equipment had been shut off. The REA supplied emergency units for workmen repairing the damage.

Full service to the city was restored by 3 a. m.

Rosenberg Execution Set on Wedding Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Government officials were unaware of it, but when they fixed June 18 for the execution of condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg they picked the couple's 14th wedding anniversary.

The trial record shows that Julius Rosenberg testified they were married June 18, 1939.

Governor Hopes He Can Complete Action On Fund Bills Soon

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Phil M. Donnelly said today he hopes to complete action before July 1 on the record $741,000,000 appropriation bills rushed through the Legislature before it adjourned Sunday.

The state's new fiscal year starts July 1 and current appropriations run out June 30.

Donnelly said he has not been able to start work on the series of money bills because printed copies have not yet reached him. All he has so far are the formally enrolled copies which become part of the state archives.

Several legislators have predicted the governor would trim many of the items, as he has a right to do under Missouri's constitution to achieve a balanced budget, but Donnelly had no comment on that today.

London Laughingly Cheers Antics Of Prince Charles

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Revelling London, still on a coronation bender, roared another salute to Queen Elizabeth II today and laughingly cheered the latest palace antics of her son, Prince Charles.

The lovely young Queen and her handsome husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, made a 20-mile automobile tour of the city after lunch today, through Chelsea—London's Greenwich Village along the Thames—and up as far as Hampstead to the north. It was the second such tour since she donned the symbol of her reign in Tuesday's glittering coronation cermony.

While mammoth crowds hailed the royal couple in their police-escorted open car, other thousands roared with laughter and delight when they spotted 4-year-old Prince Charles in another unscheduled appearance at a window in the Buckingham Palace.

Little Charles, like the jamming crowds in front of the palace, wanted to see the scarlet-coated palace guards go through their rehearsal for next Thursday's Trooping of the Colors.

The ceremony is in honor of the young monarch's official birthday, a date traditionally set during June to enhance the possibility of good weather. Elizabeth celebrated her 27th birthday April 21.

Charles and his little sister, Princess Anne, pulled aside the curtains of a palace window overlooking the parade grounds where the rehearsal was going on. A roar went up from the crowd and into waves of laughter as little Charles bobbed up and down like a jumping jack with the excitement of the parade. The people below burst into applause when the prince—heir to Britain's throne — turned solemn and saluted in imitation of the guards.

Eden Will Undergo Another Operation Adlai Visits Syria

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to take off tomorrow for Boston, Mass., for another operation, but government officials declined tonight to give his departure hour.

Eden's tentative schedule calls for him to leave aboard a special Royal Canadian Air Force plane from London Airport. Mrs. Eden, a niece of Prime Minister Churchill, will accompany the foreign secretary.

Eden has already undergone two operations here for gall bladder trouble.

Vets May Have To Pay For Non-Service Care, Committee Advises

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—War veterans receiving free medical care for non-service disabilities may have to pay in the future if they are able, a congressional committee advised today.

Free dental service may be restricted, too.

Rep. Phillips (R-Calif), chairman of an appropriations subcommittee handling Veterans Administration funds, told the House his group has decided to authorize the VA to "look behind" veterans' affidavits that they cannot afford hospitalization for non-service connected disabilities. Present law provides free hospitalization for such veterans upon their affidavit that they can't pay for private care.

Phillips has complained in the past that this policy has been abused.

The committee also is drafting a limitation on out-patient dental service, he said, adding that this is "a field for economy."

Freighters Collide In Messina Straits

MESSINA, Sicily, Friday, June 5—(AP)—The American freighter Exmouth of New York and the Norwegian tanker Pericles smashed together in the Straits of Messina early today and set off an explosion on the Pericles. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Three hours later the bow of the 7,607-ton Exmouth was still driven 15 feet into the side of the 9,938-ton Norwegian ship.

The explosion boomed out soon after the ship collided in the predawn dark covering the legendary straits, and flames could be seen from ashore.

There were conflicting reports as to whether the flames came from one or both ships.

DAMASCUS, Syria, June 4—(AP) Adlai E. Stevenson, on a world tour, arrived here today.

He conferred with Deputy Premier and acting Foreign Minister Parshishakly.

Is Awarded $2 In Suit Caused By Red Charge

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 4 (AP) —M. D. Lightfoot who asked $50,000 in damages because he allegedly was called a "communist" at a public meeting today was awarded $2 by a circuit court jury.

John Newberry, Lightfoot's attorney, said it was the first time in Missouri legal history in which one person had been accused of calling another a "communist."

Defendant in the slander action was O. E. Jennings, a beverage dealer.

Lightfoot alleged that Jennings applied the name to him in August, 1949, at a hearing called by a group laying plans for circulation of petitions for a bond issue to build a new power plant.

Lightfoot, who asked $25,000 in actual and $25,000 in punitive damages, contended the statement resulted in damage to his reputation, that it impaired his earning capacities, and damaged his credit standing in the poultry, butter and egg business.

The jury of seven men and five women granted Lightfoot $1 in actual and another dollar in punitive damages.

Says Pension Change Necessary To Prevent Payments To Aliens

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del) told the Senate today that unless a law enacted under the old Truman administration is changed, U. S. pension checks may start flowing to aliens "all over the world."

As the law now stands, Williams said, a "major loophole" permits alien employes of the U. S. government to draw full federal retirement pensions.

The Delaware senator said a sample check showed that 30 aliens became eligible and started collecting pensions last December —21 in the Philippines, four from the Panama Canal zone, two in Germany, and one each in Turkey, Cuba and British West Indies.

The loophole, he said, is that U. S. citizenship is not a requirement for pension benefits.

Chairman Carlson (R-Kan.) of the Senate Civil Service Committee said his group will look into the situation.

Jury Favors Defendant In A $55,000 Suit

FT. SMITH, Ark., June 4—(AP)—A federal petit jury today found in favor of the defendant in a $55,000 personal injury suit against the Kansas City Southern Railroad.

James M. Sharum Sr., of Ft. Smith, filed suit charging that his son, James M. Sharum Jr. suffered personal injuries when a car driven by the son hit protruding rails of the railroad here last Feb. 26.

The company alleged negligence on the part of the younger Sharum.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Washington, officially silent, was obviously excited Thursday over the prospects of a truce in Korea.

There was still the recognition that the Communists could, as they have many times in the past on this and other problems all over the world, throw a last-minute monkey wrench into the proceedings. But there were developments other than the Red reply which supported the thought that the time had finally come when the enemy would really like to stop the shooting.

The major optimism in Washington was based, of course, on the reply itself. It was kept secret. But it was believed to leave the way open for acceptance of the major Allied points on the handling of war prisoners, even though there might remain some quibbling over technicalities. The fact that the U. N. negotiators asked for only one day in which to consider the latest Communist statement was significant.

From Hongkong came two reports to bolster the idea that Red China might be anxious to stop the drain of fighting. There was one thing that suggested she might even be pulling slightly away from Russia.

These reports were based on published statements by the Chinese Reds themselves. They said flood and famine, traditional enemies of the Chinese, were sweeping the country again, and that China would welcome a return to her once vast trade with Britain and other "capitalistic" countries.

Not so long ago Peiping was bragging that it was doing very well without Western trade. The emanations reflect a complete about face. The published discussions of trade possibilities, by referring to U. S. trade policy as restrictive on Britain, contain some of the old Communist line of trying to drive a wedge between the Allies. But the inference is much stronger that China needs help she cannot get from Russia.

Included in them also are references to a revision of Communist policy virtually giving up the effort to Communize agriculture as it is Communized throughout the Russian sphere.

In an effort to recoup agriculture losses which have occurred since the Chinese land was broken up into small plots causing farmers to abandon their efforts and flock to the cities, the government has officially returned the capitalistic system to the farms. Farmers, under an edict by Premier Chou En-lai, issued May 16, are now free to buy, rent or sell land, to hire workers, and to lend or borrow money.

This is a very great deviation from the principles laid down by Communism's central command in Moscow. It strengthens the belief, basic in American policy ever since the Communist conquest of China, that the vast and vastly disorganized country will eventually find its greatest interest in co-operation with the Western world, and that wedges can be driven between her and Russia.

Trade has always appeared to be the most likely opening wedge, although there are cultural reasons and historical traditions which also support the theory.

In trying to evaluate all this it is not to be forgotten that Russia and the other satellites have also been trying to promote trade with non-Communist countries. It is the agricultural situation which suggests that China is under special pressure.

Two Ex-GIs Face Spy Sentences Next Monday

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP) — Two former American Army servicemen who confessed to charges of spying for Russia are to hear their sentences next Monday.

Otto Verber, 31, and Kurt Ponger, 29, will be sentenced by U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff before whom they pleaded guilty in mid-April.

Verber faces a sentence up to ten years and Ponger up to 20 years.

The difference in possible maximum sentences results from the fact that the two men pleaded guilty to different charges in the indictment.

Verber and Ponger, who formerly lived in New York, were seized in Vienna in mid-January and brought back to face espionage charges. Both were studying under the GI Bill at the time of their arrest.

Natives of Austria and brothers-in-law, they were naturalized as United States citizens by virtue of their military service.

Actress Asks Ruling On Mexican Divorce In Property Suit

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Actress Paulette Goddard today contested a demand by her former husband, Burgess Meredith, for an accounting of their community property.

At the same time, Miss Goddard asked the State Supreme Court to determine whether her Mexican divorce from the actor is valid.

She said Meredith never appeared in the Mexican action and that her divorce was granted by default in June, 1949.

In August, 1951, Meredith announced that he had been married for several months to dancer Kaja Sundsten.

Meredith, in his demand for an accounting, said that during his five years of marriage to Miss Goddard they acquired extensive community property. Under California law, he claimed, he is entitled to one half of it.

By ruling on the Mexican divorce, Miss Goddard said, the court would define "the rights and legal relationship of the parties."

Ike Will Be Busy June 18, Big 3 Must Meet At Later Date

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP). — The White House today announced a social engagement for President Eisenhower on June 18, an indication that the Big Three conference at Bermuda would be sometime later than that.

No official date has been set for him to meet with British and French leaders at Bermuda, although June 17 had been mentioned in some quarters.

The White House said the President would hold a reception June 18 for delegates who will be attending the eighth congress of the Pan American Railway Association.

G. Phil Hofmann Dies; Was St. Louis Banker

ST. LOUIS, June 4—(AP)—G. Phil Hofmann, one of the founders and a vice president of the North St. Louis Trust Co., died of infirmities today at his St. Louis home. He was 100 years old.

Born in Darmstadt, Germany, Hofmann came to the United States at the age of 16. He had been a permanent resident of this country since 1871.

Hoffman had been a vice president of the bank since it was established in 1909. He took an active part in the bank's affairs until four years ago.

Funeral services will be held here Monday.

Dr. Conant Returns To Report To Ike

BONN, Germany, June 4—(AP)—U. S. High Commissioner Dr. James B. Conant left for the United States today to report to President Eisenhower and the State Department and to testify before congressional appropriations committees.

He and two of his top lieutenants will appear next week before Senate and House committees considering the high commission's budget for the 1953-54 fiscal year.

U. S. officials said the new budget has been sharply trimmed from the present fiscal year. They said Dr. Conant will ask Congress for about 34 million dollars compared with 46½ milion for this year.

Two Louisianans Sue As Result Of Accident

FT. SMITH, Ark., June 4 (AP)—A Louisiana couple today filed suit for $110,000 damages in Sebastian Circuit Court against the Kansas City Southern Transports in connection with an accident in August, 1950.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mobley of Caddo Parish, La., contend they suffered personal injury and business losses when a truck belonging to the company left U. S. Highway 171 near Summer Grove, La., and crashed into the Mobley's business.

The suit named Joseph R. Brown of Ft. Smith as agent for the transport company.

Boys Lock Customers In St. Louis Store

ST. LOUIS, June 4—(AP)—A group of boys, playing a practical joke, locked 15 customers in a St. Louis drug store for several minutes today by chaining the front doors shut. A. E. Mueller, assistant manager of the store, exited through a rear door and used a pair of pliers to break the chains.

Heart disease is almost never inherited.

Taft Says Its 'Silly' To Let 'Neutrals' Influence the Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today it is "silly" to permit India and other members of the United Nations who claim they are neutral in the Korean War to influence truce terms.

The Senate GOP leader made that comment to reports in talking about his May 26 discussion of Korean policy to which President Eisenhower took exception.

Taft indicated he feels there has been some misunderstanding of his views and said he did not believe the United States should "go it alone."

He talked with reporters at the Capitol soon after attending a White House conference of legislative leaders.

He said there was no discussion at the White House, however, of his views on Far Eastern policies or the President's comments about them.

Judge Is Stumped To Hear Testimony On 7-Minute Kiss

CLEVELAND, June 4—(AP)—Testimony by a private detective that he witnessed a seven-minute kiss stumped a judge in common pleas court today.

Peter Merylo, a detective hired by a wife in a divorce case testified he timed her husband and another woman and "they kissed continually for a period of seven minutes."

"Hold everything," Judge Donald F. Lybarger broke in. "You mean by that this couple kissed for seven minutes without interruption? My goodness, didn't they come up for air."

"Well, judge," Merylo replied, "perhaps — maybe they pulled their lips away—came back and kissed again—but it was seven minutes."

The detective said the kiss marathon took place in an automobile in front of a bakery. He said he was parked directly behind in his car.

Judge Lybarger awarded the divorce.

Pastor Gets Permit To Carry Gun—Will Discourage Pigeons

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — It's open season on pigeons at the Rev. Carl Stocking's First Methodist Church.

The minister has been issued a firearms permit to dissuade a flock of the friendly birds from attending his sermons. The birds, longtime residents of the area, moved into the church recently when their former home, a barn across the street, was torn down.

In applying for the permit, the pastor explained the pigeons are in disfavor with the congregation because they have committed numerous minor indiscretions and have made use of the church's outdoor drinking fountain a "hazardous experience."

Army Is Paying $15 Rewards for AWOLs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army once again is paying $15 rewards to agencies, other than federal, and including police, for apprehending and holding deserters and AWOLs.

The practice was instituted during wartime, but dropped thereafter.

If apprehension is made and the deserter, AWOL or absentee prisoner is delivered to the military, a $25 reward will be paid.

If two or more persons cooperate, the reward will be paid only to the one who acts as leader in the apprehension. The order also specifies that no payment will be made to an attorney who advises a man to surrender himself.

Influenza, Measles Climbing In State

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Influenza and measles are still climbing in Missouri at the end of the first five months of 1953.

The state Health Division reported today 8,962 influenza cases had been tabulated through May 30, compared with 1,191 at the same time last year. Measles cases increased to 8,125 against 1,495 a year ago.

The number of infantile paralysis (polio) cases had exactly doubled—27 after five months last year, a bad polio year, and 54 now. Some of the increase apparently represented a carryover from 1952, reported in the early months this year.

St. Louis County Has Water Shortage

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A water shortage in parts of St. Louis County was reported today.

Failure of a booster pump in suburban Overland left residents on top floors of about 100 apartment building in Lucas and Hunt Village without water for an hour last night.

The St. Louis County Water Company requested that lawn sprinkling be curtailed in the north and south ends of the county from 4 p. m. to 9 p. m. daily until two new storage tanks can be put into operation to increase the water supply.

Floods Force Montanans From Homes

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 4—(AP)—Gov. J. Hugo Aronson declared a 14-county emergency late today as overflowing northwestern Montana mountain streams forced more families from their homes.

Minutes after returning to Helena, the capital, from Great Falls after checking the high-water area, the Montana governor issued a proclamation putting the counties on emergency status and appealing for federal help.

The governor predicted that improvement in the Great Falls area flooding would be "tantalizingly slow . . . resulting in serious damage and discomfort to thousands. . . ."

In Great Falls, Red Cross officials declared tonight that "the job is getting tougher."

However, the weather bureau reported that rains of the past four days ended today. The precipitation swelled mountain water courses over banks and dislocated possibly 1,000 persons.

Aronson noted that Great Falls had more than ten inches of rain in the past ten days, compared with 9.02 inches in all of 1952.

He said the situation was further aggravated by the water flow of Missouri River mountain tributaries increasing as much as ten times ordinary capacity.

Asks Dairy Operators To Stop Fighting Vegetable Oil Trade

ST. LOUIS, June 4 (AP) — Don Paarlberg, special assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture, told dairy industry representatives today to stop fighting vegetable oil competition.

They should concentrate instead on improving their service to the customer and emphasize the values they alone can offer the consumer, Paarlberg said.

He spoke at a joint luncheon of the St. Louis Dairy Council, the Farmers Club of St. Louis and the Chamber of Commerce's agricultural committee.

"The goal for the dairy industry should be to supply dairy products in the form the consumer wants, at prices he can afford to pay," Paarlberg said.

He also said the present price support is only "an interim program, an extension of aid while more basic solutions are worked out."

John Wayne's Wife Will Receive $1,100 A Month Temporarily

LOS ANGELES, June 4 (AP) — Mrs. Esperanza Wayne, estranged wife of movie star John Wayne, today was awarded $1,100 a month temporary alimony—$8,250 less than she said she needed to live on.

Superior Judge William McKay also said she could live in the couple's swank Encino home pending their divorce trial next October.

She also received $10,000 attorneys' fees, plus a $2,500 fund to handle expenses of auditing and investigating reports.

Wayne, 44-year-old movie box-office king, must pay all expenses for upkeep of the home during her residence there.
